PREFACE

It all began on a hot, sunny afternoon during our first of many visits to Nova Scotia. I opted for the pool, while the author, my late husband, set off with the family page from the Saunders bible in hand to halfheartedly search old cemeteries in the Digby area, his father's childhood home. At the end of the afternoon with nothing to show for the hours he had spent, he leaned against a slender old gravestone, wondering why he had found Cornwells, a "clue name," but no Saunders. The frail gravestone tottered, and Mort hastened to right it, lest it fall to the ground. The stone had a thick coating of moss. Curious, Mort brushed it from the surface and was amazed when he discovered that the stone carried the name of his great-grandfather.

On that hot, sunny afternoon, Mort contracted a virus that remained in his system the rest of his life, for he had been exposed to the genealogy bug. He made short work of his paternal side, since he was looking only for his direct line, and that fell into place quickly.

His mind then turned to his maternal ancestors, the Kemptons. Like most genealogists, over the years he wished many times that he had listened more carefully to casual conversations of his parents about days long past and that he had asked them questions. What started as a search for his direct Kempton line flourished, as he began to correspond with people engaged in related research. He found himself going from book to book, finding in each a few facts to weave into his ever-growing Kempton jigsaw puzzle.

A new goal emerged as his files expanded. He resolved that he would publish a book, a comprehensive, reader-friendly volume with a very clear format. In that book would be every Kempton descendant he could find in the United states and in Canada as well. Nova Scotia especially came into focus, due to the emigration of many eastern seaboard colonists to become planters in that maritime province as land grantees in the 1760s, followed by thousands of loyalists after the Revolution who would not accept the new flag and had to leave their homes in the Colonies.

Mort frequently said to me, "I want to leave something behind me that no one else has done." He spent over thirty years researching this work. He would also tell me that, "If a Kempton can give me the name of his grandfather, there is a 90% chance I can provide the lineage back to Ephraim Kempton of Scituate, Massachusetts."

I lost Mort in October of 1998 following a long battle with diabetes and emphysema. His health prevailed long enough for him to complete the vital information about the people in his book. I promised Mort that I would publish this volume. Our son Kevin has worked with me on it on an almost daily basis. The work has taken two years.

Mort's dream has now been realized. My promise has been fulfilled. His book is available on the second anniversary of his death. I hope that you will read beyond the limits of your own direct descendancy and, like me, shake your head in wonder at the continual pioneering spirit that is so clearly evident in the family history, since Ephraim-I of Scituate, the family founder, first set foot upon colonial soil.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The publishing of this book became a true family project. To Kevin, son and partner, I express my endless gratitude for putting aside his own writing to work with me on his father's book. To daughter Susan, my deepest thanks for taking over so many household responsibilities, for issuing e-mails, fielding inquiries, helping with advance mailings and sending out completed books. And a delighted thank you to Kevin's daughter Molly, a budding genealogist, who assisted her dad with editing and indexing.

There are two very special longtime colleagues of my husband who offered me their help upon hearing of his death. Muriel Kempton Wright of Ohio had exchanged information with Mort for many years, and she remained on the team as one of my "sounding boards," as I tried to fill Mort's shoes. W. Edward Kempton, also of Ohio, in indefatigable researcher, continually earned high marks in my questions-and-answers series. Ed has been a fountain of information.

The next group is the most difficult, and I apologize in advance for any names that I have unintentionally not included. Some of the names became household words, while others became familiar to me due to the many times they appear in the "Reference" lines throughout the book. I think of Col. Robert Kirkpatrick and John Duncanson of Nova Scotia, avid genealogists with articles to their credit. Norma Cox with whom Mort teamed in her efforts to pursue the origins of Ephraim-1 through employing an English genealogy firm to investigate. Through the years there was steady correspondence and assistance from so many: Emma Abbott; Jessie Davis; Viva A. Freeman; Jane Goodman; Russell, Arnold and Mary Kempton; Mrs. Walter Kempton; Jan Lockard; John Lord; Jane McCormick; Norma Shirer; Margarite Stevens; and my grandniece, Kim Savoia Shouse.

And to all of you, in my husband's name and memory, enjoy his book!

OBITUARY

Morton Saunders, 82; genealogist, civic leader, Mayflower descendant

CRANSTON — Morton W. Saunders, 82, of Sea View Avenue, a Mayflower descendant and longtime sales representative for the CIBA Pharmaceutical Company, died Monday at home after a long illness. He was the husband of Eleanor F. (Wall) Saunders, to whom he had been married for 55 years.

Born in Dedham, Mass., a son of the late William H. and Jessie Amelia (Kempton) Saunders, he lived in Northwood, N.H., before moving to Providence as a teenager. He lived in Cranston for more than 50 years.

During his 23 years at CIBA, he was a sales representative, assistant district manager and a special hospital representative working with research and faculty physicians. He also was CIBA's legislative liason.

In concert with the state Department of Health and various civic groups, he worked to establish the state's first community hypertension evaluation clinics. Before CIBA, he worked at Wyeth Laboratories and Buffington, Inc.

Mr. Saunders was a descendant of five passengers aboard the Mayflower. He traced his lineage to Peter Brown, Francis Cooke, Stephen Hnpkins, John Howland and Richard Warren. He was a namesake of George Morton, purchasing agent for the Plymouth colonists.

Mr. Saunders began researching his maternal Kempton lineage in the 1960's. He compiled a book of approximately 700 pages that traces the family's life in the Plymouth colony, and pioneering in the Midwest and West. Some migrated to Nova Scotia, returning in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

His book will be published posthumously by his family. It is estimated that it will contain some 12,000 names covering 10 generations of Kempton family members and those who married into the family throughout the United States, Western Canada and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Saunders served simultaneously as governor of the Rhode Island Society of Mayflower Descendants and as assistant general to the General Society of Mayflnwer Descendants. He was chairman of the general society's publications committee, chairman nf registrations for its Thirtieth General Congress in Plymouth in 1981, and chairman of the National Board of Assistants' meeting in Newport in 1986. In September, 1996, the General Society Board of Assistants honored him for his volunteer work.

His research library will be donated to the general society and will be housed at its national headquarters, the Mayflower House in Plymouth, Mass.

Mr. Saunders was a former president of the Cranston Rotary Club and the Beach Pond Camp, a camp for underprivileged children. He was an original member of the Cranston Mayoral Advisory Commission nn Narcotics and Drug Abuse, the forerunner of CODAC.

He was a member of the New England Historical Genealogical Society, the Royal Nova Scotia Historical Genealogical Society, the Rhode Island Genealogical Society, the Rhode Island Historical Society and the Old Colony Historical Society.

He also served as a member of the Traveling Men's Auxiliary of the Rhode Island Pharmaceutical Association, the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce Legislative Committee, the Matunuck Beach Improvement Association, and the Edgewood Yacht Club. He was once co-chairman of the zoning committee of the Edgewood Association for Community Action.

He and his wife traveled extensively, seeking out remote corners nf the world.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the Army Air Forces in the China-Burma-India Theatre.

Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Susan M. Saunders of Cranston; two sons, Kevin W. Saunders of Okemos, Mich., and G. William Saunders of Syracuse, N.Y.; a daughter-in-law, Mary Scott; and two granddaughters. He was the brother of Esther Ingraham of Providence and the late Pearl Dewey, Ruth, William and Leslie Saunders.

A funeral service will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at the chapel of Swan Point Cemetery in Providence. Burial will follow in the columbarium.

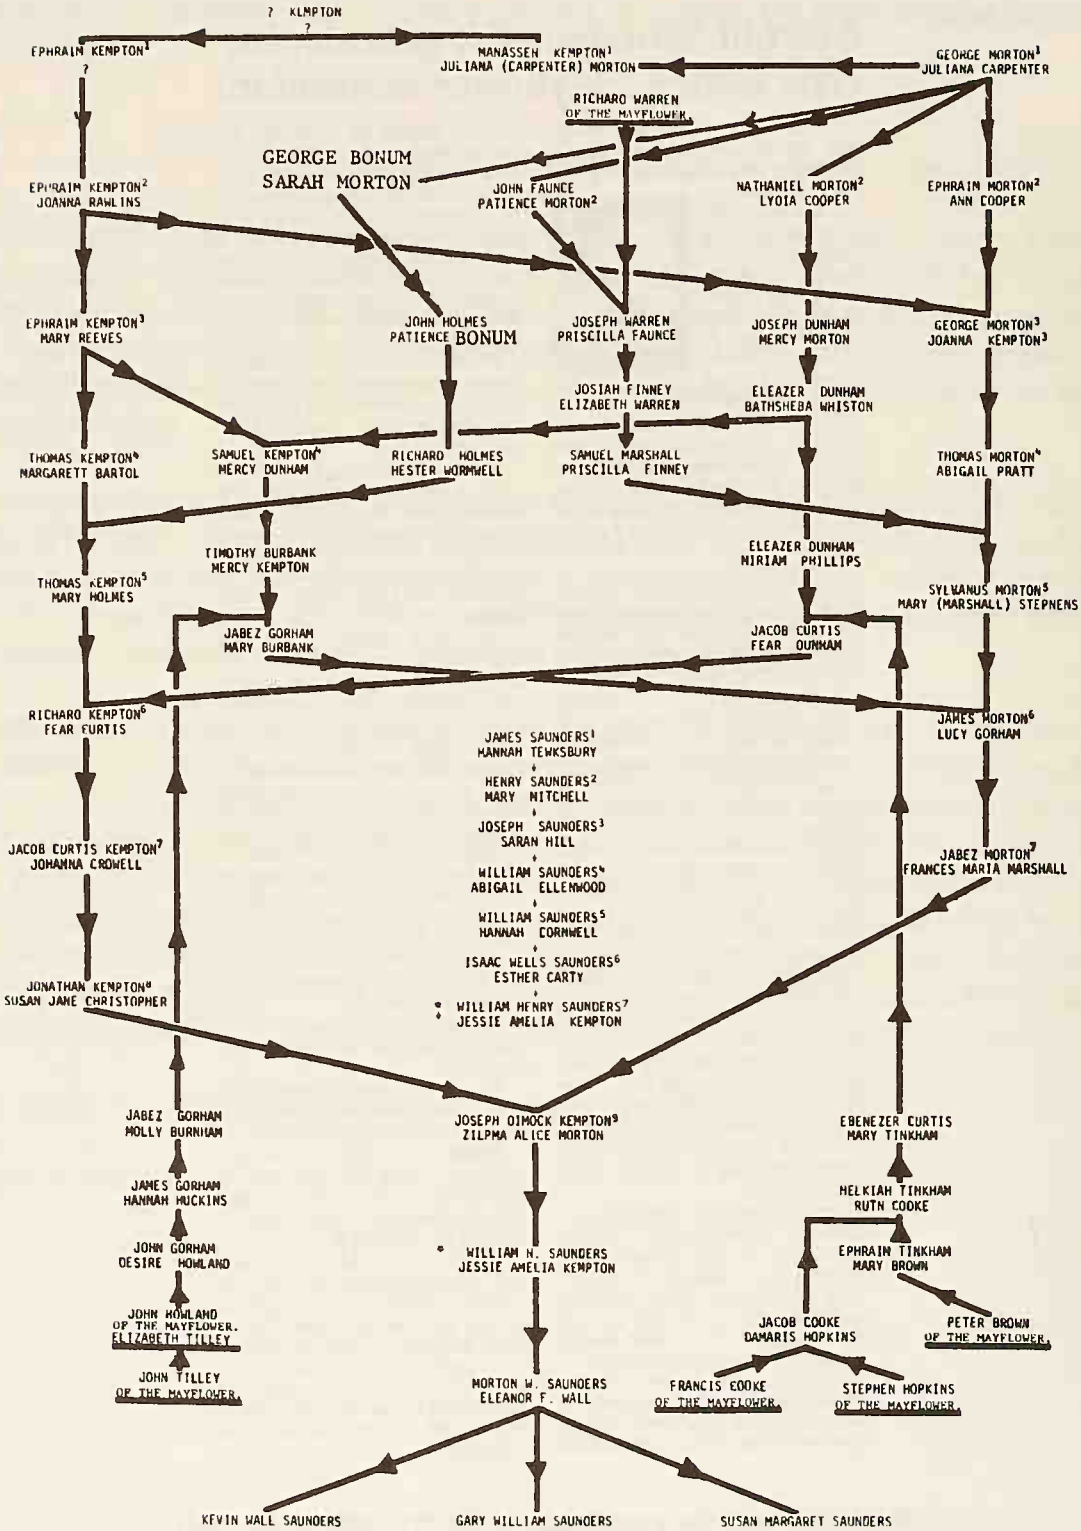
ANCESTRAL ROADMAP OF THE AUTHOR



A PROBABLE ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF MANASSEH AND EPHRAIM KEMPTON

In 1620, MANASSEH KEMPTON, of Colchester, Essex, England, went to London and joined the church of the dissenter Rev. Henry Jacobs, pastor, and affiliated with the Pilgrim party in Aldgate ward. This brought about the start of the KEMPTON Family in America. He did not sail on the Mayflower but came to Plymouth on the Ann, arriving in August 1623, apparently a widower, probably almost 40 years of age.

Within a few years, before 1627, MANASSEH KEMPTON married JULIANNA (CARPENTER) MORTON, widow of GEORGE MORTON. It is not known if he fathered any children, but it is known that no children survived him. He was one of the most prominent men in early Plymouth. His name, along with that of his wife, Julian (sic) Kempton, is found in the eleventh lot in the Division of Cattle in 1627. In this lot we also find the names: Governor Mr. William Bradford and his wife Alles. Some of the Morton children also appear on this list. Alice (Carpenter) Bradford and Julianna (Carpenter)(Morton) Kempton were sisters. Manasseh served as deputy to the general court, surveyor of highways and assessor of taxes. He owned large parcels of land. In 1640 he was one of the original proprietors of the town of Dartmouth, MA, owning one of the thirty-four shares in the large tract. At his death on 14 January 1662/63, this passed to his grandnephew, MANASSEH KEMPTON-3.

Recorded in Vol. XII of the Plymouth Colony Records is the following:

> "The first day of December 1640
> Memorand That Henry Cob doth acknowledg that for & in consideracon of the sum of twenty pounds sterl one cowe and two goates to him in hand payd by Manasseth Kempton of Plym hath freely & absolutely bargained and sol unto the said Manasseth Kempton All that his house in Scituate outehouses garden place with twelve acrees of upland be it more or lesse with the pcell of meddow lying before the said house & fourscore acrees of upland falling in the fourth lott abutting on the North River wth a pcell of Marsh Meddow there unto belonging containeing about twelve acrees be it more or lesse wth all and singuler thapprtencs to the said premisss or any pt of them belonging and all his right title and Interest of & into the same & every pt thereof To have and to hold the said house garden place outhouses upland meddows with all and singuler thapprtencs thereunto belonging unto the said Manasseth Kempton his heires and Assignes for ever to the onely pper use and behoofe of him the said Manasseth Kempton his heires and Assignes for ever".

It was on this farm that MANASSEH KEMPTON established EPHRAIM KEMPTON-1, who by all considerations, could probably be his brother. It has never been known where Ephraim Kempton, Sr. and his son, Ephraim Jr., came from, or what ship they arrived on. They were not here for the splitting of the cattle in 1627 but were on the list of those able to bear arms in Scituate in 1643.

In 1980, an English research company was hired to see if they could find clues as to the origins of Manasseh and Ephraim Kempton. They did discover that in Berwick upon Tweed, an Ephraim Kempton, son of George, was bp. on 26 October 1591. Annis Kempton, dau. of George was bp. on 4 November 1595. There seemed to be no sign of Manasseh Kempton until one of the researchers noticed in the Berwick Upon Tweed vital records that there was a Mannaseh Kempe, son of George Kempe, bp. on 25 February 1589/90. This seemed to link the family together, with the last name of Manasseh misspelled, which is not unusual in records of this period. No other records pertaining to Manasseh have been found. "There is one other Kempton listed on these pages, bp. 30 April 1593, George, son of Frauncis Kempton." We are not sure how he fits into the Kempton family. As a guess, George Kempton, father of Manasseh and Ephraim, had a brother Frauncis. The brother had a son, whom he named George, after his brother.

The next reference to an Ephraim Kempton was found in London in the Parish of Holy Trinity the Less. After the great fire of 1666, this parish was united with St. Michael Queenhith, London. Under Marriages is found the marriage of Ephraim Kempton on 12 April 1617 to Elizabeth Willson, mayde. This would make Ephraim Kempton 26 years of age at the time of his marriage. No listing of the birth of Ephraim Kempton, Jr. has been found. Some authors have stated that Ephraim Kempton, Sr. had a wife named Hannah, who d. 31 March 1656. This information came from Vol. 8, Plymouth Colony Records. "Hannah, the wife of Ephraim Kempton, deceased March 31, 1656," This was the death date of Joanna (Rawlins) Kempton, wife of Ephraim Kempton, Jr. This error was corrected in The Mayflower Descendant, v19, p23.

This unusual combination of names seemed to fit. The ages also seem to comply with what we know about the ages of Manasseh Kempton and Ephraim Kempton Sr,, making it a great probability that these were the two Kemptons who came to New England.

Ephraim Kempton, Sr. was listed as a tailor in the old records. There is very little known about him. We do find that on 7 March 1643, he was brought before the court charged with misdemeanor and use of opprobrious (disgraceful) language to Mr. Hatherly, a magistrate, for which he was fined twenty shillings and placed in the stocks for a few hours. [Mayflower Descendant 2:32, 6:250; Plymouth Colony Deeds]

At the time of the death of Ephraim, Sr. in 1645, MANASSEH and EPHRAIM, Jr. became administrators of his estate, of which the son, as only heir, had the benefit. Manasseh had evidently given his brother Ephraim title to his property.

iii ANNIS, bp. 1 November 1595, Berwick-upon-Tweed, England.

In the baptismal records the father of Manasses is listed as George Kempe, instead of Kempton. This error may have been made during the transcription of these records by Edwin Dobbs. Ephraim and Annis were baptized under the name of Kempton.

The only other Kempton listed in the Register of Baptisms is : "8 April 1593, George, son of Frauncis". It is quite possible that Frauncis was a brother of the above George. There is no mention of the name of Kempe in any other records in this area of England.

Some who have worked on the Kempton ancestry show that Ephraim Kempton-1 had a wife Hannah, who d. 31 March 1656. This information came from Vol. 8, Plymouth Colony Records. "Hannah, the wife of Ephraim Kempton, Deceased March 31, 1656." This was the death date of Joanna (Rawlins) Kempton. This error was corrected in Mayflower Desc. v19, p23.

It is not known just when Ephraim-1 came to America. It had to be between 1627 and 1643, probably around 1640. His name was not on the lists for the division of the cattle in 1627. On December 1, 1640, Manasseh Kempton purchased the Henry Cob farm in Scituate. It was here that Ephraim Kempton and his son Ephraim lived. They were both listed on the list of persons able to bear arms in Scituate in 1643. The name of Ephraim, Sr. was then crossed out being either too old or infirm.

They both were also listed as taking the oath of Fidelitie (Freemen) at Scituate on January 15, 1644.

Ephraim-1 was listed as a tailor in the old records. There is very little known about him. We do find that on 7 March 1643, he was brought before the court charged with misdemeanor and use of opprobrious (disgraceful) language to Mr. Hatherly, a magistrate, for which he was fined twenty shillings and placed in the stocks for a few hours. He lived on the farm in Scituate until his death on 5 May 1645. Manasseh-1 Kempton and Ephraim-2 Kempton were administrators of his estate, of which the son, Ephraim-2, as only heir, had the benefit.

There is great confusion between the baptismal records of the Second Church of Scituate [now the Ist Unitarian Church of Norwell, MA., NER, Jan. 1903, p82-86]; the birth dates in the Scituate Vital Records and the Plymouth Colony Records. Baptisms took place before births and there are differences in birth dates. The above is a compromise of all of these figures in an attempt to take in all possibilites. If all of the baptismal dates were moved back one year the dates would fall into place with the birth dates. It is probable that Ephraim and Joanna (Rawlins) Kempton had only five children, four of the children surviving their parents.

Ephraim-2 was left the farm by his father Ephraim-1 and continued to live there with his wife Joanna. He was a substantial citizen serving as constable, surveyor of highways, and a member of the grand jury. Mr. Kempton's inventory was taken 2 July 1655 by James Torrey and Thomas King. The only references to real estate are "hemp and flax and corn on the ground." His widow survived him by less than two years and left four orphaned children, the eldest being about nine years of age and the youngest under three.

VOL. III, p. 114 (1657) Plymouth Colony Deeds, carries the following:

"lers of adminnestration granted unto Manasses Kemton to adminnester on the estate of Joanna Kemton deceased with liberty left that incase Thomas Rawlins shall think good to joyne with him therein, hee may if he please."

p.211, (1658) carries the following:

Ephraim Kempton-3, was taken, along with his sister Ruth, to live with his grandfather, Thomas Rawlins, Sr., of Boston. His grandfather received the sum of ten pounds from William Brookes as rent from the farm in Scituate to be used for the bringing up of the children. The farm then came to Ephraim-3, when he was of age.

Ephraim-3, is first noted in Boston on the tax list of 1674 as a master of a family, having married Mary Reeves the year before.

1 November 1676, Ephraim Kempton of Boston, gunsmith, sold his farm in Scituate.

In a legal document dated 8 December 1677, he is described as "of Boston, or now of Salem." having moved to that city before this date. In 1680 he was sworn as a tything man at Salem and also served on the jury.

When his father-in-law John Reeves grew old, the Kemptons cared for him and as a result received the lion's share of the aged gentleman's property, including his homestead farm. The other Reeves children, William Reeves and Mrs. Elizabeth Richards, were allotted only a small part. They contested the will but lost. Mr. Kempton also became heir under the will of his bachelor uncle Thomas Rawlins of Boston in 1693, receiving one half of his uncle's homestead at Milk St. and Mackerel Lane. His sister Mrs. Ruth Marshall received the other half. In 1698, Mr. Kempton sold his share to his brother-in-law Samuel Marshall for thirty-three pounds.

In 1712, although he was then only sixty-three years of age, Mr. Kempton deeded his Salem property to his son John-4 in consideration of care for him in his old age. Subsequently John-4, bought the interests of his brothers and sister in the balance of their father's estate. The property, with the homestead on it, was passed on by John-4, to his son Joseph-5 in 1743. It remained in Joseph's possession until his death and was then sold by his heirs to John Cabot of Salem, 24 June 1803. Mr. Cabot took down the old house about 1810 and erected a new house upon the same site. [Map #35, History of Salem, Mass. shows the location of the Kempton and Reeves properties.]

Joanna Kempton was only nine years of age when she was orphaned by the death of her mother Joanna (Rawlins) Kempton. Her father had died the year before. It appears that she was taken to Plymouth, along with her brother Manasseh, and raised by her great uncle Manasseh and his wife Julianna (Carpenter) Morton, who had married Manasseh Kempton-1 after the death of her husband, George Morton-1.

Just at the summit of Burial Hill, Plymouth, MA and at a point to which the long flight of steps going up from the town naturally leads the visitor, there is a row of four stones made of slate marking the graves of Deacon George Morton, his youngest son Thomas, his wife Joanna, and his brother Ephraim. That of George Morton has been bound in metal to preserve it from the effects of the weather and to prevent its being broken by thoughtless persons who desire relics of this interesting spot.

When Manasseh Kempton was only five years of age he was orphaned by the death of his mother Joanna (Rawlins) Kempton. His father had died the year before. Young Manasseh-3 was taken to Plymouth, along with his sister Joanna, and raised by his great uncle Manasseh-1 and his wife Julianna (Carpenter) Morton, who had married Manasseh-1 after the death of her husband George Morton. His other brother Ephraim-3, along with his sister Ruth, were taken to Boston to be raised by his grandfather Thomas Rawlins.

When his great Uncle Manasseh-1 died, Manasseh-3 became the principal heir to his large estate. This included lands in Acushnet, Fairhaven, and New Bedford (at that time called Dartmouth). Manasseh never seemed to use these lands, as he moved to Southampton, Long Island, NY when he was 28 years of age. The first mention of him in Southampton was in 1678. He held the title to these lands until 1733, when the following transactions are on record.

12 March 1733/4, one half of the lands listed above were conveyed to Samuel Kempton-4 shipwright of Plimouth for the sum of 5 shillings. Recorded 25 May 1737. [v24 p276 Bristol Co. MA land records]

Sometime after 1722 Manasseh-3 was joined by his nephew Stephen Kempton-4, who moved to Long Island. This is proved by the abstract of the will of Manasseh Kempton-3 which was published in the History of Southampton, page 188.

"In the name of God, Amen. I Manasseh Kempton, of Southampton, in Suffolk Count, yeoman, being in health, I leave to my kinsman, William Kempton, now living in Plymouth, in New England, ship carpenter, all my lands and meadows in Dartmouth in New England. I leave to my kinsman Stephen Kempton, now resident in Southampton, cordwainer, my now dwelling house, barn, and home lot, lying in the Town Plot, And my close at Halsey's neck, and my close at Cooper's neck and a 50 pound right of Commonage, during his life, and then to his eldest son, and if he leave no son, then to his youngest daughter Priscilla Kempton. I leave to my housekeeper Abigail Bacon, the use of what room she shall choose, not exceeding one half of the house, so long as she remains single. I leave all my movable estate to Stephen Kempton and Abigail Bacon, and make them my executors. Dated September 27, 1734. Witnesses John Jagger, John Wooley, William Wooley. Proved, January 18, 1937-38"

"Manasseh Kempton lived in Southampton Village on the lot on which the Methodist Church and Parsonage were later built. He came to Southampton when a young man, as he was here in 1678. He died 28 November 1737, in his 87th year." [History of Southampton]

Manasseh was buried in the North End Burying Ground in Southampton. The inscription reads, "Here lyes buried the body of Mr. Manassh Kempton who departed this life Nov. ye 28th 1737, in ye 87 year of his age."

All eight children of Samuel and Ruth (Kempton) Marshall were baptized in the First Church of Boston, 10 January 1697/8.

In 1864, the Giles Memorial named Ruth Rawlins, dau. of Nathaniel and Lydia (Sylvester) Rawlins as the wife of Samuel Marshall of Boston. This was repeated by Rollins in 1874, Davis in 1899, Sylvester, NER, 1931 and Randall in 1943. This connection was based on a clause in the will of Thomas Rawlins, Jr., of Boston, made in Boston, MA 12th December 1681.

"ITEM I give and bequeath my Land in Boston with the two tenements & other Buildings that are thereupon unto my Nephew Ephraim Kempton, of Salem, and my Niece Ruth Marshal, the wife of Samll Marshal of Boston, to be equally divided between them, to have possess & enjoy the same unto them their heires and assignes for ever as also all my Household goods and moveables af all sorts to be equally shared and divided between them; The Debt which I owe unto my Cousin Samuel Marshall to be secured and paid unto him out of the said lands houseing and moveables before division."

This was a very logical error. At the time of writing of the first three books, the only known Ruth, niece of Thomas Rawlins, Jr., was Ruth Rawlins, daughter of his brother Nathaniel. With the printing of the Scituate VRs, easing the access to these old records, we find that Thomas Rawlins, Jr. had two nieces by the name of Ruth, the other being Ruth Kempton, the daughter of his sister Joanna, who had married Ephraim Kempton. All of the above articles, if they mention the Kempton children, list the births of only four children: Joanna, Patience, Ephraim and Manasseh. Patience died while she was young. No mention of Ruth is made in any of these articles.

When Samuel Marshall died he evidently left a will in which, after payment of debts, his estate would be divided into five equal parts: One fifth to the children of his eldest son Samuel Marshall, one fifth to his son John Marshall, one fifth part to his daughter Ruth Russell, one fifth part to his daughter Johanna Marshall and one fifth to his daughter Sarah Bonner.

The accounting of the division of his estate was filed on 12th day of October 1744 and is a rather long document. The division of the estate is as follows in a condensed version.

To Sarah Bonner: The great or northeasterly end of his mansion house to the middle of the doorway with the land to the southward as far as ten feet distance from the house, measuring thirty one feet on the fence and part of the shop in Mackerel Lane.

To Ruth Russell: The middle part of the house beginning at the middle of the doorway and running fifteen feet westerly with the land to the southward as far as ten feet from the house. The stairway from the cellar to the garrett to lye in common between Sarah Bonner and Ruth Russell. Each would have the chimneys standing in their respective shares or parts.

To Joanna Marshall: The kitchen end of the house with the land adjoining on the northwest side, measuring twenty seven feet. On the southwest side twenty seven feet, nine inches, on the southeast side twenty three feet to a stake in the alleyway plus one hundred pounds to be paid her by Sarah Bonner.

To the children of Samuel Marshall, Jr.: Part of the shop at the corner of Mackerel Lane plus land on Mackerel Lane and Milk Street.

There were also several financial adjustments between members of this family.

Ephraim Kempton, shipwright, lived in Plymouth much of his life. When he was nearly 59 years of age, his bachelor uncle Manasseh Kempton-3, who was living in Southampton, Long Island, NY, gave Ephraim Kempton-4 and his brother Samuel Kempton-4 full power of attorney over all of his lands, etc. "in the Province of Massachusetts Bay or Elsewhere." This was dated 31 August 1733, while Ephraim-4 was still living in Plymouth. On the same day, Manasseh-3 deeded to Ephraim-4 one half of the lands he owned in Dartmouth. This deed was recorded in Bristol County Court on 5 September 1733. On 12 March 1733/4, Ephraim-4 deeded one half of the lands that he had received from Manasseh-3 to his brother Samuel Kempton-4, shipwright of Plimouth, for the sum of 5 shillings.

It was not until 1736 at the age of sixty-two that Ephraim-4 and his wife Patience moved to Dartmouth and established their new home in the wilderness. They moved onto a tract one mile in length and three quarters of a mile in breadth running back from the Acushnet River. This is now downtown New Bedford. They built a house at the top of a well-wooded hill at what is now the northwest corner of County and North Streets. His two living sons also moved to Dartmouth.

Ephraim Kempton in his will, which was entered for probate on 11 December 1758, disposed of his estate to his wife Patience and his three remaining children, Thomas, William and Joanna Drew. He also gave to his grandson William his "large silver buttons." The will is a long one and rather hard to read. After describing the heritage of each son, he then gave them certain obligations to their mother.

Thomas: "Sufficient firewood at ye door of my now dwelling house of a suitable length fit for her fire, and to provide sufficient keeping Winter and summer on said homestead for her a cow and eight sheep: and to provide beef and pork with sufficient Sauce Gravy [illegible]: Indian Corn and Rye sufficient for her own use and ye entertaining a friend that comes to visit her (at her table) if She shall [illegible] and to be helpful to his said mother in going to meeting and to be equaly helpfull with his brother William in Transporting their Mother to Plymouth as often as she shall reasonably want to go. All ye above particulars mentioned to be done and performed by him yearly year by year and every year Winter and Summer responsibly during ye term she remains my widow."

William: "Two bushels of good winter apples at such season of ye year as is most suitable for gathering in Apples for Winter Store. Six pounds of good Sugar Ten pound of Tallow five pound of good [illegible] three pound of good cotton wool one bushel of good wheat or one quarter hundred of flower three Pecks of Good Malt one gallon of mollases; and be equally helpful in transporting his said Mother to Plymouth as often as she shall reasonbly want to go. And do pay and perform all ye above particulars mentioned to be done and performed by said William for his Mother: and performed by him yearly year by year and every year during ye term she remains my widow all delivered to her at my now dwelling house."

Item: "I hereby constitute and appoint my Well to do friend Wm Jonathan Hathaway Elder James Cushman and Deacon Jireh Swift Over Seers to see and take care that this my will with respect to my said Wife is fully and amply performed."

The main body of the will was prepared on the Sixth Day of February 1749. An addition was made on November 7th, 1758 giving his daughter Joanna Drew some wood land that he had left in Plymouth. In signing this will, Ephraim Kempton used two different spellings of his name, "Ephraim Kempton" and "Ephraime Kempton." In the will's main body and in the addition, the following spellings were used in preparation of the will for him: Ephraim Kimpton, Ephrim Kimpton and Ephraim Kimton. This is four different spellings of the name Kempton in one document and three different ways of spelling Ephraim.

* Ephraim Kempton-5, son of Ephraim and Patience (Faunce) Kempton, was listed by Davis in his "Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth" as the Ephraim Kempton who married Abigail Bolster and settled in Uxbridge, MA. This has been repeated so often that it almost has become Gospel. Actually this was impossible, because the Ephraim-5 above died while the Kemptons were still living in Plymouth and was buried in the Faunce lot on Burial Hill. His gravestone is still there and is also described in both books on Burial Hill, Drew & Ringman. The following description of the stone is from Drew: "Blue slate. Broken. Moss-grown. Much of the monument gone. Two feet high, one foot wide. Symbol."

"Lyes ye bod Ephraim Kem on who ed Decbr ye th 1720 ye 18th year of his age."

The correct lineage for the Ephraim Kempton-5, of Uxbridge is John 4,Ephraim 3,2,1.

Patience (Faunce) Kempton lived to the age of 105 years, 6 months, and 6 days. It is said that she remembered seeing King Philips's head placed on a pole in Plymouth and said that a wren made her nest in the skull every year and there reared her young.

John Kempton was listed as a cordwainer in Salem, MA where he lived most of his life. When he was about 64 years of age he purchased, with his son John, a 100 acre farm in Uxbridge, MA from Benjamin Forces. The purchase was dated 9 April 1739. The farm adjoined that of Solomon Bullard. John Kempton, Jr., and his brothers Ephraim-5 and Manassah-5 settled in Uxbridge and the adjoining town of Mendon. By deed dated 14 September 1741, Salem, MA and acknowledged 21 July 1746, John Kempton, Sr., deeded to his sons Ephraim-5 and Manasseh-5, then of Uxbridge, the land he bought 5 October 1740 from Philip Amidon in Mendon and Uxbridge, seventy acres in extent. He also deeded other lands to Ephraim-5 in 1749. Manasseh-5 deeded to "sister Abigail Kempton," widow of his brother Ephraim-5, the same year. These deeds prove this line and disprove the lineage as given in Davis's Ancient Land Marks of Plymouth.

William and Hannah (Goodhue) Dedman sold Joseph Hedges property left him by his mother Dorcas Kempton "to whom he was sole heir." She and her husband were both deceased.

Manasseh Kempton had lived in Plymouth until 1721 when he sold his land and house. He then moved to Tisbury, Martha's Vineyard and married Esther (Cottle) Harding. Esther had one child by a previous marriage. This was proved in 1747 when Edward Cottle deeded to his grandson, only surviving child of my daughter Esther Kempton, of Edgartown, deceased, the grantee being Shubbul Harding.

Esther Daggett was a half-breed Indian of the Bow and Arrow Family. She was daughter of Joseph and Alice (Sisseton) Daggett. Alice Sisseton was the daughter of the Sachem of Sanehacantacket.

* Sarah, b. 11 June 1725. The records of Plymouth have no listing of the date of her death. However, a different hand at a different time had marked her deceased. The Plymouth records show a child born to Sarah Kempton, 11 September 1747, "Abigail Kempton, alias Abigail Thomas." [MD 2:78] Plymouth Court Records, General Sessions, December 1747 show Sarah Kempton fined 4 pounds for "the sin of Fornication," paid for by her father, Samuel Kempton.

Samuel Kempton was listed as a shipwright in a deed recorded in 1739 at Plymouth. About the same time that Samuel had married Mercy Dunham, his brother Thomas died in Boston leaving an infant son Thomas. Evidently he was sent to Plymouth to be raised by his uncle Samuel Kempton. Samuel Kempton had all of his children baptized in the Plymouth First Church at the same time on 24 September 1721. Thomas was listed as being there: "Thomas being about 17 years of age covenanted on his own account." [PChR 1:220]

Past works have shown that Mercy Dunham was the daughter of Eleazer and Bathsheba (Pratt) Dunham. More recent work [TAG 30:173] shows that the wife of Eleazer Dunham and the mother of Mercy Dunham was Bathsheba Whiston, daughter of John and Susanna (Hanford) Whiston.

Samuel Kempton's brother Ephraim also lived in Plymouth. On 31 August 1733 their bachelor uncle Manasseh Kempton-3, who was living in Southampton, Long Island, NY gave Ephraim Kempton-4 and his brother Samuel Kempton-4 full power of attorney over all of his lands, etc. "in the Province of Massachusetts Bay or Elsewhere." On the same day Manasseh deeded to Ephraim one half of the lands he owned in Dartmouth. This deed was recorded in Bristol County Court on 5 September 1733. On 12 March 1733/4, Ephraim Kempton deeded one half of the lands that he had received from Manasseh to his brother Samuel Kempton, shipwright of Plimouth, for the sum of 5 shillings. Samuel never moved to Dartmouth and sold his share of the land over a period of time.

Samuel and Mercy (Dunham) Kempton maintained her mother at their home in Plymouth and were forced to go to court to get some of her other children to help in her support. The following records appear:

General Sessions, September 1740:

> "Petition of Samuel Kempton (Plymouth) that he hath for Some time maintained his Ancient Mother in Law Bathshia Dunham, which he thinks unreasonable,"

The Court ordered:

> "the severall persons mentioned on the back of said Petition living in the County be Cited to appear at the next term to show Cause, if any they have, why they should not bear there proportion of the aforsaid person's maintenance."

General Sessions, March 1740/1: Petition of Samuel Kempton (Plymouth Shipwright) from December term 1740:

> "that your Petitioner the beginning of October A.D. 1739 took into his house and family his aged mother in Law Bathshua Donham, widdow, under Necessitous Circumstances, much impaired in her health and senses who he hath maintained at his own Costs Except four pounds Given her as One of the poor of the Town, and your Petitioner's Circumstances not well allowing him to be at the Charge and trouble (which is considerable) of Maintenance Needfull for her Comfort, hath often times applyed himselfe to the other sons and daughters of his said Mother in Law, desireing theire assistance in part or in proportion towards her maintenance, which they all Refuse doing, Whereby your Petitioner finds nimselfe much aggreived and Cannot keep her much longer, humbly Entreating assistance for Redress in this affaire"

Court ordered those relatives mentioned in the petition to appear at the next term to answer for their nonsupport. At present term Court ordered:

> "That the Children and Grand Children of the said Bathshua Donham's maintenance after the Rate of Thirty-six pounds a year, Commencing on the first of October A.D, 1739" and apportioned as follows: Cornelius Clarke, who maried her daughter Susanna--Pounds 6; Nathaniel Donham and Ezekiel Donham, her grandsons--Pounds six; Sylvanus and Cornelius Donham, Two Sons of her son Israel Donham, deceased--Pounds Six; Elisha Donham, in Casco Bay--Pounds Six; John Colling, who married her daughter Bathshua--Pounds Six and Samuel Kempton--Pounds Six"

Stephen Kempton followed his uncle Manasseh Kempton-3 to Southampton, Long Island. In 1737 he was willed Manasseh's "dwelling house, barn, and home lot, lying in the Town Plot, And my close at Halsey's neck, and my close at Cooper's neck, and a 50 pound right of commonage during his life." Stephen was mentioned in 1775 when he received one lot and amendments in a division of Section 5 in that part of the town which is now Sag Harbor, Long Island. This would indicate that Stephen Kempton lived to be over 100 years of age if other figures are correct. When he passed away, his son-in-law John Miller inherited his residence.

Ephraim Kempton settled on land in Uxbridge which was deeded to him by his father John-4 Kempton in 1741. This was land that John-4 Kempton had purchased from Philip Amidon, 25 October 1740. Ephraim Kempton-5 died while still a young man in 1749. There seem to be many errors made in the past about the life and death of this Ephraim Kempton. Davis, in his "Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth" states that this Ephraim-5 was the son of Ephraim-4 of New Bedford. This is proved wrong by the land records and the fact that Ephraim-5, son of Ephraim-4 of New Bedford, died in Plymouth, MA, while still in the 18th year of his life, and is buried in the Faunce lot on Burial Hill in Plymouth.

The vital records of Uxbridge, MA list on page 386, "KYMPTON, Ephraim, s of Ephraim and Abigail, October 20, 1749." This must of been an error on the part of the town clerk in the original records, thinking that the son in the family had died instead of the father. A check of the books all the way back to the actual original records, which were scraps of paper and are no longer available, show this same wording. "Genealogical and Personal Memoirs - Boston and Eastern Massachusetts" by William Richard Cutter, A.M. (Pub. 1908) states, "At the request of his widow her father, Isaac Bolster, was appointed administrator of the estate and guardian of the children, all under fourteen, appointed July 7 1749." This might lead us to believe that the son Ephraim had died on 20 October 1749 and that his father had died sometime prior to this date.

An examination of the records in the Probate Courts of Worcester, MA shows the following:

> "To the honorable Judge of Probate for Wills in the County of Worcester. Whereas I Abigail Kempton widow, woman, being very much not well, and not able to travel, do most humbly pray that the honorable Judge would be pleased to give letter of administration to my Father and that he be guardian of my children, Witness my hand.
> Abigail Kempton Her [X] Mark"

The writing in the original records could be very easily taken for the 7th day of July 1749. However the official dating on the record books is "7 Febby [February] 1749." This would be 1749/50 because the Gregorian calendar was not official until 1752. Therefore this dating would be 7 February 1750 using our present calendar. The following transactions would then fall into their proper places:

Case #34493 Isaac Bolster Appointed Administrator of Estate.
Case #34494 Isaac Bolster Appointed Guardian of Ephraim Kempton
Case #34500 Isaac Bolster Appointed Guardian of Joseph Kempton
Case #34503 Isaac Bolster Appointed Guardian of Mary Kempton
Case #34505 Isaac Bolster Appointed Guardian of Stephen Kempton

The cases are not in numerical order because the numbers were not assigned until after 1871. At that time they were assigned in alphabetical order to all probate actions on file. All are dated 7 February 1749/50.

This proves that Ephraim Kempton-6 was alive after the death of his father.

On 27 May 1753, Abigail (Bolster) Kempton filed the inventory of the estate of her late husband Ephraim Kempton in place of her father Isaac Bolster now deceased. [VRs of Uxbridge, MA, list the death of Isaac Bolster on 26 April 1753.]

The following land record also confirms the relationships of the Kemptons: 17 November 1749. "Whereas my late brother Ephraim Kimton of Uxbridge had partnership with me, said Manasseh Kimpton of Smithfield, R.I. to sister Abigail Kimpton...etc."

In 1739 John Kempton moved from Salem, MA to Uxbridge and settled in the section close to Mendon. Later this area became Millville. The house he built was a fine home in a beautiful location. The great fireplaces were finished in mahogany. This property stayed in the family for many years. The original house was destroyed by fire sometime between 1891 and 1911. In 1743 John and Bethiah Kempton were united by letter with the First Church of Uxbridge.

John Kempton wrote his will on 25 February 1783. It was entered for probate on 7 August 1787. His son George was named administrator. In this will he mentions his wife Hannah and his daughters Sarah Blake, Ruth Battles, Hannah Twitchell and Bethiah Nye. He also named his sons John, Ephraim, George and Samuel.

John Kempton lived in Plymouth, MA all of his life. He was a ship carpenter and caulker. During the revolution he was accused of having Loyalist sympathies. His sons John and Zacheus were also accused at the same time.

In 1804 John Kempton requested to be dismissed from the 1st Church of Plymouth and transferred to the 3d church. He had belonged to the 1st church for over 60 years. This was allowed by the committee. The prime reason for his request was that "this request appearing to have been the result of misrepresentation & false information on a mind greatly impaired and debilitated by the infirmities of old age." John Kempton was 88 years of age at that time.

Two of the daughters, Deborah and Joanna, ran a grocery store at the corner of High and Summer Streets in Plymouth, They willed this store to a nephew John-7, son of Zacheus-6. John and Elizabeth (Randall) Kempton are buried on Burial Hill, Plymouth, MA.

Joseph Kempton was a resident of Salem, MA and was listed as a cordwainer in 1733. He lived in the house that had been conveyed to him by his father John Kempton-4 on 14 January 1743.

On 3 January 1803 the heirs of Joseph Kempton of Salem conveyed the estate to John Cabot of Salem. The heirs were listed: His widow Elizabeth Kempton; Benjamin Cox, fisherman, and his wife Elizabeth; Sarah Trask; and widow Abigail Kempton Nichols. The History of Salem, MA gives no place or date for the death of Joseph Kempton. The unpublished records of Smithfield, RI carry the following: "1782, John Kempton, Brother of Joseph, requested that he be appointed administrator of Joseph." There is no further mention of the settlement. There seems to be no other Joseph, who had a brother John, living at this time.

Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Kempton, was bp. 14 August 1743 in the 1st Church of Salem, MA by the Rev. John Sparhawk.

Information on Manasseh Kempton is very sketchy. Following are recorded items:

17 November 1749: "Whereas my late brother Ephraim Kimton of Uxbridge had partnership with me, said Manasseh Kimton of Smithfield, R.I. to sister Abigail Kimpton..." (widow of Ephraim Kempton of Uxbridge who d. 20 Oct. 1749). [Worcester Co. land records]

19 February 1757: Manasseh Kempton, cordwainer, purchased from Gideon and William Paine, for 50 pounds, 1 acre with living spring, part of south-east pasture, they to have use of spring. [Smithfield town records.]

Census of 1774: Manassa Kimpton is listed with family of 5 in Smithfield, RI: 1 male and female over 16, 1 male and 2 females under 16.

8 February 1779: "Voted that the clerk of his council bind by indenture Lydia Inman, Daughter of Mary Ballard to Mannesa Kimpton until 18 years old, to be reared to read and to have 66 pounds for the same, agreeable to Captain Whipples agreement." [Smithfield town records]

25 May 1782: David Kimton bought land in Hartland, VT from Moses and James Lovett of Mendon, Worcester Co., Massachusetts Bay. Deed states: "David was of the same town and county." When he sold this land in 1791, it was co-signed by Patty Kimton and witnessed by Mansses Kimton and two other witnesses.

26 May 1782: Isaac Burden allowed payment for the care of Lydia Inman. No further records of this family in Smithfield, RI.

Census of 1790: No listing of any Kempton/Kimptons in Smithfield.

No death or probate records have been found for Manasseh Kempton. No further land records have been found. There are no birth and death records for the children listed in the census of 1774.

Mabel Partridge was first married to John Soule, who died in 1734 leaving two children, Samuel Soule and Lydia Soule, both under 14 years of age. Mabel Soule was given administration of her husband's estate. In the distribution of the estate, Lydia received 37 pounds and Samuel received 74 pounds. In 1736 Joshua Soule, brother of John Soule, was appointed guardian of the two children.

After the death of Samuel Kempton, his widow, Mabel, married (3)[int] 2 October 1753, William Coomer of Duxbury.

* The birth of Ephraim Kempton does not seem to be recorded in the Plymouth records. His death is recorded in the Plymouth Church records as 24 December 1770. This death record had been a mystery, as all of the Ephraim Kemptons had been accounted for until the publication of Plymouth County Court Records, edited by David T. Konig. Vol.3 p238 carries the following: "Ephraim Kempton who came from Plimouth when a child to reside with his mother, Mabel Kempton and is now arrived the age of 21 years warned to depart town [of Duxbury]." (Duxbury), His death is recorded in Plymouth Church Records as 24 December 1770 and in the Duxbury Vital Records as 27 December 1770.

Ephraim would have been about 2 or 3 years of age when his father died and would have been 6 years of age when his mother remarried.

Thomas Kempton inherited the northerly two-thirds of his father's homestead in Dartmouth, MA. This section of the estate also included the buildings. It was on this property that Thomas lived. Today this area is downtown New Bedford, MA. His death was from drowning in a brook, probably at Rodman's farm. An inquest was held on his death. It was determined that he was coming from the head of the river. While crossing the brook, he was thrown or fell from his horse, stunned and drowned in the brook.

In his will made 6 January 1768, and entered for probate 27 February 1769, his wife Phebe received the household goods and improvements of easterly room and north half of the homestead farm. Children named were sons: Thomas, Ephraim, David and Jonathan. He also mentioned his daughter Esther Butler, wife of Benjamin Butler, and his daughter Mary. For what might seem an unexplained reason, his will gave Jonathan only 5 shillings and instructed that in case of the death of one of his other sons, "the estate would be split evenly amongst the other sons with the exception of Jonathan." Hinds gives us the answer on this. Jonathan was brought up by his grandfather Thomas Hathaway and was amply taken care of in the settlement of his grandfather's estate.

Mary (Hathaway) Kempton, through her father, was descended from Francis Cooke and Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

* This date is from Little Compton Families. I have found no death or grave records in Bristol, Dartmouth or Plymouth.

+ xi DANIEL, b. aft. 28 June 1752, Dartmouth, MA. m.[int] 25 April 1777, KEZIAH LINCOLN, Rochester, MA, but did not marry. He was not mentioned in the division of his father's lands. Keziah Lincoln had a son, 31 August 1777, Rochester, MA, whom she named WILLIAM KEMPTON.

No birth records can be found for the children of William and Mary (Brewster) Kempton except for the first two children who were recorded in Plymouth, MA. There is no further mention of the first child.

William, who was apparently a premature infant, was born approximately seven months after his parents' marriage and died shortly afterwards. In Plymouth Colony days, under the eyes of the law, all children took nine months. During March 1731/2 William Kempton and wife Mary were fined for fornication. All of the living children of William and Mary were baptized in Dartmouth, MA on 28 June 1752, the parents having been admitted to the Congregational Church in full communion on 12 May 1752. No record of the baptism of Daniel can be found.

William Kempton, ship carpenter and housewright, was a large property owner. In November, 1737 Manasseh Kempton-3, heir of the original Manasseh-1, died in Southampton, Long Island, NY. He left his remaining lands in Dartmouth to his grandnephew William-4. William also inherited one-third of his father's lands in 1758. His father Ephraim-3 had also received his land from this same Manasseh Kempton-3 in a land transaction dated 5 September 1733.

William Kempton died intestate, his eldest son Ephraim being appointed administrator of his estate. A rather large inventory was filed on 2 October 1787. His lands were split amongst his seven living sons or their heirs. To Stephen: On the East side of Acushnet River; to William: East side of Acushnet; to Joseph: Near head of river, east side; to James: East side of river, near Edward West's; to Col. Manasseh: West side, next to Jo Russell; to Benjamin's heirs: Next north of Manasseh; to Ephraim: Next north of Benjamin. There was no mention of Daniel, probably being deceased, and his heir William would not be mentioned because of illegitimacy.

The origin of Mary (Brewster) Kempton has been controversial for years. It had been thought that she was a descendant of William Brewster of the Mayflower. As the names of her parents were not known, this line has never been accepted by the Society of Mayflower Descendants. In a recent article MARY BREWSTER, WIFE OF WILLIAM KEMPTON, Mayflower Quarterly, 51:74, Barbara L. Merrick has stated that Mary Bruster (Brewster) is established as the granddaughter of Josiah Keen "late of Pembroke" in his will, written 2 February 1728 and entered for probate 10 January 1732. In this will, Mary Bruster is singled out with a larger bequest than the rest of his grandchildren, being alloted "Twenty shillings," [MD: 19:129-131]. Is this the same Mary Brewster that married William Kempton on 29 July 1731 [MD 14:73]? Mrs Merrick believes she is and goes on to state "In conclusion, it can readily be seen that the mystery of the parentage and Brewster ancestry of Mary (Brewster) Kempton remains unsolved, but her descent from Richard Warren is now established. Her descendants are welcome to apply for membership in the Mayflower Society on her Richard Warren line, through her children by William Kempton."

This author does not agree. At the time of the probate, Mary Brewster was already the wife of William Kempton and had one child. She would then have been called Mary Kempton in the distribution, if she is the same Mary Brewster. At the same time that Mrs. Merrick is jumping to this conclusion, she is ignoring the birth of at least two more sons, one being Daniel.

Benjamin Kempton was a sea captain. It is said that Captain Kempton ran a sloop right under the noses of the British and secured much needed flour during the revolution.

In the division of Benjamin's share of his father William's estate, which was filed for probate [inventory] on 2 October 1787, Book 29.579, Bristol Co., probate records, lists the heirs of Benjamin as follows: "To Benjamin, eldest and only son. To Joanna Ayers, eldest dau. To Agnes 2nd dau. To Rebecca 3d dau. To Sarah, 4th dau."

Sarah (Jenney) Kempton made her will 10 March 1823. It was entered for probate on 1 May 1827. Paul Kempton was appointed executor. The property was split in 5 parts, Benjamin receiving 2 parts; Agnes receiving 1 part; Rebecca receiving 1 part; and Sarah receiving 1 part.

The following have also been included in the family of Capt. Benjamin, by other authors, but the birth dates make this impossible, because of the death date in 1776 of this Benjamin Kempton.

Benjamin Dillingham's co.; enlisted April 15, 1776; service, 7 mos. 20 days; company stationed at Dartmouth for defence of seacoast."

Daniel Kempton's son William married Priscilla Dillingham, dau. of Capt Benjamin Dillingham. Daniel's brother James also marched April 21, 1777 in Capt. Daniel Egery's Co. of minutemen. In the Acushnet Cemetery there is a gravestone close to that of Lt. James Kempton which reads: "Daniel, his son, age 34, died 21 November 1814." This would mean he was born in 1780. Could he have been named after the above Daniel who had possibly died just before this date?

All Kemptons alive at this period in time have been accounted for. There is no other Daniel in this generation or in a period which could be confused. No records of death, injury, or other indication for the failure of Daniel Kempton to marry Kezia Lincoln can be found. The Sherman Genealogy, Descendants of William Sherman, p76, also details this birth.

There are identified descendants of Daniel Kempton living today (1985) in the New York City and New Jersey areas.

In September of 1776, David Kempton was listed as a corporal in Capt. Dexter's Co., Col. Lippitt's Regiment.

Elizabeth Kempton and her children were admitted to the Society of Friends by request, August 1803. David, Elizabeth, and several of their children are buried in the Friends Cemetery in New Bedford.

There is no probate record on file for David Kempton. The estate apparently was settled before his death. David Kempton sold his property on Clark's Neck to his son Caleb on 7 February 1832. This sale was not recorded until the 19th of September 1835, nine months after David's death. On 14 April 1835 there was a quit claim deed recorded on property from Caleb Kempton, Elihu Akins, Rufus Sherman and Virtue R. Kempton.

Ephraim Kempton was a soldier from Uxbridge during the Revolutionary War. He served as a private in the Lexington alarm, 19 April 1775, in Captain Samuel Read's company. He removed with his family to Croydon, NH where he purchased 400 acres in a section known as the flats in 1779. In 1780 his eldest son Rufus enlisted from Croydon. In 1784 Ephraim and Hannah Kempton of Croydon deeded to Peletiah Darling of Uxbridge fifty-five acres of land in the southeast part of that town, adjoining land of Joseph Blake, James Albee, John Kempton, and others, part of the old homestead. The deed was acknowledged at Croydon before Moses Whipple, magistrate, 5 June 1784. The census of 1790 shows that he had in his family two grown sons, three sons under sixteen and three females.

Ephraim Kempton was a mariner.

When Elizabeth, the wife of Ephraim, heard that the British were coming, she and her children left their home on the northwest corner of County and North Sts. and fled to the woods. The traditions that have come down in the family are that what silver they had she hid in the trunk of a tree. She carried with her one of the most cherished possessions of the family, the brass warming pan. As she went through the woods the pan hit the trees and she was advised to drop it, as the British hearing the noise it made might pursue them, but she would not part with it. It was handed down through the family for generations. Tradition again says that the British ransacked the house, eating everything that was cooked and throwing numerous articles into the well which was north of the house.

The birth of Ephraim Kempton does not seem to be recorded in the Plymouth records. His death is recorded in the Plymouth Church records as 24 December 1770. This death record had been a mystery, as all of the Ephraim Kemptons had been accounted for, until the publication of Plymouth County Court Records, edited by David T. Konig. Vol.3, p238, carries the following, "Ephraim Kempton who came from Plimouth when a child to reside with his mother, Mabel Kempton, and is now arrived at the age of 21 years, warned to depart town [of Duxbury]." This was the custom when a child reached 21 and had no occupation or means of support. He was requested to return to the town of his origin. His death is also recorded in the Duxbury VRs as 27 December 1770.

Ephraim would have been about 2 or 3 years of age when his father died and would have been 6 years of age when his mother remarried.

\+ i SARAH, b. ca. 1778, Gloucester, RI. m.[int] 25 August 1798, NATHAN TAFT, Jr., Uxbridge, MA.

Ephraim Kempton was listed as a house carpenter. He has always been listed as living in Gloucester, RI, but no one has ever found his death record in this town. The town of Burrillville split off from Gloucester on 17 November 1806. It was in this new town that Ephraim Kempton died. He is found in one of the first record books. Ephraim's son-in-law, Nathan Taft, Jr., asked to be appointed administrator of the estate of Ephraim Kempton on 28 May 1817. Ephraim Kempton had died intestate. The inventory was submitted 14 August 1817 and totaled $187.50. There seems to be no other record in the probate files.

7 February 1759, Benjamin Butler, cooper, of Dartmouth, purchased from widow, Joanna (Kempton) Drew, of Plymouth, her right in a tract of land at Clark's Neck, Dartmouth. This tract was about 20 acres and was recorded 11 March 1760, Book 44 p150, Bristol County Deeds.

17 April 1775, Benjamin Butler of Dartmouth, purchased from David Kempton, cooper, of Dartmouth, about 40 acres of land, formerly laid out to Manasseh Kempton. This land was also on Clark's Neck.

1 January 1806, Benjamin Butler died intestate. His wife Esther wrote a letter to the probate court and asked to be excused as administratrix and that her son Daniel be appointed administrator.

7 October 1814. Final settlement of the estate of Benjamin Butler was submitted to the Probate Court. No mention was made of his wife, as she had died between his death and the settlement. Shares were given to: Elizabeth Allen, Mary Wood, Deborah Allen, Obediah, Daniel, Patience, Judah and Hepzibah Russell. No mention made of Benjamin, Thomas, Esther, Samuel and Judith.

George Kempton's military record is as follows: "Private, Capt. Bezaleel Taft's (9th) Co., Col. Nathan Tyler's (3d Worcester Co.) regt.; enlisted July 28, 1780; discharged Aug. 7, 1780; service, 14 days, including travel (3 days) home; company marched to Tiverton, R.I. on the alarm of July 27, 1780; roll sworn to in Worcester Co.,; also receipt dated Uxbridge, April 25, 1781, for money paid said Kempton and others by Edward Seagraves, in behalf of Capt. Bezaleel Taft, as part of the wages due them for services on the alarm at Tiverton in July 1780." Mass. Soldiers & Sailors, War of the Revolution.

Stephen Kempton was listed in the 1830 census of Tolland, CT as age 40, with a family of 8. He was "of Ludlow, in the county of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut," at the time of his father's death in 1841. The eldest son Ezra was appointed executor of the estate, but in a petition dated 26 October 1841 he asked to be released as executor and that Joseph B. Cook be appointed. There is no Ludlow in the state of Connecticut. The name does not appear in old Connecticut records or in Gannett's Geographic Dictionary. Either this was an error in the probate record or there was an area called Ludlow that never made it to the point of being called a town.

Deliverence Nye had a twin brother named Stephen.

John Kempton left Plymouth in 1789 and went to Frankfort, ME with his family. He was a ship builder and followed the sea. In the diary of Francis LeBaron Goodwin is this account: "1789, April 14, set off with John Kempton for the eastward to look up a farm to live on. Arrived at Penobscot, at William Colsons, of whom I purchased 50 acres of land with an intent to live there. We lived at Oak Point until ye 1st of June, and then went to Fox Island to load boards. Capt. Bartlet and Holmes came down to us next day. We set off for Plymouth, arrive here ye 12th of June."

Mr. Kempton chose a spot on the hill overlooking a cove which now bears his name. There he put up a rude log house. He purchased a small parcel of land and decided to bring his family here. In May of the following year he took his family and built a frame house and a wharf. The first vessel built in Frankfort, ME was the "Cynthia" built at Oak Point by Capt. John Kempton.

Jonathan Kempton lived on what originally was the south third of the immense tract of real estate of Thomas Hathaway-2, son of Arthur-1. Thomas Hathaway-3, father of Mary (Hathaway) Kempton, by will devised this farm to Jonathan Kempton. It is said that Jonathan was raised by his grandfather. In his own father's will he was left only a small stipend.

Jonathan in his will divided his lands between his children. Certain provisions were written into this will. One of the most interesting is that each child give his share upon demand of firewood, "a sufficiency of firewood for two fires constantly both in winter and summer, and for three fires occasionally during the period of my wife's natural life."

The farm stayed as one piece because by 1836 Charles Kempton, son of Jonathan, had acquired the entire farm. In 1851 he failed, and the property passed to Mary (Kempton) Gifford, wife of Joseph. In 1855 Mary (Kempton) Gifford conveyed the farm to Nathan Breed of Lynn, MA, who sold it to Laura Keene in 1865. Laura Keene was a famous actress. She had the leading part in a play at the Ford Theatre when Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

Lydia (Wing) Kempton was a Friend (Quaker). By request, November 1804, Jonathan and Lydia (Wing) Kempton were set off from the Sandwich Meeting and accepted at the New Bedford Meeting. Birth and marriage dates of all the children of above are in the Friends' records.

Manasseh Kempton received a large tract of land in New Bedford from the the division of his father's estate. He built himself a house located on what is now the southwest corner of Second and Elm Streets.

During the War of the Revolution he served as 1st Lieutenant in Capt. Benjamin Dillingham's company and was at Roxbury camp during the siege of Boston. In 1776 he was captain of forces stationed at Dartmouth for the defense of the seacoast. In 1777 he was Captain of a company stationed at or near Howland's Ferry for the defense of Rhode Island. In 1778 he was commissioned First Major in Colonel John Hathaway's Second Bristol County regiment of militia. His gravestone calls him Colonel. This title was probably derived from a subsequent colonelcy in the militia.

"State of Maine," Little, states that William Carver was a seafaring man who moved his family from Marshfield about 1759 to live in various towns along the seacoast of Maine, where they lived until he, then captain of a schooner, was cast away at the mouth of Kennebec River. About 2 years later, Widow Carver moved her children to Livermore, ME. They were said to be the 2nd family to settle in Livermore. The children were: William, James, Amos, Nathan, Lucy, Elizabeth and Mary. What became of the other children is uncertain. The seven who moved to Livermore all settled in that general area.

Richard Kempton was one of the New England Artillery Company who volunteered to drive the French out of Canada under General Wolfe. After the battle of Abraham Heights, where the French were defeated, the New England Company returned home to receive their discharge. In the spring of 1761, Richard Kempton, with several others, loaded a vessel with building materials and sailed from Plymouth, MA for Cornwallis, Nova Scotia. Bad weather forced them into the port of Liverpool where, meeting friends, they decided to stay. Early next spring Fear Curtis and her sister Sarah arrived at Liverpool from Plymouth, MA. On 21 March 1762 the first double wedding in Liverpool was performed. Fear Curtis married Richard Kempton and Sarah Curtis married Joseph Woods. Liverpool had been founded in 1760. When Richard and Fear were married it had grown to 90 families totaling 504 persons. They had erected 70 houses and owned 17 schooners. It was in Liverpool that Richard constructed his first house with materials brought with him from Plymouth. The Kemptons then moved to Western Head. Moose Harbour is an inlet in this area. It received its name from the shooting of a large moose by Richard Kempton during a search for food for his family.

According to the land grant, signed 20th November 1764, in the fifth year of King George the Third's reign, in the township of Liverpool, Nova Scotia, Richard Kempton received:

Town Lot	Letter G	No. 11
Fish Lot	Letter B.	No. 36
5 Acres	Letter G.	No. 6
12 Acres	Letter F.	No. 8
30 Acres	Letter A.	No. 26

Also 1 share in Salt Meadow Marsh 16; 200 Acres Letter A, No. 39, NE side Liverpool River near Cornwallis Rd. Also 250 Acres undivided land.

The town of Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia was at that time a part of the township of Liverpool. This will explain to the reader the variances in some of the records. The person may have been born, lived and died in Milton. The vital records were kept in Liverpool. Therefore, the person might have been listed as "of Liverpool."

Some time after the above grant, Richard Kempton moved to Milton and built the second house in this town. In 1774, Richard Kempton was listed as a poor laborer in a court action in which two cows were attached by Benjamin Godfrey. From this poor start the fortunes of the Kempton family seemed to improve. In October of 1785, Richard Kempton was very badly wounded in the head by a falling tree. However, at that time, he had a good supply of wood in the form of logs and boards to be sold, This carried the family through his recovery. As time went on, the records show larger and larger amounts of logs cut by the Kemptons and sawed in a saw mill owned by Simeon Perkins.

Both Richard, and his wife Fear are buried in the Old Congregational Church Cemetery in Liverpool. Richard's stone is still in its place and reads as follows:

The Remains of
RICHARD KEMPTON
DECEASED
The 11th of May 1809
AE 69 years 6 months & 22 days

My Body down is laid / To Rest / Beneath the silent clay /
And hopes to rise amongst / The just / At the last rising day /
When Jesus calls my / Sleeping dust / My spirit to unite /
I shall awake and leave / My tomb With Joy and great delight.

The stone for Fear (Curtis) Kempton has been missing for years but had read:

Sacred
To the Memory of FEAR
wife of
RICHARD KEMPTON
Who departed this life
5th July 1823
Aged 84 years

Fear Curtis was a descendant of Peter Brown, one of the passengers on the Mayflower which landed at Plymouth, MA in 1620. All descendants from Richard and Fear (Curtis) Kempton can claim this Mayflower line.

Samuel Kempton and his family appear in the census of 1790 in Guilford, VT and also in Swanzey, NH. He is shown as the head of a family with six white females.

On 8 April 1818, Samuel Kempton, in his application for his pension gave his residence as Colrain, MA. He gave his age as "66th year" and his wife's age as 63. He also stated that he was from Uxbridge, MA, after service in Tiverton, RI and in York as a private. His pension was $8.00 per month. After his death in 1832, his widow Katherine applied for and received his pension. His pension file lists his daughters in a rather hard-to-read manner.

Stephen and Katherine (Boyce) Kempton moved from Mendon, MA to Richmond, NH in 1762. In 1779 he sold his first homestead to John Pickering of Salem, MA. At that time he had purchased other lands. His son Samuel inherited this farm and, in turn, his grandson Simeon had possession of the farm.

18 November 1766, Stephen Kempton deeded all of his rights to his father's personal and real estate to his brother Ephraim of Uxbridge, MA.

Thomas Kempton was a master mariner in the coastal trade, a navigator on the sloop "Diamond," and in 1765 Captain of the sloop "Dove." In 1773 he received a commission in the British service which he later resigned in favor of the local patriot cause.

When the alarm of 19 April 1775 sounded, he was outside building the house for his family. He gathered his company of minutemen, which he captained, and marched for Roxbury. He also served in Cambridge and Boston. He was commissioned a Lt. Colonel on 1 April 1776 just before he had to retire from active service because of poor health. The Captain Thomas Kempton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has had a marker placed over his grave, the New Bedford Chapter of the D.A.R.being named in his honor.

The family had a powder horn handed down from the Revolutionary days. It was inscribed "Made the 6 of September A.D. 1775 at Roxbury Camp for Captain Thomas Kempton."

He maintained an active interest in his community as selectman, assessor, and teacher of navigation and math. With improved health he went back to sea as captain of the sloop "Polly."

CAPTAIN KEMPTON'S POWDER HORN.

CAPTAIN KEMPTON'S GRAVE

The Captain Thomas Kempton Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution of this city, has purchased a grave marker for the grave of Captain Thomas Kempton, hitherto unmarked, which will be placed in position, before Memorial Day. The design is that adopted by the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution. The marker is of iron and bronze; at the top of the rod is a Greek cross one foot in diameter, with the figure of the Concord minute men in the centre, and in the arms of the cross the letters S.A.R. (soldier or sailor of the American Revolution), and in the lower arm the date 1775. Attached to the rod is a tablet of bronze with the inscription:

In 1806 William Kempton, yeoman, sold his inheritance from his father for $2,250. His wife Ruth signed away her dower in the property, and they removed from New Bedford, MA. to Farmington, ME. After William died, his widow Mary (Damon) Kempton m. 20 February 1812, JOSEPH LANDERS, Farmington, ME.

A most interesting article was published in "Maine Woods" in 1905. A copy of this is on the following pages. You will note that this article states that William Kempton was born in Fairhaven, MA. At that time Fairhaven and Acushnet were a part of Dartmouth. Parts of this section then became New Bedford.

DESPERATE ENCOUNTER

IN WHICH AN INDIAN DEVIL PLAYS A PROMINENT PART

Indian Pete Downs Him With the New Rifle With the Aid of a Torch

[Special correspondence to Maine Woods]
West Phillips, Feb 13, 1905

My grandfather was born in Fairhaven, Mass. His name was William Damon Kempton and he was one a family of eight boys. Most of them followed the sea. My father's name war Ezra, the youngest son of William, and two other brothers came to Maine sometime in the latter part of 1790.

My grandfather was a sea captain but soon got tired of the business and followed his sons to Maine, taking his ship's mate with him. They settled about 25 miles east of Bangor. The country around there was then an unbroken forest. My grandfather was of a roving disposition, loved nature and the wild woods better than the wild and treacherous waves of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

At this time there was a small tribe of Indians on the Piscataquis river who were very friendly with my grandfather and one in particular was almost constantly with him and the two were much in the great woods, hunting and trapping. Game was very plentiful at that time in the direction of Mt. Katahdin which the Indian called Big Thunder and said: "No white man no go up him, big ingun go once, no go more. Grat spirit talk ther."

My grandfather and Indian Pete planned a two weeks' trip in the direction of the great mountain. Their plan was to go to the foot of the mountain and build a substantial camp, but it proved much farther than it looked. They traveled two days and supposed they were at the spur of the mountain and concluded to locate their home camp. Nearly a week was spent in completing their home. They soon ascertained that they were in the center of a large tract of game -- moose, caribou, deer and all fur bearing animals in great abundance. The two men proceeded at once to set a line of traps east along the base of the mountain as far as they could go and return at night.

The next day they did the same going west. The second day's tramp proved much longer than the preceding day and they did not reach camp until after dark. The Indian proved to be an excellent cook, especially for all kinds of venison, for such was their bill of fare.

My grandfather wished very much to go to the top of the mountain as he had never seen as formidable an elevation before but Pete was very loath to make the attempt as he believed and said that it was the home of the Indian devil, in which the evil spirit lived and no Indian ever went. After much persuasion Pete said he would go if he had a rifle. He said his gun, "too big, no go, no kill, no good." Pete was envious. My grandfather, while on one of his voyages, made the acquaintance of a rich planter who possessed a beautiful rifle which grandfather offered him $300 for but could not buy it. Before leaving port, the planter and little son visited the ship, and the boy -- like all boys -- had to look at everything on board, lost his balance and fell overboard. As quick as thought the captain threw off his coat and sprang overboard and both went out of sight. But it was but a moment and the captain appeared with the boy in his arms. The joy and gratitude of the father was unbounded. He offered the captain his gold watch but he would not accept it. He made my grandfather promise to come to his house before sailing. The day before the vessel weighed anchor the captain called on the planter and wife. The mother burst into tears and taking a diamond ring from her finger asked him to give it to his wife is a slight token of the esteem she cherished for her who was the wife of the heroic man who had saved her darling from a watery grave. While this little episode was in process, the planter had gone to his room and procured the much coveted rifle and begged the captain to accept it for he should not feel satisfied unless he took it to his home for, said he: "You have saved the life of my only son."

The Indian felt jubilant at the prospect of a new rifle. The had not put up but a few traps as it was too early. Pete said "For no good yet, too soon," and as they been gone from home nearly two weeks they concluded to go to the settlement for a week as they needed some necessary articles and go back in a week. While out home the captain purchased Pete a new rifle, which was of small caliber and flintlock, so was the captain's as there was no other kind known at that date. In one week they were again on the trail and in due time arrived safe at camp.

The next week they put up traps and looked the country over. Then they planned to go to the top of the mountain. The next morning Pete was up before it was light and had huge slices of moose steak over the coals.

As soon as the gray of the morning appeared in the east they wended their way toward the top of Maine's grandest mountain. It was a laborious climb and consumed more time than they had calculated, not arriving at the summit, until 2 o'clock. What a grand view met their vision! Woods, woods, woods! As far as the eye could scan woods and water met their gaze. Pete, pointing to Moosehead, said: "that big water." But time admonished them that they must be on the move and secure a camping place on the side of the mountain. They had descended about a mile when Pete said: "here cave place for Indian and cap'n, home of great spirit, stop here sure, no go ferder." A natural cave larger than a small bedroom Grandfather said, speaking of it in after years, that it was the most natural place of shelter that could be found in the state. Pete prepared dry wood for the night and gathered moss from the great gray rocks and made a soft bed and both feeling weary from their hard day's tramp soon were lost in peaceful slumber.

Sometime in the night they were suddenly awakened from a sound sleep by an unearthly screech and bloodcurdling scream over their heads. Pete sprang to his feet and said "Injun devil come" and ran to the back side of the camp and covered up his head in his blanket.

The Captain was not that kind of a man. Catching up his rifle he walked to the mouth of the cave and tried to get a sight at the animal that could produce such an unearthly noise. The Captain picked up some small dry fagots and carefully placed them on the fire. Presently a bright flame shot around the mouth of the cave and to the top of a huge rock that covered the roof of their domicile. Telling the incident to my father, the captain said: "I would have given a hundred dollars to have seen his head at that moment." He got tired waiting, could not hear a sound from the rock above. He stooped and taking a burning stick from the fire threw it to the top of the rock. As the fire brand struck the top of the rock a hundred sparks scattered in all directions.

As the torch reached the rock above the animal gave another terrific screech and bounded up the side of the mountain. The captain said he had a peculiar feeling come over as he stood beside that little fire. He felt conscious all the time that two eyes were piercing down upon him and waiting for an opportunity to spring upon him. The panther was not heard again that night. The captain turned in again and slept till daylight. Not so with Pete, his nerves received a severe shock and it lasted him for a week.

The next morning they proceeded leisurely down the mountain. Pete was sure to keep close to the captain's heels and kept good watch of the rear. The next day they both went on an exploring expedition. They had not proceeded more than a mile when they came to a stream that abounded with trout. Proceeding up the stream a short distance they came to an opening in the woods and a level tract of land, when Pete turned to his companion and gave the sign of silence. Both dropped to the ground and he whispered to the captain, "look." He did so and beheld the greatest sight he ever saw in all his travels. It was a family of beaver building a dam. For two hours they laid there and watched this busy and ingenious family. Pete remarked: "me catch um byniby."

Proceeding toward camp over the foot of the mountain they were surprised at the amount of game that they saw. Pete wanted to use his rifle on some of them but the captain told him no and they only shot fur bearing animals and light and the most valuable ones as it was so far to pack them. The next day they made a tour west and found the country equally as interesting as the previous day and shot more fur game than in all the previous days.

The rest of the week was spent in setting up a line of traps east and west from the home camp. This method was to go over the line each day, one going east and the other going west, alternatively. Pete was slow to consent to this arrangement. He was afraid of meeting the Indian devil. Pete believed that the panther and the animal they heard a few nights before were two separate animals. Pete told the captain that "Indian devil kill panther but no kill Indian devil." The captain told him to shoot straight and not get excited and he could kill anything in the woods with his new rifle. This gave Pete more courage and he thought he could shoot anything the captain could. They had trapped a week and they brought home each night large packs of fur and it took till in the night to stretch and dry their pelts. A week passed in this way and they had success so they concluded to go to the settlement with a pack of 100 pounds each.

"One more day," says the captain, "and we will have a vacation." Pete said: "Leave traps sprung, no bate um, fur spile." So the next morning each started earlier than usual. It was a glorious autumnal morning; the forests were clothed in all the variegated colors of the rainbow and hard is that heart and unsusceptible that mind that is not thrilled with pleasure at the prospect of such a morning and the scene presented while so near to the great heart of nature and nature's God.

As the two partners separated on that eventful morning each was to gather and take of the pelts, leave the traps unbaited and see who could get back to camp first and bring the most game. Both men vied with each other.

On going over the line the captain found a larger amount of pelts than usual to take off. Before he got to the end of his beat and ready to retrace his steps on consulting his watch, he was surprised to see that it was 5 o'clock. He then retraced his steps feeling that his Indian friend would get the laugh on him this time.

The Indian, Pete, all the day was on the other end of the line using his knife and rifle as only such born hunters can and by 4 in the afternoon was back to camp preparing his pack for the next day's tramp. His work done and wood for night, Pete thought he would go out on the trail and have a little sport with the "Cap," as Pete familiarly called him.

The captain had proceeded at a rapid pace when a peculiar sensation came over him; he thought it could not be fear. He had been shipwrecked twice, boarded by pirates once, had been in hundreds of hard places but had never had such a feeling come over him before. He stopped to think, he could not recall any incident where he ever had such a feeling before. He came to a large log and sat down to rest. The cold perspiration stood on his brow. He thought he had been walking fast and getting nervous -- all of a tremble. He became convinced and had a presentiment that somebody or something was following him. At this conclusion he turned his eyes on his back tracks and saw a large animal standing in his path eagerly watching his movements.

He rose to his feet and faced the great brute, at this demonstration on the part of the hunter the panther crouched to the ground, nearly out of sight. Now that he had seen his enemy his nerves became still and he felt himself again. What should he do he soliloquized, risk a shot and take chances, but something said "wait," so the captain started again on his beat and when he got out of sight he stepped behind a large tree and looked back; yes he was coming, the sneaking coward was only waiting till dark to creep up and pounce upon me, but I've seen tougher customers than you, come on before dark is all I ask. After this soliloquizing the captain turned on the run till he came to a suitable place beside a great pine tree; he turned square to the left, ran about four rods and jumped over a log that laid on the ground, setting the hammer to his rifle and waited. He had not long to wait. Presently the patter of his feet was heard and he came in sight with nose to the ground. When he got to the end of the hunter's tracks, he stopped and with ears alert, looked around, then up into the tree, at the instant the little rifle spoke and the little leaden messenger sped true to its mark.

As his heart was pierced, the great beast sprung ten feet up the great tree, dug his huge claws into the bark of the tree, quivered for a moment and fell to the ground.

Before leaving his tracks, the captain proceeded to load his rifle as all true hunters will do. He had put the powder in his gun; reached into his side coat pocket to take out the patch and bullet, but was surprised to find that every one of them had run out of a seam in his coat made by his exertion in eluding his enemy. He had taken a circuitous route and struck the trail twenty rods below and hurried to camp, he would have had reason for thankfulness all the rest of his life. After recovering from his surprise he climbed over the log, and walked leisurely to the slain panther and viewed him several minutes. It was a noble specimen, and he had never seen nor believed that such a formidable an animal existed in this primeval state.

The sun had gone down and darkness was fast settling down on the great woods, admonishing him that he had one-half mile yet to go to reach camp. With his empty rifle in his hand he again started on the home stretch, when that fearful screech reverberated again in the twilight not forty rods in the rear, it was the same cry he had heard on the side of the mountain above his camp fire. Every screach he could tell that he was fast nearing him, dropping his empty rifle and drawing his belt knife, he sprang into a low tree. It took but two or three seconds to reach a position ten or twelve feet from the ground. Could he have had five minutes he could have lashed his belt knife to a stick and stood a fair show for life. As the Indian devil for such it was came up to the tree he gave a bound and caught the captain by his foot, and dropped intending doubtless to drag his prey from the tree, but the great arms of muscle held on for life. The man's moccasin gave away and the great cat dropped to the ground. He had tasted blood and with one bound he fastened his huge teeth again in the other foot of his would be victim.

This is but the repetition of several attempts to draw the hunter from the tree. Every attempt made him more fierce as he tasted blood. On one attempt to use his knife he came very near losing his life.

The fierce creature had fastened his great jaws on his heel while the captain was in the act of using his knife. It slipped from his hand but he caught the limb of the tree and thus saved himself. He was growing faint from the loss of blood and the excruciating pain in his lacerated, torn and bloody feet. With the captain's knife his courage went and he became aware that he was no match without weapons for so formidable a beast. As the animal came up the tree again and was about to fasten his great fangs again in the tender cords and muscles, the crack of a rifle was heard near by. The sound overcame the captain as he swooned from the tree and fell into the arms of Indian Pete.

The first four children of Zacheus and Sally (Robinson) Kempton are buried on Burial Hill in Plymouth, MA. They are listed as Sally @36, Charles @21, Woodward @17, and Robinson @2.

Zacheus Kempton was accused of being a Loyalist (Tory) during the War of the Revolution along with his father and his brother John.

Mrs. Sarah R. Kempton, wife of Mr. Zacheus Kempton, is also buried on Burial Hill but in a different location from her children. There is no sign of a grave for Zacheus. The only reference to his death is a letter from Zacheus Kempton, Jr., who at that time was living in Glastonbury, CT. The letter reads: "19 September 1825, It being inconvenient to me to administer on the estates of my father Zacheus late of Plymouth deceased. - request that John Thomas be appointed."

In August of 1803, when Aaron Wing Kempton was only 8 months old, his parents joined the Society of Friends, by request. Aaron was brought up as a Friend (Quaker). In the 1820s Aaron was attending school at the Friends boarding school in Providence, RI (now Moses Brown School), when he received a letter from his friend Rufus Sherman of New Bedford, who later married Aaron's sister Deborah.

To give you an idea of the high cost of travel in 1837, I am including the following notes from Aaron's papers: Aaron left New Bedford for the west on 5 August 1837. Taking the stage for Newport, RI...cost-$2.00. From Newport he went to New York by steamboat...cost-$4.50. He spent one day in New York, attended Friends meeting and stayed overnight at a cost of $1.50. The following morning he took the steamboat "Rochester" for Albany...cost-$3.00. That night he had a $1.00 room at the Eagle Tavern Hotel. The following day he went to Saratoga Springs...fare-$1.75 and then stayed overnight with his cousin, David Dillingham. He then returned to Albany and took the train for Utica, arriving at about 4 A.M. The Utica to Syracuse leg of his trip was by canal boat arriving at about 2 A.M. His day was spent with H. Piffin, formerly of Falmouth, MA .

The following day's travel was by stage to Eldsbridge and thence to Auburn, MA. He attended meeting and the following day saw Joseph Shotwell, Charles Gifford and wife, Timothy Davis and wife, and her brother James Stephens. The following day was spent traveling from Aurora, on a steamboat, to the Erie Canal at Montezuma and thence to Palmyra. Here he saw Edward Townsend and George Cranes's wife from Michigan, formerly of Taunton, MA. The following day was spent looking at farms and ended with taking the boat for Rochester, N.Y., where he took the "Champlain" for Albion, arriving at 10 P.M. He saw a friend in South Barry and attended meeting. Spending two more days with his friend, "Ames", he returned to Albion, where he went aboard the "Swan" for Lockport, arriving before sunset.

The following morning a visit to the Canadian side of Niagara Falls was made. Then he took the steamship for Buffalo, arriving in the evening. Two nights were spent in the Traveller's Home, and the following morning he went aboard the Sandusky and sailed for Toledo, Ohio, stopping at Fairport, Sandowsky, Detroit, Sandwich (Canada), and then on to Toledo. The next trip was by rail to Adrian, and thence to Rollin, arriving there late. The next day, Sunday Meeting was attended. The following morning he went out to the "Chicago road, Hillsdale County Township of Wheatland Section No 12 - Stopt (sie) to the Tavern of Knickerbaker waiting for conveyance to Tecumseh". When Aaron Kempton was married in 1842, he was listed by the minister as "of Rollin".

The trip back to New Bedford is very similar to the above trip in reverse. In all, Aaron was gone 6 weeks and 1 day. His notes detailed the costs of parts of the round trip and, by filling in the blank spaces, it appears that the entire trip cost under $100.00.

On the seventeenth of June, 1845 Isaac and Elizabeth Steer sold a piece of property situated in the Township of Woodstock, County of Lenawee, Michigan, containing 52 acres and sixty-eight hundreds to Aaron W. Kempton for the sum of Three Hundred Dollars.

In September 1850, Aaron Kempton had $400 fire insurance with the Jackson County Mutual Fire Insurance Company on his barn and its contents of hay and grain. This was a five-year policy and cost him $23.00.

In letters to "Aunt Jane" from George Kempton in 1858 and again in 1860, the poor health of his Uncle Aaron is mentioned.

Abigail Gibbs Kempton was called "Nabbie" in her father's will. Probably her nickname.

Warren Cushing's inventory was filed for probate. The estate amounted to over $4000 and was awarded to his wife Abigail.

5 May 1829, Abigail Gibbs Cushing, widow of Warren Cushing, was appointed guardian to all her children: John, Deborah, Alice Eliza, Anna Sophia and Albert.

The will of Abigail Gibbs (Kempton) Cushing was written 6 October 1875 and submitted for probate on 3 November 1876. Her son John K. Cushing was appointed executor of the estate in which he was the heir to all property and real estate of every description. He was instructed to give $1.00 to each of her grandchildren.

+ iv poss. WELTHEA KEMPTON, who m. JOSEPH MANNING, or it could possibly be a child named after her father ASA.

It is very possible that there were other children as Asa and Temperence (Jenney) Kempton were married 16 years before his death. The will of Stephen Kempton, father of Asa, states: "To children of my deceased son, Asa" Stephen wrote his will, 19 January 1807, about 10 months before the death of Asa. If there had been only one child at the time of the writing of the will, he would have probably named him/her. This could show multiple births which have not been proven.

The census of Saratoga Springs, New York, taken 19 September 1850, shows Phebe's mother, Temperence Kimpton, living in the household of Warren and Phebe Patten.

Caleb Kempton went to sea in whaling ships as a very young man. By the age of 21 he had command of his first ship. By the age of 33 he had amassed sufficient money to support him the rest of his life. He therefore left the sea and retired to his home in New Bedford.

His will was written 21 January 1880 and filed for probate March 1882 by his son George, who stated that he was the only son and and heir of Caleb Kempton. When the inventory was filed in 1883 the estate amounted to $18,850. Included in this amount were 60 shares of B + A Railroad and many shares of other railroad stocks. Under conditions of the will, George was to have use and control of the property. After George's death the estate was to go to the Orphan Home in New Bedford which later became the New Bedford Children's Aid Society.

Caleb and Lovey (Sherman) Kempton are both buried in the Friends cemetery in New Bedford, MA.

Charles Kempton is listed as one of the original petitioners to have the "Great Isle of Holt" set aside from Deer Isle in 1802. He was also listed in the group of original settlers of the Isle of Holt (Isle au Haut).

The History of Deer Isle, Maine gives this account. "Charles Kempton was an early settler, and came from what is the present town of Winterport. He there resided near what is known as Stubb's Point. The maiden name of his wife was Stinson, of a family of that name in what was then the town of Prospect. At the time of his marriage she was a Mrs. Turner, and as we have stated was the mother of Captain Samuel Turner".

In the census of 1850, Lucy (Stinson) Turner) Kempton was living with her son John and his wife Hannah on Isle au Haut. She was listed as age 84.

It is very probable that Daniel Kempton did not marry or have a family. In his estate which was entered for probate 30 September 1816, his father was sole heir. However his father had died in 1814, therefore any property was included with his father's estate for division. His grandfather Noah Stoddard was named executor of Daniel's estate and also the executor of his father James' estate.

David Kempton is listed in the New Haven City Directory from 1841 until 1860 as a manufacturer of Morocco, living at 3 Gold Street. He probably went to Thetford, Vermont a year or so after the death of his wife.

He requested in his will that he be buried in New Haven. There is a tombstone in the Grove Street Cemetery "Sacred to the memory of the deceased members of David Kempton". [lot B. Sycamore Ave.]

Also in his will, written 10 March 1863 and probated 5 May 1863, he bequeathed most of his estate to his granddaughter Mary Elizabeth Kempton and willed that she live with his nephew William A. Kayes and that she may visit her friends in New Haven when desirable. He also left his niece Mary P. Kayes his horse and pig and all the grain, corn, and other grains he had at decease.

James Alling of 8 Gold Street was appointed administrator of the estate and became guardian of Mary Elizabeth Kempton who was still a minor, her parents being deceased.

The records of this family are pieced together from bits. It is very possible that Edward and Ruth (Bishop) Kempton had other children. Tax records show the Kempton Family in Croydon up to 1824. They then reappear on the tax lists from 1833 until 1844. Where they were between 1824 and 1833 is not known. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Edward Stoddard Kempton was a privateer during the war of 1812. His ship was wrecked off the southern coast. This is how he probably met his wife.

Edward Stoddard and Mary Harvey (Stillwell) Kempton had eight children. The records are lost for the other six as they all died in their younger years. Only Edward and Mary lived to adulthood and were married.

Edward S. Kempton, merchant of Savannah, sold land to Jeremiah Kempton of Savannah for $734, 13 July 1819. Have found no trace of what became of this land.

Benjamin Kingman of Bridgewater received a judgment against Edward Stoddard Kempton in the amount of $974.34 plus $13.32 costs. If Edward Kempton should show up he would be put in the gaol at Plymouth until bill was paid. 2nd Monday, April 1820. [Vol.108 p116 Plymouth Co. court records].

Land in Fairhaven seized on May 9th 1820 and entered as part payment of the judgment in the amount of $769.68.

In the 3d and 4th Land Lotteries of 1820 and 1821, there was a grant to Edward S. Kempton. Lot #123, section 23, of Early County, Georgia.

The following letter was found in the Kempton File in the Samuel Clements Library at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI:

Savannah 21st Oct 1862

To Genl Ira R. Foster

Dr Sir

Yours of the 13th has been recd. I have made inquiry all over town for the pines but cannot find any Some of our Savannah folks having started a Bucket factory in Sandersville took it all up one of the party told me he had been all over Georgia + Carolina and got all that he could hear of. We are all well and hope this will find you and yours the same

Respectfully yours
Edward S. Kempton

After her husband's death, Mary Harvey (Stillwell) Kempton married, 6 September 1829, William H. Delamater, of New York.

Ephraim Kempton came to Croydon from Uxbridge in 1779 with his parents and lived the rest of his life near the Croydon Flat. His wife Betsey Cutting was a first cousin, being the daughter of his mother's sister. There is no available record of their children's births, nor even the order of their births. All material had to be determined from marriage and death records.

Captain Francis Kempton was a master mariner of many years experience. Some of the "ports of call" mentioned in Samuel Perkin's Diary are: Trinidad, Saint Croix, Liverpool, England and the West Indies. In the same diaries the following ships are mentioned with Francis Kempton as Master: Schooner - Friendship; Brig - Natashkwen; Brig - Lady Warren, and the good ship - Parker and Sons.

Captain Kempton died in Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia at the age of 55 from the effects of cancer. His wife Abigail lived to the age of 71.

Humphrey Kempton and his wife Susan were members of the New Bedford Meeting of the Society of Friends (Quakers). Humphrey had been disowned by the Meeting in January 1818. Susan was probably in trouble with the Meeting also. In 1827 Susan was accepted, by request, by the New Bedford Meeting. Humphrey was restored in October 1828.

The archives of the New England Yearly Meeting Boarding School, now Moses Brown School, in Providence, RI show the following members of this family in the school and the year of the class.: Mrs. Humphrey Kempton, 1822; John R.D. Kempton, 1844; George Withy Kempton, 1849 and Hannah B. Kempton, 1854.

In June 1863, Susan B. (Davis) Kempton removed to Scipio, New York. Her daughter Hannah Bradford (Kempton) Beatty removed to Scipio at the same time.

Jeremiah Kempton came to Croydon, New Hampshire while still a young boy. The family was among the early settlers. He became a successful farmer and a large landowner. His home was on the top of the hill west of Croydon Flats. Some members of his family are buried close to the farm.

Jeremiah died intestate. His estate was entered for probate on 21 September 1831 and amounted to $950.43.

Esther (Gordon) Kempton was living with her son, Silas, in 1850, according to the census of 1850.

John Kempton possibly moved to Farmington, ME in 1806, the same year that his father moved there, based on tax and deed records.

It was on 24 June 1834 that John Kempton joined the Mormon Church. He is listed as being one of the "Ministers of the Gospel, belonging to the church of the Latter Day Saints, whose Licences were recorded the last Quarter, in Kirtland, Ohio, by Thomas Burdick, Recording Clerk. Kirtland, Dec. 1, 1836." This is followed by a list of 44 elders, John Kempton being one of them. Also listed were 5 priests and one teacher. [Latter Day Saints' Messenger and Advocate, Vol III, No.3, 1 December 1836, Kirtland, Ohio]. It is possible that John had gone to Kirtland on church duties, leaving his family in Maine, bringing them to Ohio later, with the exception of John, who remained in Farmington, Maine.

John Kempton bought a town lot in Sunbury in December 1838. The first mention of his family in Ohio is in the June 1840 census of Sunbury. According to tax records and his autobiography, John Kempton left Sunbury in 1843 for Nauvoo, IL and arrived there on 23 June 1843, according to his autobiography. He voted in Nauvoo, IL city elections in 1845. His sons Henry and Isaiah stayed in Sunbury when the rest of the family headed west. In Nauvoo, IL, two more children were lost by death.

We do know that John Kempton was in Salt Lake City, UT by 1847, based on High Priest records. We also have these abstracts from Historical Records of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon):

Meeting 6 October 1848, "The general conference in Great Salt Lake City met in the Bowery, pursuant to adjournment. The forenoon meeting was addressed by Elders John Kempton, Charles C. Rich, Parley P. Pratt, Heber C. Kimball, Pres. Brigham Young, Erastus Snow and others, etc.

Meeting 5 November 1848, "At the public meeting held in the Bowery in Great Salt Lake City, Sunday 5 November, Elders Heber C. Kimball, John Taylor, Erastus Snow, John Kempton, and Pres. Brigham Young presided.

Meeting 7 April 1853, "---------- were sustained as one vote as members of the High Council of this Stake of Zion with the addition of Phineas Richards to fill the place of John Kempton, Deceased.

L D S Church records show these additional marriages for John Kempton:

(3) 15 September 1852 to PERSILLER or PRISCILLA (BILLINGS) ENSIGN, widow of Zopher Ensign. They are shown as married in the 1850 Utah census.

(4) 15 September 1852 to CHARLOT (OSBORN) POTTER, widow of David Potter.

John Kempton died in Salt Lake City, 18 December 1852 of "plurasy" attended by Dr. Sprague. He was buried on 22 December 1852, in Plot D., block 2, Lot 2, of the Salt Lake City Cemetery. He was one of the first laid to rest in this cemetery.

The Kimptons after leaving Richmond, NH. settled in Moria, Franklin Cty, NY. John Kimpton was a farmer, blacksmith and local preacher. He is shown living with his son John N. and Martha (Brown) Kimpton in the census of 1850, Milton, VT. He was living with a son in Georgia, VT at the time of his death. He is buried in Brushton, NY.

John Kempton was employed as a ship caulker in Boston, MA. In 1838, through the will of his maiden Aunt Deborah of Plymouth, he came into some property on the corner of High and Summer Sts. in Plymouth. This was a house and grocery store that his Aunt Deborah, Aunt Joanna and Uncle Nathaniel had run until their deaths. He moved to Plymouth and carried on the grocery business for a period of time until he sold out. He then moved to Middleboro, MA. for a time before moving back to Boston and taking up his occupation of ship caulker until 1846. At that time he moved to Malden, MA. where he died in 1857.

John Kempton was staunch abolitionist and anti-slavery in his opinions. He had the honor of being a pupil of the celebrated Reverend Adoniram Judson, the missionary and founder of the "Burnam Bible," who also ran a private school in Plymouth.

John Winslow Kempton, according to the diary of Simeon Perkins, seemed to be a combination of fisherman, lumberman, barrel maker, and in 1805 was named as surveyor of dry and pickled fish. He lived near Milton Falls on land he had purchased from Simeon Perkins. He was in a partnership with his son, William A. Kempton, the partnership being dissolved 31 May 1855.

An interesting story was published in the Liverpool Transcript, (date unknown) on the courtship of John Kempton and Sarah Snow. It is as follows:

> In 1794, Sarah Snow, daughter of Captain Prince Snow and his wife Sarah, was living at the Falls at Sheriff Nathan Tupper's. Whether she made this her permanent residence or whether it was a casual visit, I cannot say. At this time Sally was a young woman of twenty-one. John Kempton was nineteen. Being close neighbors and both being well versed in scripture, they were not long in finding out that injunction of Holy Writ, that neighbors should love each other or something of that sort. The Sheriff, too, was a man well posted in the Bible, but did not interpret the text exactly that way. Sally cried, but both the Sheriff and.Aunt Liddy were firm. They both objected strongly to the match and it looked as if it must be broken off. Even stolen meetings between John and Sally were difficult, for Aunt Liddy had sharp eyes and was a particularly determined woman, whether right or wrong; especially when wrong.
> They overlooked the fact, however, that John Kempton also was a very firm and determined person. Young Kempton caught the Sheriff one day in the saw-mill. The Sheriff was a large, powerful man, but John Kempton had youth on his side. The encounter was Homeric and quite worthy of an epic. Kempton succeeded in getting his opponent floored with his head resting on a chopping block. Standing over him with a broad-axe, he gave the sheriff due warning that if he ever again opened his mouth in opposition to his marriage with Sally he would cut his head off.
> John Kempton, being still under age, went to his father, paying him money, bought himself out of his time. In September 1794, John Kempton and Sarah Snow were married. If any of their descendants should ever wish to adopt a family coat of arms, I would take the liberty of suggesting the appropriateness of a Chopping Block and a Broad-axe. I consider it would be far more suitable than the bow and arrow which has been sometimes proposed.
> John Kempton built, about 1794, the house later occupied by Mr. George Hemeon. He was a Tanner. His tannery stood near the road and was Milton's first tannery. A later tannery was built by his son, William Allen Kempton, and stood nearer the river. It was later used as a barn by Mr. Hemeon.
> John Kempton is described by all who remember him as a tall man, and reminded some of the pictures of Uncle Sam. He was full of fun, fond of a joke, and always up to some trick.

From the same article in the Liverpool Transcript we get this information about Susannah, called Aunt Sukey, the eldest child of John and Sarah (Snow) Kempton. Susannah never married. Aunt Sukey was always considered quite an expert in religous matters and was sometimes called in to determine whether certain symptoms were a spiritual awakening or simply strivings of the devil. She was considered very learned in the interpretation of groans.

m.[int] 11 February 1816, Croydon, NH

All births shown above are listed as Croydon, probably repeating the errors of other writers. There seem to be no actual birth records available. Census figures for the year 1800 show that Joseph was living in Newport with a family of 3 males under 10 years of age. This could indicate that he may have had one other son, who probably died young. Davis shows a William A. Kempton born 1802. The gravestone in No. Newport Cemetery just has the name "Arzey" on it, along with the above dates. In the census of 1810 he is found in Croydon, NH.

Joseph Kempton left Croydon, NH in 1818 according to the tax lists. In 1839, Joseph Kempton was "of Lowell in the County of Orleans and State of Vermont aged sixty-seven years last March" when he made a deposition in the appeal of Abigail Kempton, widow of his brother Rufus, for a Revolutionary War pension. He may have died in VT but is buried beside his first wife and two of their children in North Newport, NH. The two children had died within three days of each other, probably victims of one of the many epidemics that took their toll in young victims.

The Kempton graves are along in one line. Joseph, child Polly, a skip, and then child Arze? (stone chipped so last letter is not legible). The "Z" is odd in the fact that the top and bottom lines are connected by another slanted line going in the opposite direction from the regular slant in a "Z" so that it looked like an "X" between the bottom and top lines. On the left of the Kempton graves are graves of the Morse Family; to the rear of the Kempton graves are Peabody graves; to the right are Watsons and in front the family name is McGregory. Joseph Kempton's grave is of marble. His name is arched at the top. Under this arched name is: "Died | Dec 5 1842 | AE 69."

The next grave is marked: "In memory of Polley | Daughter of Mr Joseph | and Polley Kimpton | who died Feb 16th | 1804 aged 4 years | 6 months + 13 days | Sleep here my child in death | till Jesus comes to rule the rest." This grave and the following grave are of slate. The next is marked: "In Memory of Ar?? [see above] | The Son of Joseph + | Polly Kimpton | who died Feb | 1804 aged 2 years | one month + 1 day |." There is a moss-grown inscription on the bottom of this stone which I could not read.

Joseph Kempton's father and mother, David and Elizabeth (Gifford) Kempton, joined the Society of Friends (Quakers) by request in August 1803 when Joseph was only twelve years old. He was raised as a Quaker. Joseph's wife, Susan Gifford, was also of the Quaker faith. The vital records of Dartmouth show them being married in Dartmouth on 3 November 1836. The VRs show their reference as "Church Records." My search of the records of the Dartmouth Meeting fails to confirm this. I did find that Susan G. Kempton was accepted by the Dartmouth Meeting, by certification, on 3d month 1837. This causes me to believe that they were married at the Westport Meeting on 3 November 1836. A Friends wedding had no officiating clergyman. The bride and groom made their vows to each other in front of the Meeting. Then everyone present signed the book as witnesses.

The archives of the New England Yearly Meeting Boarding School, now Moses Brown School, in Providence, RI show that Elizabeth G. Kempton was enrolled in the class of 1854.

Both daughters married Quakers. If they had married outside the church, the records would list them as being disowned. Mary H. (Kempton) Hoag was removed from the Dartmouth Meeting records on 3d month 1870. This was probably the time that the Hoag family moved to New York. A search of the Quaker records in New York would probably show them being picked up by the New York Meeting. She is buried in the Friends cemetery, New Bedford, MA.

A 19TH CENTURY ROMANCE

A LETTER FROM SALLY BEMAN TO LEMUEL KEMPTON

The following letter has been submitted to us by Mrs. Edwin Page. It was written over a century ago by Sally Beman to Lemuel Kempton, her fiance. Sally Beman came to Winterport as a bride in 1810 from Hallowell, and lived in the house now occupied by Manley McAuliffe. She lived there for two or three years, and then in the house on the site where the Stokell block now stands. Lemuel Kempton was a sea captain and, after retiring from his vocation, he purchased a home near the one now occupied by Mr. Edwin Page on what is now known as Hackett Hill. Sally Beman and Lemuel Kempton were grandparents of Edwin Page. The letter is published in its original form illustrative of the style of English used in those days in an affaire d'amour,

Pittstown
July 19, 1814

Dear Kempton;

Suspicious that you have received neither of my last two letters, I avail myself of the delightful task of conversing with you again at the aggravating distance of about sixty miles. Well, I don't mean to grumble since it is and must be so. Yesterday for the first time since my departure, I was at Hallowell. I heard from your home by way of Capt. Blany. I had all along favorable hopes that it might be in your way to call--not knowing but that you might take perhaps the stage - and then I have never once thought of depending on such a thing. Your corn is no more than half disposed of. If you see your money again, you may think yourself well off. I am sorry to hear that you did not dispose of this corn yourself. It is now selling at $1.25, and dull at that.

James and Nancy would have come on by land with him if it had not been for sickness. He has been on to Rhode Island. He says that Charles has not made one cent at fishing. Our country in sinking under oppressive weight of tyrants held in office by Jacobins. How can you hesitate one moment of being in the wrong? If there was either policy or integrity in the thing, the evil could be born with some degree of complacency. I believe that I feel just as you do when you have written to me -- that is, no matter what the paper is filled out with, I must drop this subject or I shall write nothing pleasant or amusing. I have just dismissed my little flock. One could suppose to see them in the street, they would set a person of common weakness beside themselves. Have Thirty Boys--the largest in 16 or 18 years of age. In general, they have behaved better than I had first expected they would. I supposeyou expect a few moral reflections now, don't you. Well my time is so taken up between duty with visiting, riding and walking, that I do not haue much time to think of absent friends. We have a very delightful variety of woods, hills and plains thrown together by Nature's careless hand. A short distance from the house is a very majestic piece of oak woods. For exercise or amusement, I frequently explore this forest, which is rather unfrequented by any except sheep or cows, and beautiful singing birds whose melody reaches my chamber window mornings. I often wish you could have these walks with me. I suppose you too, "when the soft hour of walking comes, steal to some distant vale, and there converse with Nature." "Now from the world sacred to sweet retirement" do you devote your more leisure moments, peacefull and undisturbed? Do you ever feel if you had wings that you could fly to the uttermost parts of the earth to the arms of such a friend? Or do you never think of such things with wild enthusiasm but calmly in your old bachelor's mood say "I am better off as I am." I can't tell you how much I want to see you, or how much I have to tell you, only tell you how my good wishes attend you. Send me good long letter, my dear friend, and be very particular to see if you can crowd as much trash together on one sheet as your scribbler. Adieu my dear sir. Believe me.

Your unchangeable

S. S. B.

The editor of the Winterport Advertiser evidently made an error when he stated that Sally "Beman" came to Winterport as a bride in 1810 as the above letter was written in 1814, nine months before she married Lemuel Kempton.

Deacon Manasseh Kempton was a carpenter and builder. He erected and occupied the comfortable residence at the southwest corner of Eighth and Elm Streets. Kempton was a very prominent and influential citizen. For the years 1796 to 1802 he served as a fireward and also was a selectman for the years 1812, '13, '15, '17, '18, and 1819.

During 1795-97 he and Eastland Babcock built the Congregational Church at the northeast corner of Purchase and William streets, the site of the present Merchants National Bank. Through a division in the church this subsequently became the Unitarian house of worship, occupied until the erection of the granite edifice of the Unitarian body on Union Street in 1838, and eventually was used as a public hall for lectures and entertainments, known as Liberty Hall building. It was burned in 1854, and a new Liberty Hall Building of brick was erected on its site, to be demolished in 1892. Kempton served the Unitarian Church as deacon for many years. The distinguished Rev. Orville Dewey, minister of the church from 1823 to 1833, in recollections of New Bedford people, published in his autobiography, pays Deacon Kempton the tribute of a keen appraiser of men, the only estimate of his personality that has come down to us from one who knew him. Dr. Dewey says, referring to the "sanguine-bilious temperament": "Manasseh Kempton had it. He was the deacon of my church. I used to think that nobody knew or at least fairly appreciated him as I did. Under that heavy brow and phlegmatic aspect and reserved bearing, there was an amount of fire and passion and thought, and sometimes in conversation an eloquence, which showed me that, with proper advantages, he would have made a great man."

Manasseh Kempton lived the later part of his life in a home which he had built, ca. 1830, at 156 Eighth Street, New Bedford. In his will, made 4 December 1848, he left to his wife, Sophia Kempton: "the use during her life, of the lot of land and dwelling house and barn theron situated in said New Bedford on Eighth Street, being the same now occupied by me." He also mentioned the following in his will: "Son Elisha W. Kempton; son Thomas D. Kempton; daughter, Deborah Watts of Rochester, New York; Grandson, John K. Briggs; Roswell H. Kempton, son Thomas D. Kempton; to each of the two sons of my Grandson Charles Kempton, Eben Soule; daughter Mary F. Hunting; and to heirs in law of my deceased son Jonathan Kempton." The will was entered for probate, 5 June 1849. Elisha Kempton was named as administrator.

Obed Kempton owned the house on the northwest corner of Purchase and Middle Streets and resided there. He had a shop in his adjoining yard. He and his wife were among the early converts of the "Christian" denomination under the labors of the well known Elder Daniel Hix and Elder Elias Smith. Meetings were held in Mr. Kempton's shop and in his house. A party of 13 was formed into a church organization which later, together with additional members, erected the church edifice now owned by the Middle Street "Christian Church." After many years Mr. Kempton's house was raised from its foundation and stores built underneath it. A few years ago it was again moved, this time in an opposite direction as a result of the widening of Purchase St. In 1786 Obed Kempton framed the separation of New Bedford from Dartmouth.*

Obed Kempton's estate was entered for probate on 4 October 1831 and amounted to $14,267. In his will he gave a 1/3 dower to his wife Sarah. He then listed his children in a manner which shows the order of their births: "[T]o heirs of Zacheus Kempton, Eldest son---; to Phebe James, wife of Samuel James, eldest daughter---+ to Ezra S. Kempton, second son---; to Hannah Delano, wife of Timothy Delano, second daughter--; to Isaac Kempton, youngest son."

i SALLY, b. ca. 1799, Plymouth, MA. d. 20 December 1812, Plymouth, MA.

Oliver Kempton was a mariner. When he died at sea, his widow Sarah declined being administrator of his estate and asked that Seth Harlow be appointed. This was done on 18 March 1822. The inventory was submitted, 8 April 1822, in the amount of $475.68.

The gravestone of Oliver and Sarah (Harlow) Kempton reads as follows: "FATHER AND MOTHER | OLIVER KEMPTON | died Sept. 30th 1803 | on the Banks of Quereau, | in his 36th y'r | SALLY | his widow | died Feb. 18th, 1855, | Aged 84 years. | There is rest in Heaven."

The gravestone of young Sally Kemptou reads as follows: "In | Memory of | SALLY KEMPTON | died Dec. 20, 1812 | in the 13, yr | of her age. | Daughter of OLIVER & SALLY KEMPTON | here sleeps dear daughter all alone | With aching hearts we leave thee | To thee our sorrows are not known | Nor can our absence grieve thee."

These two gravestones could possibly indicate that there were other children of Oliver & Sally Kempton. The parents' gravestone starts with "Father and Mother" but the only proven child of this couple died at the age of twelve.

The gravestone of young Sally contains the phrase "we leave thee." Her father was now deceased and her mother a widow. Would she have used the term "we" unless there were other children in the family? The parents' gravestone could have been ordered by Sarah (Harlow) Kempton when her husband died and space left on it for her death 52 years later. It is also possible that there was at least one other child who had the gravestone engraved.

children, surname: No known issue

Some investigators have listed the marriage of Paul Kempton to Desire Hathaway as a possible first marriage of the Paul Kempton who m. 13 October 1805, Mary Kempton.

This is not possible. In the New Bedford Vital Records he is called Paul Kempton, Jr. In the custom of that period this does not necessarily mean that his father's name was Paul. It means that there was another Kempton around who was older and had the name Paul. The only Paul of record was the son of Manasseh Kempton, b. 31 December 1776 in Dartmouth, MA [date from gravestone]. Recording of births was rare in this period of time.

Probate records, 39.491 shows an inventory filed for Paul Kempton, Mariner. 14 April 1803, Desire Kempton, Administrator made oath to the inventory. [Insolvent].

Desire Kempton, wife of Paul, d. 10 April 1812, @37, and is buried in the Acushnet Cemetery. There is no sign of a grave for Paul. It is possible that he died at sea.

[About the only possible spot that this Paul could fit in would be a son of James and Phebe [Stoddard] Kempton. There is a possible gap between Sarah, b. 11 May 1776 and Thomas, b. 22 February 1778/9. He would not have been mentioned in his father's will as both he and his wife would have been deceased.]

some to think that the first 4 children were by Phebe Kempton. This is disproved by the above marriage dates from the vital records.

In 1778, Rufus Kimpton of Uxbridge enlisted as a private in Capt. Samuel Hamant's co., Col. Nathaniel Wade's regt.; service at Rhode Island; enlistment to expire Jan. 1, 1779; roll dated Middletown; also Capt. Samuel Lamb's co., Col Nathaniel Wades's regt.; enlisted July 1, 1778; service to Jan. 1, 1779, 6 mos. 2 days, at Rhode Island; also, same co. and regt. muster rolls dated Warwick, Nov, 7, 1778, East Greenwich, Sept. 17, Sept. 22, Nov. 13, and Dec. 30 1778. [Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the War of the Revolution, p. 231. Spelled Kimton.]

One of the papers in the military file of Rufus is under the name of Rufus Kempton and reads as follows: Kempton, Rufus, his name appears in a list of applicants for invalid pension returned by the District Court for the District of New Hampshire submitted to the House of Representatives by the Secretary of War on February 28, 1795 and printed in the American State Papers, Class 9, page 160

"Rank: Private Regt: Col. Nichols'; Stevens' Company
Disability: A weakness in his right shoulder, occasioned by a cold caught when on guard.
When and where disabled: West Point
Residence: Croydon
His disability does not proceed from any known wound, therefore not entitled to a pension."

Abigail (Breck) Kimpton filed for a widow's pension in 1839. Following is her statement:

State of Vermont at a Special Court holden at Orleans County, Vt., Derby within and for said County on this 7th day of March A.D. 1839 personally appeared before said Court Abigail Kimpton a resident of Stanstead in the Province of Lower Canada aged seventy-seven years who doth on her oath make the following declaration in Order to obtain the benefit of the provision made by the act of Congress passed July 1838 entitled an act granting half pay and pensions to certain widows.- - -

That She is the Widow of Rufus Kimpton who was a private in the War of the Revolution (but she cannot state the years or places where he served) he was waiter to Gen. Arnold at the time that Arnold was at West Point and went to the British and as she has understood served two or three years previous to that time but she cannot state the names of his officers . . . She further declares that she was married to the said Rufus Kimpton in the Month of July 1784 at the house of Elijah Breck (her father) in Shurburn in Worcester County in the state os Massachusetts in the month of July 1784 by the Rev. . . . Brown Parish Minister (at the time of said shurburn) that her said husband the aforesaid Rufus Kimpton died (at Montreal in Canada) on the 17th day of February 1822. That she was not married to him prior to his leaving the service but the marriage took place previos to the first day of Jan. 1784 at the time above stated. She further declares that previous to marriage her name was Abigail Breck and that she belonged to said Shurburn and that her husband the said Rufus Kimpton belonged to Uxbridge in the State of Massachusetts from which place (as she supposes) he joined the Army. That she further declares that after she and the said Rufus Kimpton were united in marriage they removed to Croydon, Newhampshire where they lived eighteen years. They then removed to Stanstead before written where they continued until the death of her said husband and where she has continued to reside to the present time, excepting that previous to her said husbands death they lived with a Son at Montreal about three years before her said husbands death, and where she continued to reside about three years after his death when she returned to Stanstead where she has since continued and has ever remained a widow since the death of her said husband. She further declares that at the death of her said husband he was in the Sixtieth year of his age." Sworn to and subscribed on the day and year above written,

One other statement in the file of Rufus Kimpton is a statement by his brother, Joseph. Part of this statement is as follows:

I Joseph Kimton of Lowell in County of Orleans and State of Vermont age sixty seven years las March depose and say that in the early part of the War of the Revolution My Father with his family resided in Uxbridge in the State of Massachusetts that I well remember that My Brother Rufus Kimton enlisted for six months in a Company commanded by Capt. Seagraves (who also belonged to said Uxbridge) and went to Rhode Island it being in the year 1776, and well remember my said brother was in the battle and we could hear from where we lived the roar of the cannon - - -

I well remember that in the year 1779 my Father with his Family removed to Croydon in the State of Newhampshire and I know that the following year which was in the year 1780 my said brother again entered the service after our removal to Croydon and went to West Point it being the year that Arnold went to the British and my said Brother (as I have been informed) was waiter to Arnold at the time of his fleeing to the British - the names of the officers under whom he served at times I cannot state nor the exact period of service but I well remember that Amos Dwinnel & Ezeckel Roakes went with my said Brother at that time - I am certain that Dwinnel was with him & I am confident that Roakes was -- I am confident that Jonathan Wakefield went with my Brother to Rhode Island - - In the year 1781 my said Brother again entered the service and went to Sheenesborough (now Whitehall) and as I believe service six months - - - I further state that my said Brother Married Abigail Breck of Sherborne Mass and that my said Brother died about seventeen years ago and that his widow now resides in Stanstead lower Canada and now is his widow.

The census of 1850 and 1860 shows Lafayette living in the Samuel Kempton household. This could be a ward but is more likely to be the son of their daughter. The fact that they had a daughter is mentioned in the History of Swan's Island.

There is no mention of Samuel Kempton after the 1860 census but Lydia is found in Winterport, ME. She is in the poor farm and cannot read or write. In the census of 1880 she is living with a family named Downes, in Winterport. "Lydia Kempton, 83, widow, boarder, born MA. [1850 census showed born ME] maimed, crippled, bed-ridden, or otherwise disabled ."

Samuel Kempton was a farmer in Richmond, NH. He was born, lived and died at the farm of his father. He died at the age of 86 years.

The New Hampshire State Records list all of the above children as being born in Winchester, NH. The History of Richmond claims them as being born in Richmond. The two towns are adjoining.

Samuel Kempton's will is dated 12 April 1865. Each living child was left the sum of $5.00. The balance of his estate went to the youngest, Simeon. All children were listed with the exception of Emory and Lydia. Asa was mentioned as "Insane Pauper" supported by the town.

Seth Kempton was one of the signers of the petition to the General Court by the settlers of Township #2, adjoining the Westerly line of Hampden in the first range, North of the Waldo Patent, in the County of Hancock, Maine. This petition was signed in 1798. He was representative for the town of Hampden in 1800, 1808, 1809, 1810, 1811. Seth Kempton was also one of the petitioners for a Masonic Lodge in Orrington. By trade he was a hatter.

About 1830, Seth Kempton along with the younger members of his family left ME, probably by ox cart, and migrated to Cutler's Corners, MI. This is now the town of North Adams, MI.

Capt. Simeon Kempton received his commission in the 2nd Division of the Vermont State Militia from Governor Isaac Tickener, April 1798. At that time he was a farmer and was in the lumber business. In the year 1817 he was also licensed to keep an inn at Manchester, VT. The Kempton family moved to Ticonderoga, NY about 1820 and built a saw mill. Here he was in the lumber business with his sons Hiram and Truman. After his sons went their respective ways, Simeon continued in the lumber business. He built a large home on an 80-acre farm on the shore of Lake Champlain. The house faces to the east and the lake. The barns are to the rear of the house, toward the Adirondack Mountains. A photograph of the Simeon Kempton residence in Ticonderoga, New York may be found in Generation 8, under the listing for Hiram Kempton. The residence passed to Hiram, and he and Lovina lived there for many years. The place remained in the Kempton family for many years and is now used as a summer residence.

It is said that Simeon was a powerfully built man, over six feet tall, and could hold any man helpless in his hands.

No death record has been found for Phebe (Burlingame) Kempton. No record has been found for Stephen having children by Phebe. They just seem to disappear. A Stephen Kempton is found in the census of 1810 in Rutland, VT: 1 male, 26 - 45; 2 females, - under 10; 1 female, 16 - 26. The census of 1820, Cato, NY. shows a Stephen Kempton in the 45 and over age group; his wife was in the 26 - 45 age bracket; 3 daughters in the under 10 group; 2 girls in the 10 - 16 group and 1 male under 10.

There does not seem to be any other Stephen Kempton in this area that would fit this time slot. Land records in the town of Cato, NY. give us the first name of Stephen Kempton's second wife as Syntha-Synta. Death certificate for John W. Kempton gives parents as Stephen Kempton & Syntha Watterman.

The first seven children of Stephen and Polly (Benson) Kempton are found in the Sutton, MA VRs. He then drops from sight in Sutton and is found in the census of 1830 in Tolland, CT with a family of eight. At the time of his father's death in 1841 he was listed in the probate records "of Ludlow, in the county of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut." This is probably an error on the part of the probate court. According to the Geographic Dictionary of Connecticut, Gannett, there was no Ludlow, CT. There are towns of Ludlow in ME, MA and VT.

Stephen appointed Aaron Burden of Mendon, MA. as his attorney in the settlement of his father's estate.

In 1805, Thomas and John Kempton were listed as town surveyors. Thomas was also listed as a surveyor of lumber and cordwood along with nine other men. He was also listed as a collector of rates along with three other men.

Thomas Kempton was noted for his work in the temperance movement. His occupation was lumberman and merchant. In the summer of 1836, he, along with his sons, Samuel D. and Simeon G., built the Brigt. Lady Campbell. She sailed on her first voyage on 22 December 1836. The same company built the Brigt. Milton in 1838.

At the age of 85 years, Thomas Kempton was thrown from his carriage and died a few days later from the results of the fall. His widow Elizabeth died at the age of 90 years. They are both buried in Milton, Nova Scotia.

viii DELLA, b. 5 March 1858, No. Pomfret, NH. m. 14 January 1891, ORREN W. BROWN, Newport, NH.

Uriah and Huldah (Chamberlain) Kimpton lived in Pomfret, VT when they were first married. In 1820 they were living in Jericho, VT with Ezra Chamberlain who would have been Uriah's Uncle. Uriah and Huldah had 1 son and 1 daughter at this time. The index for the 1840 and 1841 census for VT does not show Uriah in VT. So far, no record has been found of his selling the Hartford farm. He was in Pomfret for the census of 1850. It is possible that Alfred Kimpton's farm in West Hartford was the original farm of Gideon and Uriah Kimpton.

Uriah Kempton died at the age of 82 years, 11 months and 19 days. He was listed on his death certificate as a laborer.

\+ iii WILLIAM REED, b. 19 August 1811, New Bedford. MA. m. 20 October 1831, ELIZA MAPES, Coxsackie, NY. d. 15 August 1890, Piermont, NY.

William Kempton was the illegitimate son of Daniel Kempton and Keziah Lincoln. The bans were published but the marriage never took place. Keziah Lincoln named her son William Kempton. [Rochester VRs (now Wareham) 1:31]

William Kempton was of New Bedford, MA at the time of his marriage. Priscilla Dillingham was the daughter of Captain Benjamin Dillingham, the commanding officer of William's father, Daniel, at Dartmouth, MA. during the 7 month 20 day period starting 15 April 1776.

In 1800 Benjamin Lincoln of New Bedford bought land in New Bedford and Fairhaven, some of it from Ephraim-4 Kempton, who had received it from Manasseh-3 Kempton, and some of it from other individuals. In 1813, Benjamin Lincoln, of New Bedford, merchant, and his wife Mary Lincoln sold parts of this land to William Kempton of New Bedford for the amount of $5,350.00.

On 5 August 1819, William Kempton, yeoman, of Coxsackie, in Green County, NY sold parts of this land, with a dwelling house and barn on it, back to Benjamin Lincoln for the amount of $3,739.00. Is this confirmation of relationship or a coincidence?

The Will of Benjamin Dillingham of New Bedford, MA, written 25 June 1821, filed for probate, 5 July 1825 (wife, Freelove Dillingham): "Item: Having heretofore given to my daughter Priscilla Kempton all that part of my estate which she can be afforded to her in justice to my other children, it is my will that she shall not receive any more." Zachariah "Zacheus" Kempton came to Harbor Island from Hampden, ME in 1821 and stayed about four years. He, with one of his brothers, built a house and store on Harbor Island and did considerable trading. They bought and cured fish. They also fitted out vessels. He soon brought his family to the island. "[H]is wife was Mary Evens, and they were the parents of five children. Mr. Kempton was a carpenter. He learned his trade from his father, who was a ship builder and one of the early pioneers of Frankfort." [History of Harbor Isle, Maine]

The will of Nancy (Newton) Kempton was filed for probate 31 August 1885. Her son, Austin G. Kempton, was administrator. It supplied support for her husband, Abram Kempton, during his lifetime. After his death, the estate was to be equally divided as follows: William B. Kempton of Millbury; John S. Kempton; Emma J. wife of Charles A. Hale; Austin G. Kempton and granddaughter Ida W. Jackson of Ashland, MA.

The probate of this will was in the courts until 24 December 1909, when a suit was filed by May V. Truscott, dau of John S. Kempton and five other brothers and a sister. They had never received their share of the estate.

Charles and Emma Jane (Kempton) Hale had one child: Delia Madge Hale, b. 8 June 1870, Worcester, MA. She was a teacher in the Worcester school system.

+ ii EZRA URIAH, b. 10 March 1848, Hartford, VT. m. ca. 1869, JANE "JENNIE" DARBY, Woodstock, VT. d. ca. 1923, Woodstock, VT.

Alfred E. Kimpton d. at the age of 84yr, 11mo, 8d. of senile decay. He was listed as a widowed farmer.

Sarah A.(Simonds) Kimpton d. at the age of 82yr, 9mo, 15d. of paralysis.

There seems to be some confusion on the birth date of the first son, Alpheus. His death record shows him as being born on 13 November 1841, which would be three months before the marriage of his parents. At the time of his first marriage he was listed as age 22. This would place his birth in 1843. At the time of his second marriage he was listed as age 51. This would mean he was born in 1848, the same year his brother was born.

To confuse things a bit more, the census of Vermont in 1850 shows the following:

Alfred Kimpton @42 Farmer, born VT.
Sarah Kimpton @50, b. VT.
Alpheus Kimpton @16, b. VT.
Ezra Kimpton, @11, b. VT.

If we take these ages, we have Alfred, b. 1808; Sarah, b. 1800, Alpheus, b. 1834, and Ezra, b. 1839. These figures seem more logical for the census of 1860 and would place Alpheus, b. 1844, 2 years after marriage date for parents.

Allen Gideon Kempton entered the Civil War (War of the Rebellion) from Richmond, VT, 24 August 1861 and was discharged in Virginia because of disability, 15 January 1863. The Kimpton family moved to Beatrice, Gage Co., NE about 1878 in hopes that the change would improve his health. He was partially handicapped for the rest of his life.

Augusta (Crane) Rodgers died at the home of her son Jason, who was living in Florence, CO in 1922. Her first husband was William B. Rodgers, who died in the War of the Rebellion, 1 March 1864. Augusta had the middle name of Hanna.

Augusta Kimpton applied for an increase in pension, 13 October 1916, from San Diego, CA. This might indicate that either Herman or Ross were living there at that time.

After the death of Ansel Jenny Kempton, his widow Mary Holly (Fisher) Kempton married Silas White, who was b. 1 April 1819 at Whitinsville, OH. He died 21 May 1876. Two children were born by this marriage.

Ansel Jenney Kempton is buried in the Kempton Cemetery in Columbus. Silas White was custodian of the cemetery until 1857 as guardian for Mary J. and Ansel Kempton. The lands around the cemetery have been sold and there is no record as to present ownership of the cemetery which is unkempt and overgrown with weeds and grass. This is called the Kempton Cemetery. How it got this name is a mystery as the oldest gravestone is dated 1811. It was officially founded as a family graveyard in 1819, but the first Kempton buried there was Ansel Jenny Kempton in 1848.

Augustus Kempton was junior partner of the firm of E. Kempton & Co., General Merchants. The senior partner was his brother Edward.

The following articles are from the Liverpool Transcript of 3 June 1858: New Vessels: Launched from the shipyard of Freeman Tupper, Esq., near Milton, on the 29th ult, a fine new brigantine called the INDUSTRY, of 102 tons measurement. She was built by Mr. John Randall for Messrs Edward and Augustus Kempton, and is intended for the the fishery trade. [This brigantine was sold to Augustus Knaut, 19 January 1860.]

January 5, 1860, NOTICE: "As the undersigned, the firm of Edward Kempton & Co., intend to make a change in their business by discontinuing their joint trade in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c, all persons having any legal demands against said firm, are requested to render their accounts and all persons indebted to the said firm are requested to make immediate payment to Edward Kempton, who is authorized to settle their accounts. Edward Kempton, Augustus Kempton, Milton Jan. 2d."

The firm was dissolved by mutual consent on 15 March 1860.

Augustus Kempton died in Milton on 17 April 1887 of consumption. He left his wife and three sons.

After the death of her husband, Isabella Ann (Lloyd) Kempton m.(2) 3 August 1890, Augustus Murray, who was b. at Milton, 14 February 1833.

Benjamin Kempton evidently moved from ME to Sunbury, OH prior to 1840 to join his father John Kempton. Some sources say that the move was made in 1839. Two of his brothers stayed in Sunbury. Benjamin moved to Nauvoo, IL in 1840. Later, his father, stepmother and some of his brothers and sisters came in 1843. Mormon Church records list Benjamin on a mission to Wheeling, VA and Mt. Vernon, OH in 1843. He apparently returned to Nauvoo, IL in 1844, where he died.

After Benjamin died in 1844 at Nauvoo, his widow, Mary (Bowley) Kempton remarried. There is recorded a marriage of John Armstrong to Mary Kempton by minister, James H. Rollins, on 29 May 1845 in Hancock Co., remarried. Mary returned to OH with her husband and child(ren). It is not know if there were more children. Almon Kempton is found on page 278A in the 1850 census of Peoria Co., Illinois living with the John Bowley Family. He married in OH but was back in McLean County, Chenoa Twp. IL. in the 1880 census. Here he evidently died in 1882.

children, surname: No known issue

Although Theophilus & Betsey (Kempton) Eaton had no children, their house seemed to be full at census time. There were two small children in the census of 1840. In 1850 they had living with them on Deer Isle, ME: Elita Kempton, 18; Stephen Kempton, 16, sailor; Mahitable Kempton, 12; Jonathan Eaton, 68, Farmer; James Baxter, 16, sailor, [Eliza, Stephen and Mahitable would be the children of Stephen and Mehitable (Rooks) Kempton 7,John 6,5,Samuel 4,Ephraim 3,2,1.] The census of 1860 shows that they had moved to Searsport and had Lucretia Gilbert, 15, and Jonathan Eaton, 78, in their household.

Theophilus Eaton is buried beside Betsey in the Searsport Village Graveyard. His stone reads "died at sea;" however, the Searsport Sea Captains Book says he died, at Rio de Janeiro, on the Bark Robert Porter on passage from Baltimore to Sitka, Alaska. He must have done very well as a Captain as, in 1870, his widow Betsey had a personal estate valued at $10,000.

In the census of 1880 we find Betsey (Kempton) Eaton, 69, listed as a boarder with the widow of Charles Kempton Sawyer [son of Ebenezer and Elsie (Kempton) Sawyer].

vii SARAH F., b. ca. 1851, MA.

Caleb Strong Kempton is shown in the census of 1850 as living in Smithfield, RI. In the census of 1865 his occupation is shown as a cotton operator.

The Pawtucket, RI census of 1890 lists Caleb A. Kempton as a flagman and Caleb H. as a crossing tender. Miss Lucy Kempton was boarding at 107 Park Ave. with Caleb A. & Caleb H. in 1898. Caleb H. was listed as a hostler. By 1890, Caleb H. had moved to Attleboro, MA. Caleb H. was probably the son of Caleb A. Kempton.

The gravestone of Calvin Kempton gives his death date as 23 August 1858, however his death certificate shows that he died on 18 April 1858, @ 67 of heart disease. His 1st wife, Ruth Baxter (Clark) Kempton, died @38 of stomach cancer.

Colonel Kempton derived his title from his position in the NH Militia. By occupation he was a school teacher and farmer.

* The will of Rachella Ruth Kempton was written 20 November 1878 and filed for probate on 11 July 1888. Her sister, Villa L. Packard was named executrix. This will disposed of some oil paintings to her sister, Flora B. Abbott and to M. Elizabeth Howe. When the probate was filed by Villa L. Packard, she named as heirs-in-law and next of kin, the following: Willard C. Kempton, brother, F.B.Waterman, [2nd marriage of her sister, Flora] and Villa L. Packard. [There may be another name or so in this list but the writing is so faded that it is almost impossible to make it out.]

David Batchelder Kempton attended the schools of New Bedford, MA until he reached the age of twelve. At this time, having become an orphan, he went to live with his uncle, Ephraim Kempton. Here he learned the house carpenter trade. He worked with his uncle until he reached his majority, after which he worked at his trade for twelve years, ten years of this time doing business on his own account. He then became an agent or managing owner of whaling vessels, one of them being the brig "Samuel and Thomas." He was in this business for over 25 years until 1827. That year he did a lot of traveling, visiting the countries of the Old World. He covered Europe and went as far east as Constantinople. He also covered the Holy Land.

He also had been connected with the New Bedford Flour Mill, as director and president, until the destruction of the mill by fire, 13 September 1870. He also served as president of the Pope's Island Manufacturing Corporation, a director of the Citizens' National Bank, a director of the New Bedford Gas and Edison Light Company, and was active in other business ventures.

He served his city in various positons for many years. He was a member of the city council in 1864-5-6. In 1866, at the beginning of the construction of the New Bedford waterworks, he was elected to the water board and served on it until his death. He also was warden of Ward Five, New Bedford, in 1875-6-7. In 1888 and 1890 he represented the city in the legislature.

David Brown Kempton, as a young man, was a sailor and made several voyages from NY to the West Indies. Later he manufactured hats in Bangor, ME. In 1837, David and his family migrated through OH to Cutler's Corners, MI, which is now North Adams, MI. Here he joined his mother and some of the rest of his family who had migrated here around 1830. His father had died the year before David arrived.

David's wife, Ann (Read) Kempton, died in 1841 as a result of child birth, three years after their arrival in MI. David was left with seven children to care for, until his marriage 4 years later to Charlotte (Way) Godfrey, the widow of a friend, with two children of her own. In time they became the parents of five more children.

David S. Kempton, his brother John Kempton, John Harlow, Charles Cushing and Zoeth Freeman were the first settlers of Harmony, Queens County, Nova Scotia, in 1821. At that time the road from Liverpool was cut out as far as Caledonia. They had to cut a path to their intended farms. First building a camp, they then cut logs and rolled them into Harmony Lake, having no horses to move the logs. Then a saw mill was built. Each located their own piece of land, cleared it, built his house and then married. They brought their brides out on horse back. All of them raised large families and left fine farms behind them.

David Snow Kempton, Jr., youngest son of David Snow and Rebecca (Harlow) Kempton, who was living with his sister Matilda Akins, took his own life while still a minor and unmarried. On a Saturday afternoon he went to the nearby store and purchased a new rope. He measured it out and stated that he thought it would be long enough for the purpose for which he wanted it. The next morning one of the household went out to draw a pail of water and found David hanging from an apple limb. Apparently he had stood on a chair, put the rope around his neck and then jumped off.

Ebenezer Watts had 7 children by his first marriage to Nancy Delano. No issue by this second marriage.

Daughter, Deborah Watts, of Rochester, NY, was mentioned in the will of her father, Manasseh Kempton. The will was written 4 December 1848 and probated 5 June 1849, Bristol County, MA. In the census of 1850, Thomas C. Kempton, clerk, age 24, b. MA was reported as living with Ebenezer and Deborah (Kempton) Watts. This was probably Thomas Delano Kempton, youngest brother of Mrs. Watts [son of Manasseh and Susan (Delano) Kempton] also mentioned in the will of Manasseh Kempton. His wife Lucy Ann (Young) Kempton appeared to be living with Capt. John and Sophia F. (Kempton) Briggs, along with her son, Roswell N. Kempton, age 3 years. The son died in December of this same year.

iv EDWARD AUGUSTUS, b. 5 August 1857, Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia. d. 3 January 1858, Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia.

Edward Kempton was appointed a deacon of the Milton Baptist Church in 1852. By occupation he was senior member of the firm of E. Kempton & Co., General Merchants. The junior partner was his brother Augustus.

The following articles are from the Liverpool Transcript of 3 June 1858: New Vessels: Launched from the ship yard of Freeman Tupper, Esq., near Milton, on the 29th ult, a fine new brigantine called the INDUSTRY, of 102 tons measurement. She was built by Mr. John Randall for Messrs Edward and Augustus Kempton, and is intended for the the fishery trade. [this brigantine was sold to Augustus Knaut, 19 January 1860].

January 5, 1860, NOTICE: "As the undersigned, the firm of Edward Kempton & Co., intend to make a change in their business by discontinuing their joint trade in dry goods, groceries, &c, all persons having any legal demands against said firm, are requested to render their accounts and all persons indebted to the said firm are requested to make immediate payment to Edward Kempton, who is authorized to settle their accounts. Edward Kempton, Augustus Kempton, Milton Jan. 2d."

The firm was dissolved by mutual consent on 15 March 1860.

Edward Kempton was appointed postmaster for the town of Milton, Nova Scotia in 1863. He served in this capacity until his death in 1891. Both he and his wife are buried in the Milton, Queens County Cemetery.

Elisha Kempton is called "Deacon" on his gravestone. During his life he seemed to move around a great deal . He was in Croydon until 1824, when he moved to Newport, NH and purchased a clothing mill from Nathan Hurd. This was located above the Sugar River Mills. He was again taxed as a resident of Croydon from 1828 until 1830. In 1831 he was in Claremont, NH where his second child was born. He was again taxed as a resident of Croydon from 1834 until 1841. He then returned to Newport and resided there until 1848 when he removed to Acworth, NH. At some later date he moved to Marlow, NH where he died. After his death, his body was returned to Croydon to be buried in the family lot.

George Parker Christopher was a farmer at Brookfield.

Andrew Webster Christopher kept a store at South Brookfield.

Charles Albert Christopher had a farm at Moose Pt., Queens County, Nova Scotia. He died when a young man, leaving his wife with four small children whom she raised alone, several miles from any neighbors. Andrew and his brother Charles married sisters, Margaret Jane and Mary Frazer.

Margaret and Mary spent the last years of their lives with Andrew's daughter Josephine and her husband J. Melbourne Waterman.

Harriet was a short woman, under 5 ft. tall. She was engaged to marry a Frazer when young. Due to an accident she was badly burned leaving her with bad scars on her face, so he called off the wedding.

The marriage record of Ezra Kempton to Hattie Smith, 25 November 1866 in Jericho, VT gives his father as Homer and his age as 37, born in Grantham, NH. His death record, in Tunbridge, VT, gives date for his death as 9 September 1871, @42, born in Hartford, VT and his father being Ariel. The marriage statistics are probably correct, as this information would be given by Ezra Kempton. The information on the death record would have come from someone else who might not have had the full information. However, Forrest Kempton gave the above material to Josephine Sedgwick, ca. 1905

Ezra Kempton is buried beside his twin brother, Uriah Kempton, 1828-1842.

Hiram Kimpton came from Manchester, VT to Ticonderoga, NY, along with his father, in 1820. He cleared his own farm of 680 acres and eventually owned a thousand acres with a large farm house he had built. Here he lived until his death.

* His son Hiram Hollister Kimpton attended Yale College, graduating in 1862, and then went on to attend the Yale Law School, graduating in 1864. He resided in New York City where he became a banker. His wife, Josephine, was born Josephine Lee Woolworth, 25 February 1839, dau. of Dr. Isaac Woolworth and Charlotte R. Bush. Josephine married (1) 18 June 1858, Lester J. Dean of Hartford, CT, who died 9 November 1860. The Deans had one child, Nellie, b. 27 December 1859, d. 1860.

After his death, she m.(3) 1892, Frederick William Sedgwick of Pharma, MI. She became very interested in the genealogy of the Kempton family and accumulated a vast store of information on the Kempton-Kimpton family. After her death, her papers were donated to the New England Historical and Genealogical Society in Boston, MA. Much of the work in this Kempton-Kimpton genealogy is based on her findings, checked for accuracy, and added to this author's research.

Whenever "Sedgwick papers, NEHGS" is given as reference, some of her work was included.

HIRAM KIMPTON

The Simeon Kempton residence on the following page was the "[h]ome of Hiram and Lovina Kempton, . . . where they lived many years. Their large farm of over five hundred acres overlooked Lake Champlain. At the time of our visit in 1940, the windows still contained many panes of the old blue glass. Their portraits, which were made on the occasion of a visit to their son in New York City, hung in the old home. In an interview with Auntie Crammond, age 79 years, living just east of the old home, she distinctly remembered seeing the portraits in the Kimpton home." [Rockwell M. Kempton, M.D. 9].

Jacob Kempton moved from Milton to Harmony about the time he married Patience Freeman. He stayed there for only a short time and then the Kemptons moved to the town of Maitland, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, just over the line from Queens County. He built his house in the woods, cleared land and made himself a fine farm. Here he brought up his family. The farm was on the county line - part in Queens County and part in Annapolis County. He remained there until his death at the age of 84. Jacob and Patience (Freeman) Kempton are buried in the cemetery in Kempt, Queens County, Nova Scotia. Mr. Kempton was Deacon of the Baptist Church.

Much of the above information was received by T.B.Smith in a letter from Mrs. David Baxter (nee Eunice F. Kempton) dated 10 July 1902. The covering letter and the note about her father building his house in the woods was in her own handwriting, the rest in another handwriting, very legible. [TBS]

Jacob Curtis Kempton was lumberman and carpenter. He was commonly called "Curtis." He attended the Milton Baptist Church and owned pew #15 on the ground floor. It was around the time of his death that the private ownership of pews was waning. After his death, his pew was deeded to the church in May of 1897 by his widow Sarah Kempton.

In 1821, John Kempton, David S. Kempton, John Harlow, Charles Cushing, and Zoeth Freeman became the first settlers of Harmony, Queens County, Nova Scotia. At that time the road from Liverpool had been cut out as far as Caledonia. From there they had to cut a path to their intended farms. The first job was to build a camp and cut logs. These logs had to be rolled into Harmony Lake as they had no teams of horses with them. Then a sawmill had to be built to saw the lumber for their houses. Each of them located a lot and built a small house and cleared land around it. After this was done they went out and married. Their wives came back with them on horseback. They all raised large families and left fine farms behind them.

Possibly other children, names and dates not known.

Jonas C. Kempton removed to Nashua, NH and became a confectioner. A report of industry in Nashua, NH in 1860 shows him with 17 males and 3 females engaged in his business which used 360,000 pounds of sugar. The value of the confections produced that year was $60,000,000. He amassed a fortune through the years and was twice honored by his adopted city with a seat in the legislature. He died at the age of 69 yrs., 11 mo. & 15 da. of cerebritis.

Elvira J.(Webster) Kempton died at the age of 71y and 5 days at her home at 98 Walnut St., Nashua, NH. Cause of death was listed as bronchitis. Her son Charles was living at the same address. Her father was born in Kingston, NH. and was a cooper by trade. Her mother was born in Haverhill, MA.

Jonas Kempton is shown in the census of 1840 in Croydon, NH. The 1843 Nashua Directory picks him up as a travelling agent for P.B. Putney and living on Front St. In 1845 he was listed as a confectioner and living in a house he owned on Lowell St. This shows that Jonas C. Kempton left Croydon, NH. after 1840 and moved to Nashua before 1843. He was shown in the directory of 1864 as a confectioner living at 112 Pearl St. with his son Charles H. Kempton, also a confectioner, living with him.

Jonathan Kempton built his farm at the top of the hill, overlooking the lake, near Caledonia Corner, Queens County, Nova Scotia. Here he raised his family. He had turned the farm over to his son Thomas and probably lived with him until Thomas died in 1877. He then moved to Bear River, Digby County, Nova Scotia and was living there, possibly with his dau. Angelina Harris, at the time of his death. His body was brought back to Caledonia and buried at the side of his wife Susan Jane (Christopher) Kempton. His son Thomas is buried in the same plot.

Josiah and Jerusha (Nay) Kempton traveled from VT to Chasm Falls, NY by ox team, along with his brother Samuel and his wife Herrit. This took them four days, arriving in the evening of 2 July 1825. The women had to wade a river to get to the farm site that had been selected, on the river road in South Malone, NY. After a few days rest, Josiah and Jerusha left Samuel and Herrit and travelled on to Fort Jackson, NY where they built a new house and raised their family.

Josiah also built and operated a blacksmith shop. He was overseer of highways in St. Lawrence Cty., NY for the years 1854, 1855 and 1857.

Josiah's wife Jerusha and Samuel's wife Herrit were sisters.

After the death of Manasseh Kempton, his widow Aurilla (Hart) Kempton was living at 3209 Pasadena Ave., Los Angeles, CA. Her mother was living with her.

The will of Manasseh Kempton bequeathed to the following: Widow, Aurilla Kempton; Elizabeth Reticence Kempton, reputed daughter of deceased, a minor; Mary Kempton of New Bedford, sister of deceased. This settlement was contested by Elizabeth Kempton's attorney on the allegation that Manasseh Kempton was unduly influenced to believe she was his child. She was daughter of former wife Louisa E. Kempton, b. 9 months after marriage. "By what other additional name the said child may be known or called. The sum of $100.00."

After the death of Martin Benson Kempton, his widow Olive m. 13 March 1843, Roswell Charter, Coventry, CT. This is proved by some of the following land and probate records. Roswell Charter died 9 January 1863, bur. Ellington, CT.

10 October 1842: "Olive Kempton guardian to Huldah Kempton, minor aged about 14 years; Phebe H. Kempton, a minor aged about 11 years; Susan H. Kempton, a minor aged about 9 years; Martin Kempton, a minor aged about 5 years; Julia Ann, a minor of about 3 years; and Sally Kempton, a minor aged about five years." [The last two children are mixed due to the printed form not having enough room. The proper order was followed in 1846 when Francis Porter was named guardian of the above children.]

1 June 1844, Andover. "We the subscriber agree that the several sums due on the aforesaid bills to Huldah Phebe Susan Elizabeth Martin Sally Julia Ann Kempton are all that is due to us from said minors up to June 1st 1844. Signed. Roswell Charter - Olive Charter"

This statement was preceded with itemized bills for each of the children giving the amount due - subtracted from this amount were credits marked "By rents of land up to June 1st 1844." Added to this balance was a probate or court fee for each child, e.g.

1843 Elizabeth Kempton Dr.

	To Olive Charter Guardian
To board of 22 Weeks	to " "	$ 5.50
To Clothing up to June 1st 1844		1.50
		7.00
By rents of land up to June 1st 1844		3.50
Balance		3.50
Court Fee		.50
		4.00

This procedure was repeated for each of the children and proves that Olive (Hoxie) Kempton was the Olive Kempton who married Roswell Charter in the VRs of Coventry. [Papers from the Probate File of Martin B. Kempton, CT State Library.]

6 January 1846, Francis Porter appointed guardian of the above children. Signed by Francis Porter and Joseph Kempton. [ibid.]

20 July 1861, Rufus Norcross and Elisa E., his wife, both of Uxbridge, MA. 75 acres with buildings to Olive Charter of Coventry, CT - quit claim their interest in all of the real estate formerly of Martin B. Kempton, deceased, late of Coventry. [V.23, p264, Coventry land records, CT State Library]

8 July 1862 Will of Martin B. Kempton of Blackstone, MA: "to my sister Elizabeth Norcross, wife of Rufus A. Norcross now residing in North Coventry in the State of Connecticut. Four Acres and thirty rods more or less of land together with all my right title and interest in and unto. the Homestead now occupied by my Mother Olive Kempton; which said land Homestead are situated in said North Coventry, and in case of the death of said Elizabeth Norcross without Heirs, then and in such case it is my Will that the above bequests be given to my Sister Julia Ann Whitman, wife of Albert Whitman now residing in Tolland in the State of Connecticut."

19 March 1873, Susan H. Lewis of New Bedford, MA to Eliza E. Norcross of Coventry, quit-claimed her interest in all the buildings and the land of the late Martin B. Kempton, deceased, and now occupied by Olive Charter. [V27 p219 Coventry Land Rec.]

27 December 1873, Olive Charter of Coventry to Eliza E. Norcros of Coventry - 4 acres & widow's dower rights. [ibid V28 p146.]

18 January 1874, R. A. Norcross and Eliza E. Norcross of Coventry to Susan H. Lewis of New Bedford - the farm with rights of widow's dower. [ibid v17 p219.]

31 December 1874, R. A. Norcross and E. E. Norcross of Coventry to Susan H. Lewis of Tolland - the farm. [ibid. v27 p295.]

The probate record of Luther M. Kempton, who died intestate, lists his heir as "Son, Clarence Kempton, Residence Unknown. Took wife and left about 10 years ago." Eliza Norcross was administratrix. [Probate files, CT. State Library.]

Huldah M. (Kempton) Danes had a son William Danes, who was adopted by his uncle Joseph Kempton and took the name of Kempton and lived at Colchester, CT. [Sedgwick papers, NEHGS.] Colchester Grave Records show a William Martin Kempton 1847 - 1933.

There seems to be quite a bit of confusion with the name of Mellen G. Kempton. He is listed in the Sutton, MA birth records as Millings G. Kempton. In the marriage record of 1st marriage he is also listed as Millings G. Kempton, of Smithfield, RI. [Barbour Collection.] When his son Edwin died in Tolland, CT, his father was listed as Mellin G. Kempton. [NEHGS, 1918, p74.] In his first marriage he was called George Mellon Kempton. This marriage to Eliza Palmer only lasted a year because of her death. [Sedgwick papers, NEHGS.] He was listed as a partner in a business in Tolland, CT, 9 April 1832, as Millen G. Kempton. [Tolland land records 16/75.]

In a Psalm book recently shown to me, recorded in handwriting inside the front cover is:

MELLEN GARNER KEMPTON
Age 86 Nov 1st. 91 [1891]
Bought in 1887.
d. 3 Feb. 1893.

[In possession of Vera (Kempton) Hamilton. It is strange to say that this Psalm book did not come to her through her Kempton side of the family.]

Mellen G. Kempton lived in Tolland, CT. He removed from there to Ware Village, MA for a short time and then to Waukegan, IL where he spent the rest of his life. He is buried beside his second wife Sarah Tillinghast at Waukegan Lake, IL.

Richard Kempton and his cousin Thomas were the founders of the village of Kempt, Queens County, Nova Scotia. They had to hike in through the forests until they found a good camp site. Richard picked a spot in the forest near this camp and built his house. In two years he was married to Maria Carder. He lived in this house until his death.

Herrit Nay was a sister of Jerusha Nay, who was married to Josiah Kimpton, brother of Samuel Burton Kimpton. Samuel and Josiah, with their wives, left Milton, VT by ox-cart and travelled to Chasm Falls, NY together. They arrived in the evening of 2 July 1825 after a 4-day trip. The Samuel B. Kimptons were the second settlers along the River Road where some of their descendants still reside.

The Josiah Kimptons rested a few days and then went on to Fort Jackson, NY where they took up their residence.

Herrit (Nay) Kempton was a grandaughter of James Nay of Peterborough, NH. and Milton, VT.

Rodney Nay Kempton was listed as "Newell R." in the 1850 census of Malone, NY.

The name seemed to change from Kempton to Kimpton with Samuel Burton Kempton and his brother Josiah.

Samuel D. Kempton first started out as a farmer in Kempt, Queens County, Nova Scotia. In 1839 he sold his farm to Samuel L. Allison and moved back to Milton. He then entered the firm of S & S Kempton, lumber merchants, who also had interest in several vessels. He was deacon of the Milton Christian Church. He is buried in the Milton Cemetery.

The Liverpool Transcript, May 28, 1857, carried the following: "On Saturday last another new schooner of 76 tons, called the 'Morning Light' was launched from the shipyard of Messrs Samuel & Simeon Kempton. She is intended for the fisheries and is to sail this week for Labrador. The launch was accompanied by a number of tunes from the Milton Brass Band who performed with much skill and gave great satisfaction to the listeners. We trust that the 'Morning Light' may be the light of a long day of prosperity to the owners."

"The launch occurred just as the day was declining, and the beautiful weather called forth a large assemblage, who were evidently much gratified by the successful manner in which the arrangements were carried out."

A brief but faithful diary was kept by Samuel D. Kempton for quite a number of years. One trip that he took in 1855 is chronicled in this diary:

Aug. 23 - Left Liverpool for a cruise in the U. States. Arrived at Harmony.
Aug. 24 - Left Harmony and arrived Annapolis.
Aug. 25 - Left Annapolis in the Steamer 'Pilot' and arrived in St. John. Passage money $3. Boarded, Barnes Street Dock.
Aug. 26 - Sunday in St. John. Went to meeting twice.
Aug. 27 - Left St. John 8 o'clock in the Steamer 'Admiral'. Arrived Eastport 12 o'clock. Got dinner ashore and left for Portland. (Passage money $5.50)
Aug. 28 - Arrived at Portland 1/4 past 3 o'clock a.m. Walked over to Portland and left in the afternoon for Gardner.
Aug. 30 - Left Gardner and took the cars at the Yarmouth Junction, and arrived the Island ponds, 138 miles.
Aug. 31 - Left the Island ponds 8 o'clock and arrived at and followed the St. Francis River and arrived in Montreal at 2 o'clock, Fare $7.50 - 130 miles.
Sept. 1 - Left Montreal in the cars up the river a few miles, then crossed the river and took the cars on the American side and went 140 miles to Ogdensburg; went on board the Steamer 'Nothiner'. Went up the river; arrived at the foot of Lake Ontario 5 o'clock stopping at several small towns on the river. Went up the lake in the night, being very stormy; blowing, raining, thundering and lightning during the night, and arrived at Niagra 7 o'clock a.m.
Sept. 2 - Sunday morning at the Niagra visited the Falls, the Burning Spring and the Suspension Bridge; then crossed the bridge, took the cars; arrived at Buffalo. (The passage money from Montreal to Buffalo $10.)
Sept. 3 - Left Buffalo in the cars and went to New York; stopping at all the towns in that route and crossing the Hudson at Albany. Passage money $7.50.
Sept. 4 - Left New York and arrived in Boston - $5.50.
Sept. 5 - Visited the State House and went to Gardner and visited Richard Ashley.
Sept. 6 - At Gardner visited the chair factory.
Sept. 7 - Took cars to Worcester and visited Susan and Unis Murray.
Sept. 8 - Left Worcester and returned to Boston; visited the Museum.
Sept. 9 - Sunday in Boston.
Sept.l0 - Left Boston in the Yarmouth Steamer 'Eastern Star' at 9 o'clock. Passage money $5.00.

The bulk of the diary is filled with items on work done by himself and his brother Simeon.

ii HOMER.

Despite a great deal of research, very little is known about Sargent P. Kempton. Some sources say that he had a large family. This has never been proven. After he married Susan _____, he removed to Fort Ann, Washington, Co., NY. He is found in the census of 1820 with 1 male under 10; 2 males 26 to 45; 2 females 10 to 16. He is also listed in the local census of 1825 with 2 males under 16; 1 female over 16, and 1 female under 16.

We can only speculate on what these figures show. It is very possible that his wife, Susan, was under 16 in 1820 and carrying Jerome at the time. This would be reflected in the figures of 1825 in which she would now be over 16, having given birth to Jerome, Homer and possibly a daughter. In the census of 1820, the other people living in his household may have been a brother and a sister. No birth records have been found. There is no mention of Sargent and his family before 1820 or after 1850.

The existence of Homer is known from the fact that he visited his brother Jerome Bonaparte Kempton in Shoshone, ID somewhere between 1889 and 1891. Jerome's youngest son, Osborn Albert Kimpton, could remember going to the railroad station to meet his Uncle Homer when he was about nine or ten years of age. He could also remember how he was dressed and that he was supposedly from Boston or the Boston area. Jerome Kempton never mentioned any other brothers or sisters.

Simeon Gardner Kempton was junior member of the firm of S & S KEMPTON, Lumber Merchants and was also interested in several vessels. The first was the Brigt. Lady Campbell, 139 tons. They then built the Brigt. Milton in 1838. In 1857, the Schr. Morning Light, 76 tons was built by S & S Kempton. This vessel was sold to Joseph & J. Henry Inness. In 1856 the Brig A.R.D., 81.76 tons, was built by S & S Kempton and sold to David Dunlap & sons. [T.B.Smith.]

Jane Payzant was born in Antigonish, Nova Scotia. She went to Liverpool in 1832 to live with her grandparents Rev. John and Mary (Alline) Payzant, from whose home she was married. She was baptized in 1851 by Rev. W.W.Eaton, a visiting minister from the United States. From that date, until her death, she was a faithful and consistent member of the Milton Christian Church. For a number of years she sang in the choir, was especially helpful to the sick and suffering, and always interested in the progress of every good work.

Stephen Kempton is called Stephen Kempton, Jr. in deeds found in NY State.

Eliza Gumaer was born in Owasco, Cayuga Co., NY. Her people were Huguenots from Orange Co., NY. She did not marry until after her father's death in 1834, as she was not recognized as married in his estate. Later will of a brother names her as wife of Stephen Kempton in Barre, Orleans Co., NY. This proves the migration and connection.

Stephen Nye and Abigail (Talbut) Kempton left Killingly, CT around 1832 and moved to Amesville, OH where they remained one year and then moved to Dover Township for their second year in OH. The next move was to Trimble Township for a two-year period. They then purchased a farm near Trimble, known as the Tucker place. Farming here for two more years, the place was sold, and they rented the Allen farm for one year. They then entered a one quarter section of land in section 13, Trimble Township. This was located on Taylor Ridge, Trimble Township, Athens County, OH. [Stephen T. Kempton, History of Hocking Valley Ohio, p.779.]

Some of the letters that Abigail (Talbut) Kempton wrote to her brother William and his wife Nancy (Keach) Talbut are still in existence. These are from the period beginning with 8 March 1874 and ending with 2 March 1876. At the first reading of these letters one gets the feeling of a rather lonely old lady with failing health, who would like to see her own family once more. In her letters she mentions that she had a bad kidney, lung fever and "diabatus." Stephen had a lot of problems with rheumatism in both arms to the point that he could not do much. They hired a man to help with the farm. They also had a hired girl, a grandaughter, and a boy living with them.

In the summer and fall of 1874, despite her ill health, she managed to put up the following items as mentioned in her letters: 20 or 30 bushels of potatoes; 200 bushels of corn; 1-1/2 barrels of molasses from their own sugar cane; 1 barrel of dried apples; 2-1/2 bushels of dried peaches; 15 gallons gooseberries, grapes, pears, chios [?] and apples. In additon to this they had 3 hogs which "I have had to cut up all the meat, take out all the lard when it was so cold my fingers almost froze." The pork weighed about 900 pounds, gave 9 gallons lard, and about 75 pounds of sausage put into the guts. She also cut up about 100 pounds of beef. "I cut it all myself." All of this work was done at the age of 70, which gives her a right to complain.

STEPHEN NYE KEMPTON 1802-1885

ABIGAIL (TALBUT) KEMPTON 1804-1877

In her letter of 13 September 1874 she mentions that she had two pictures taken, one with bonnet off and one with bonnet on.

In her letter of 28 September 1874 she mentions that she had one other child Sarah, who died at the age of 3 weeks. The placement of this child is not known. Also in this letter she used the expression "after he got home from Connecticut" in placing the birth dates of her two youngest children. This would place a trip back to CT between the years 1843 and 1846 for Stephen Nye Kempton.

The Kemptons sold their land to a mining company for $3,000. As they never received payment for the land, they continued to live on the farm. This finally ended with the company paying a smaller price for just the mining rights.

A letter from Jane Kempton, widow of Stephen N. Kempton, dated 30 May 1885, states that he died 29 April 1885 and that he owned 127-1/2 acres of land (R14 T11 S7) and personal property probably worth about $150. She requested that someone else be appointed administrator. James F. Kempton was appointed. Eight heirs were listed, "some in the west." The listing of the heirs shows: Stephen T. Kempton, Trimble; Richard Kempton, Pike Run, Vinton County; James F. Kempton, Jacksonville, Ohio; George A. Kempton, Jacksonville, Ohio; Dexter M. Kempton, Kansas; Abigail Taylor, Trimble, Ohio; Emily J. Cooper, Nebraska; Roy Kempton, grandson, Dover, Ohio. In the letter of application for administration the name of Dexter M. Kempton was omitted. Emily Cooper was residing in KS and Roy Kempton had moved to Trimble.

The administrator's final account gives an estate of $235.56 after all bills were paid. Some items listed: burial suit, $1.00; a grave stone, $12.00; three visits from Dr. Danford, $6.00.

William Kempton, second son of Captain Francis Kempton, lived in a small cottage that stood very close to the Fire Engine House.

He is said to have been a man of great strength, whose prowess was much respected by the Indians who always spoke of him as "Dot Strong Kempton."

When the congregation of Mount Zion Chapel found their little building too small, and a larger building was erected across the road, a bell was presented to the church by the late Sylvanus Morton. William Kempton was unable to find in the scripture that the disciples had been called together by the ringing of a bell. To get around this difficulty, he came to church before the bell commenced to ring and sat on the steps. He was waiting for the other folks to come and commence meeting, but no one could say that the ringing of any bell had brought him. And after he came, he would not allow the sound of a ringing bell to drive him away from meeting.

The week night prayer meetings of the Mount Zion congregation were usually well attended, and there were many to take part. It was considered by them to be decidedly poor form for any one member to hog the time and to hold forth to too great a length. Long wind in such matters was not looked upon by them with approval. In this respect, William Kempton was considered as the worst offender.

One night he was expounding to some length and looking about the vestry his gaze fell on Sylvanus Morton, who sat with open watch in hand, grimly timing the speaker. That was too much for Kempton. "Never go near them again," he said.

Albert Kempton was by occupation a boot and shoe maker.

Yarmouth Times 24 December 1902: Obit: "A very sudden death occurred on Sunday morning when Albert Kempton passed away at his home on Parade St. of kidney trouble. The deceased gentleman was born in Milton, Queens Co., 61 years ago, and lived there up to about 15 years ago, when he moved to this county and entered the employ of H.H.Crosby & Co. of Hebron. A few years ago, he moved to this town and since has been employed in the Yarmouth shoe factory. He was working on Saturday, in his usual state of health, and on leaving the factory went directly home and started to do, as he called it, a little "fixing up", when he was taken faint, but managed to stagger into the house. Medical assistance was summoned, but to no avail, as he died at 11 o'clock the next morning. He leaves a widow and six children; 5 sons: Ralph, Paul, Allen, Blake and Eugene, and one daughter, Hersie. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock and was conducted by Rev. David Price of the Milton Baptist church. In his death, Milton Division D of T, loses an active and valuable member, and the temperance cause an able supporter." [Copied by Liverpool Advance.]

Alfred Kempton was a lieutenant in the Salvation Army. The following was in the Liverpool Advance, Liverpool, Nova Scotia, 5 July 1899: "We clip the following from the Cincinnati Christian Standard of June 17th. Mr. Kempton referred to is a brother of Charles R. Kempton of this place: 'A. Kempton, of Milton, N. S. wanted to be a preacher, but saw no way of securing an education. For a time he was a Salvation Army lieutenant, in Vermont, but hearing of the School of the Evangelist, came to Kimerlin Heights and completed the course after five years of study. He worked on the farm, took care of the cows and the horses, and the last year taught and corrected the manuscript for the Correspondence Bible College. His education cost him in money between $35 and $45. He is one of the strongest men in the class, and is ready to work wherever the Master calls.'"

The following letter was received by Captain Samuel Kempton who was working on a genealogy of the Kempton Family. "15 March 1903, Dear Capt. Sam: I received your letter and am much pleased with your idea. My wife's maiden name was Edith Parker Hewitt, born in Liverpool, N. S. Father's name James Hewitt, Mother's maiden name, Eleanor Ann MacMillan.

We were married, July 28, 1901 at Nelsonville, Ohio, by Elder C.M. Keene. Our son Oliver Cook Kempton was born in Columbus, Ohio, August 9, 1902.

It might interest you to know that there is a town by the name of Kempton Illinois, Ford County, and also a Kempton Park in England. Should you wish further information, I shall be pleased to give it to you and would like a copy of your book when you get it out. Yours truly,

Alfred Kempton

Almon B. Kempton was only 4 years of age when his father died at Nauvoo, IL. His mother remarried, Joshua Armstrong, 29 May 1845, Hancock Co., IL, and returned to OH along with her new husband. Almon B. also returned. He stayed in OH until he was 18 years of age and then moved to Farmington, Fulton Co., IL, where he completed his studies. Soon afterward he began teaching, which he followed until the outbreak of the Civil War. He enlisted in the Union Army, becoming a member of Co. A, 11th Indiana Zouaves, which did valuable service in assisting the defense of the Union. He was engaged with his comrades in the battles of Fort Donelson, Mission Ridge, the siege of Vicksburg and other important engagements of the war. He was mustered out before the expiration of his enlistment, in the fall of 1864, on account of protracted illness, the result of small-pox, from which he suffered long and severely. After his discharge from the army, he returned to OH and continued his studies at the Commercial College in Cleveland, from which he graduated in 1865. After his graduation he spent several years teaching school winters and also working on a farm during the summer.

In 1874, the Kemptons moved from Fulton Co., IL. to Chenoa Twp., McLean County, IL., where he taught school and operated an 80-acre farm located in section 30. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge. The Kemptons attended the Congregational church. After Almon's death, Sarah (Mapes) Kempton continued to live on the farm with her family, the farm being operated by a tenant farmer. She later moved back to OH where she died.

When Alvin Bradford Kempton was eighteen months old, his father died, after which his mother moved to winter quarters and thence to Brownell's camp. Here his mother married (2) ERASTUS H. RUDD. Later they moved to Harris's Grove, IA. He crossed the plains in 1852 in Robert Wimer's company and located in Bountiful, UT. The following spring the family moved to Farmington, UT and during "the move south" at the time of the Johnston army trouble, Alvin made five trips with passengers traveling south. After the move he located in Payson, UT. While there he took part in the Blackhawk War. In 1866 he moved to Burreville, Sevier Co., UT where he acted as the first superintendent of the Burreville Sunday School. In 1868 he was ordained an elder. In 1877 he started for AZ, and after spending two years on the road, arrived at Eden, AZ where he was chosen as the first superintendent of the Eden Sunday School. In 1855 he was ordained a Seventy. In 1896-98 he filled a mission to Great Britain. After his return from that mission he was ordained a High Priest by Andrew Kimball and chosen as Bishop of the Eden Ward, St. Joseph Stake, Graham County AZ, Church of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon).

Bishop Kempton followed the avocation of farmer and carpenter. He acted as postmaster at Eden for fifteen years and was justice of the peace for five years. When Bishop Alvin Kempton died, he left his wife, eight children, and forty-two grandchildren.

Liverpool Advance, 2 September 1903: Milton items "Mrs. W. Stanton and three children of Winthrop, MA. are at Mr. Andrew Kempton's [sister of Andrew H. Kempton]."

* Liverpool Advance, 6 July 1910; "We scarcely chronicle one loss before we are called upon to face another, and this time the community was shocked by the sad news that Annie Louise Kempton, aged 15, eldest dau. of Andrew Kempton, had died. Annie was in school two weeks ago, studying for her examination, hoping to be one of the successful girls to obtain the D certificates....Taken ill. she was carefully doctored and watched by her loving aunt, Mrs. Hemion, with whom she and her little sister, Mary, had found a happy home during the past winter; somewhat recovering she was out, but gradually weakened....knowing she could not live, she spent her last night in happy words of cheer....passed away with the happy assurance she was to meet her mother and grandmother, who had shortly preceded her....sympathy for the grief stricken father, three brothers and little sister"

Benjamin Franklin Kempton commonly used the name of B. Frank Kempton. He enlisted in Company C, First United States Sharpshooters, on 31 August 1862, for 3 years. He was 23 years of age. He was at the battle of Gettysburg and was one of 21 survivors at the battle of Little Round Top. He was discharged from Stanton Hospital, in Washington, D.C., on 17 June 1865, from Company D, Sixth Regiment, Veterans Reserve Corps, Company C, First United States Sharpshooters.

Col. Fox in "Regimental Losses of the Civil War" speaks of Burden's sharpshooters as one of the "unique regiments of the war" and "as the best known of any regiments in the army". It would have been difficult to have raised in any one state the men equal to Burden's requirements. The class of men selected were also of a high grade in physical qualifications and intelligence. They were constantly in demand as skirmishers on account of their wonderful proficiency. "In skirmishing they had no equal."

In 1888, B. Frank Kempton moved with his family to Yonkers, NY. where he resided continually until the time of his death. He was engaged in the real estate and building business.

The Kempton family were members of the Central Methodist Church of Yonkers, NY.

Byron Kempton was a mechanic by occupation. He enlisted at the age of 18 in the 16th Regiment, New Hampshire Volunteer Infantry on October 3, 1862 and muster in October 24, 1862 as a private. He was discharged as disabled on April 22, 1863 at Concord, NH. He again enlisted at the age of 20 on August 16, 1864 for 1 year as a private. He was discharged on June 5, 1865 at Washington, DC. He evidently served one more hitch as the service records I found ended with "See 16 N.H.V."

The gravestone of Byron F. Kempton in Contoocook, NH. bears the following:

MEMBER OF CO D 16 REGT. + CO G14 REGT. NHI

Emeline Julia (Hardy) Kempton is called Emma J. on her marriage record and her gravestone. She had a twin sister who m. Ira Phillips who d. at Albany, NY leaving her husband and 3 children.

Liverpool Transcript, 26 October 1861: Marriages: "At Milton, on the 3d inst, by the Rev. R.D. Porter, Mr. Joshua N. Freeman and Catherine F., daughter of Simeon Kempton, Esq., of that place."

Stewart Gardner Freeman graduated 1891 from the University of Pennsylvania. He returned to his old home but was advised that a warmer climate was more beneficial to his health. He was a dentist and had his office in Italy, TX. He sold his practice and retired to a farm in Waxahachie, TX where he died. No issue. [Payzant]

Thaddeus S. Freeman was only 5 months old when his mother died. He was raised by his grandmother Mrs. Simeon Kempton. He was 12 years old when his father died. He attended school in Liverpool and at the age of 15 entered Acadia College from which he graduated, June 1887, with a BA. He graduated, MA, Bethany College, WV in 1891 completing his ministerial course. He held pastorates in TX and IN. In 1897 he received an appointment as Chaplain in the United States Navy and was honored by being with Rear Admiral Dewey at the Battle of Manila. Homeward bound, duties done, he died at Nagasaki, Japan, 12 September 1898, @31. He was buried with Military Honors at Logansport, IN, 23 October 1898. No issue. [Payzant]

Charles Grinnell Kempton was named for Charles Grinnell, a New Bedford merchant and one-time British Consul there, who had married Eunice Hitch, daughter of Capt. George Hitch, Jr., and therefore first cousin of C.G. Kempton's mother, Adelia Jenney. At the time of his marriage, Charles G. Kempton was described as a painter. At the time of his enlistment in the Civil War, he was termed a carriage painter. He enlisted in Co. H., 38th Regiment, MA Volunteer Infantry and died of disease in University Hospital, New Orleans, LA. After the death of Charles, his widow moved to Sharon, MA.

New Bedford VRs lists the wife of Charles Kempton as Anne Skulenger.

Cornelius Phillip Kimpton was, by occupation, a carpenter and cooper. In 1855 he was listed as a constable in St. Lawrence County, NY.

In 1862 he dammed the West Branch of the St. Regis River, at Fort Jackson, and used the overflow for power to run a sawmill and tub factory that he had built. Among the items that he turned out were staves for barrels, pails, buttertubs and washtubs.

In 1872 he left Fort Jackson and removed to Taylor County, IA where he filed on a piece of farmland in Guss, IA. It was not until the spring of 1876 that Cornelius and his 19-year-old son Charles Burton Kempton came to IA to build a new house, till the soil and plant the crops. In all, Cornelius and Augusta A. (Woodward) Kimpton had 14 children in NY state. Of these, only 8 were living when the Kimpton family removed to IA. In the fall of 1876, Augusta and the 7 children who remained with her, came from Buffalo, NY by boat across Lake Erie and then took a train to IA. Here they were met by Cornelius and Charles who by this time had harvested the crops for the long winter ahead. These crops included watermelon, which was consumed by most of the family who became deathly ill, supposedly from ptomaine poisoning. Both the mother and 15year-old Fred died on the same day and were buried in a double grave in the Guss cemetery. Most of the rest of the family were so ill that they could not attend the funeral services.

The following June, Cornelius married (2) Emma Gertrude (Ackerman) Van Denberg, widow of John Van Denberg. who had died 5 April 1873. She had 3 children by her first husband. Only one of them, Frances Emaline Van Denberg, was living at the time of her second marriage.

Dexter Martin Kempton moved to KS and was listed as a farmer in 1885. His son Charles remained in Glouster, OH. After his first wife's death, he remarried on a visit home to Trimble, OH.

From an old letter, dated 28 April 1909, to Charlotte (Kempton) Phillips -- he was "between wives." He states of his visit back to OH, "I am very well satisfied with my trip, but still did not get a woman" - also - "write and tell me how your father is getting along with the women"

He sold his farm in Oneida, KS and moved back to OH before his death. He passed away while doing his daily duty in the "outhouse" on the farm in Athens County. He was buried in the LeFever lot in the Bishopville Cemetery, Morgan County, just over the line from Athens County.

Edward W. Kempton was by occupation a farmer. He lived in Liverpool, Queens County, Nova Scotia where he served as deacon of the Baptist Church of Liverpool.

The Liverpool Advance, 21 August 1907, had the following article: "Bear River Telephone, Aug. 9th: While Edward Kempton who is visiting his brother, Isaac Kempton, was returning from church on last Sunday evening alone, he walked over the bank near the foot of the Imbert Hill, falling a distance of about twelve feet, striking on his head, among the rocks, cutting and bruising him quite badly. His groans were heard by some men who were passing and he was assisted to a house near by. A physician was called who dressed his wounds, but Mr. Kempton being an aged man, will feel the effects of the fall for some time, it being a narrow escape for him"

Liverpool Advance, June 20, 1913, OBIT: "The funeral took place on Monday of Edward Whitman Kempton, who passed away at his residence in Liverpool, on Friday, the 20th, at 12 P.M., having reached the mellow age of 79 years. Mr. Kempton's illness was but short and disappointing for the first painful disorder of blood-poisoning had been successfully expelled and he arose, and our hearts were gladdened, but afterwards complications set in to which, in his convalescent condition he succumbed.

He was a man widely known and highly respected, and in his business relations was honored for his straightforwardness and integrity. He was one of the most loving and faithful members of the Liverpool Baptist Church, joining it when a young man of 21, until the time of his death. His church had a very deep place in his heart and he always made it a point to give a word of encouragement to his minister.

His strong manly face, snow-crowned head and patriarchal beard we shall miss, the voice of his testimony we shall no more hear. He has fallen, but gloriously, like the golden ripe sheaf before the sickle. But his life will speak, his influence remains like the aroma of an undying flower.

Our hearts go out in sympathy to his widow and his six daughters left to mourn their loss. Of these only one is at home, but the others all arrived in time to see their father alive. They are: Eleanor, married to Mr. McKerricher, of Calgary; Josephine, Mrs. Elisha More; Minnie, Mrs. Hayden, United States; Delilah, at home; Jessie and Carrie, United States. The remains were followed by a large concourse, the Masons, of whom he was a member, leading the procession."

Elisha M. Kempton enlisted in the 3d Regt. N.H. Volunteers during the War of the Rebellion. He received a wound in the battle of Morris Island, SC and was discharged in November 1863. For a while he was in the boot and shoe business with his uncle Silas Kempton of Newport. He was the registrar of deeds for Sullivan County from 1872 to 1876. His residence was the first occupied house on Winter St.

In religion he was a Baptist, in politics a Republican, and he was active in the G.A.R. and the Masons.

The census of 1870 shows Elisha's sister Amanda H. Kempton listed as a seamstress @32 living with him. She later became a physician.

It is probable that Elisha M. Kempton was separated from his first wife, as the probate records show that he petitioned for guardianship of Mary L. Kempton and Alvan A. Kempton on 20 February 1879, stating that he was the father of the two children. No mention was made of the youngest son, Willie Elisha Kempton. In 1883, after the death of Louisa E. (Alden) Kempton, he was appointed guardian of Willie Elisha. On 3 November 1898, Willie Elisha legally had his name changed to Will Elisha Kempton.

The will of Elisha M. Kempton was written on 21 November 1919 and was entered for probate on 31 December 1930. He was buried in the Maple St. Cemetery in a perpetual care lot. He left his daughter-in-law, Mable (George)(Kempton) Stanley of Lawrence, MA. $400; his grandaughter, Miriam L. Kempton, bedstead, furniture, and a carved chair which was especially prized by her grandmother Kempton; and $1000, the balance, to his son Will E. Kempton of Newport who was named executor.

A codicil to the will was made 9 January 1926 and stated: "Certain bequests to above eliminated because his estate had greatly diminished. Grandaughter, Miriam M. Kempton, now Evans, Washington, DC."

Forrest W. & Margaret Kimton of Granthum signed a quit claim on Granthum land on road to Springfield, 10 October 1883. Forrest Kimton was a noted guide in the North Woods of NH. In 1906 he was living in Cornish Flat, NH. He gave Mrs. Sedgwick the above information.

Marriage records seem to differ. Newport, VT. records show marriage of Forrest W. Kempton @18, farmer of Newport, VT. son of Ezra & Eloise (Burke) Kempton to ELLA GONYO of Northfield, VT. Other records show Forrest, @18, son of Ezra & Eliza Burke marrying ELLA GEORGE on same date, 22 February 1873.

In the Woodstock, VT probate records we find the following: "Margaret Hawley Kimton estate, Lynn, MA.: Probate 6 November 1914, Arlo Kempton of Lynn certified that she died on 25 July 1914, intestate, leaving a widower Forrest W. Kempton".

Mr. Francis Kempton started a clearing in the rough woods at Grafton when first married. In 1903, he was said to have had as good a farm as there was in that section.

There seems to be some differences in the records. Some of them say "Grafton" which would be in Kings Co., Nova Scotia. Others say "New Grafton" which is a small town in Queens Co., Nova Scotia. I am inclined to believe that all births were in New Grafton, Queens County, Nova Scotia and so have recorded them. It was probably the custom to drop the "New" when talking about the town in the nearby areas.

Liverpool Advance, September 18, 1907: "On Friday evening's train, the body of the late Francis Kempton arrived from Bear River, accompanied by his three daughters, Mrs. Maria Freeman, Mrs. Lilla D. Ruggles and Miss Lizzie Kempton, and was immediately conveyed to Kempt. The funeral services took place at the home of Mr. Hardy Freeman on Saturday afternoon, and the remains were followed to the Kempt Cemetery by a large number of relatives and friends."

Alton Lee Kempton and Rawson M. Kempton both studied dentistry and practiced in Denver, CO.

Francis Kempton was probably living with his daughter Lilla Ruggles in Bear River when he died.

ii IRENE A., m. _____ PILLSBURY.

Frank H. Kempton died intestate. The court named his widow Ada G. Kempton and daughter Ireue A. Pillsbury of Rangley, ME as next of kin.

When Ada G. Kempton died in 1950, daughters Leona V. McCard and Irene A. Pillsbury, both of Rangley, were named as next of kin.

From the above probate records, it would appear that Leona V. McCard was not the daughter of Frank H. Kempton but was Ada's daughter by a previous marriage .

In the 1899 directory of Franklin County, ME. Frank H. Kempton is listed as living in Rangley, ME. Occupation: mill man.

George and Eliza Kempton were charter members of the 1st Methodist Church (organized 1884) in Jacksonville, OH with meetings held on their property. It is said that Elizabeth Kempton left George and went to live with her eldest son Charles, taking her youngest son Ward with her. [Birth dates and marriage dates do not seem to fit together for a couple who were active in church life.] George Allen Kempton spent the greater part of his time for two years before his death in WV, occasionally coming back to OH.

The probate records have the following note: "George A. Kempton, a former Jacksonville resident, died in WV, about a month ago, according to a statement made by a Jacksonville man, Monday, and was buried in that state."

From letters that his mother sent to her brother, we know that George Kempton was living 14 miles from his parents in 1874 and was running the farm in 1875.

G. Lafayette Kempton was listed as a partner in the firm of Kempton, Furbish & Butler, Lumber and Grist Mill, Phillips, ME in the Franklin County directory of 1899. He was commonly called "Lafe.".

Alicia F.(Jennings) Kempton wrote her will 1 December 1913. It was entered for probate in April of 1925. In this will she mentions that she is the wife of G. Lafayette Kempton and names the following in her will: Mary Hood, Farmington, ME, Sister; George Jennings, Holebrook, MA, Brother; John Jennings, New Sharon, ME, Brother; Erlon Jones, Rangeley, ME, Nephew; Gladys Hood, Portland, ME, Niece; and Carl Kempton, 9 Winter St., Auburn, ME, Nephew.

Franklin Co. ME probate court records contain the following name change: "Carl Fletcher Jones of Rangeley in said county, that he has heretofore been known by the name of Carl Fletcher Jones and that he desires to change his name to Carl Fletcher Kempton for the following reasons, vis.; 'I have lived with my Aunt (Mrs. Lafe. Kempton) for fifteen years and have always gone by the name of Kempton. I have graduated from Tufts Dental College and at present I am practicing at Richmond, ME.'" The petition was granted 10 May 1920.

Carl Fletcher Kempton married J. Charlotte Richardson and had two children:
Robert F. Kempton, b. 9 September 1926. m. Beverly G. Hall and had three children. d. 27 July 1979, Warwick, RI.
Virginia, m. _____ Cameron.

From the above, it would appear that Alicia F. Jennings, second wife of Gilbert Lafayette Kempton, had a sister, _____ Jennings,who married a Jones and had at least two sons, Erlon Jones and Carl Fletcher Jones. The latter was raised by the Kemptons and took their name. Gilbert L. Kempton was a farmer in Franklin County ME.

Much of the above information was obtained from a letter written to Capt. Samuel T. Kempton, Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia by Herbert Kempton in 1903, from his residence at 23 Marshall St., Winthrop, MA. Herbert was a contractor and builder. He had left Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia in May of 1869 for Boston, MA. He soon married and made his home in East Boston. In 1890 he moved to a new home he had built himself in Winthrop, MA and lived there for 25 years until his death. He was survived by his widow, Nina (Kean) Kempton, two daughters and two sons. His brothers, Robie Kempton, of Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia; and Alfred Kempton, of NY, also survived him.

THE MURDER OF ANNIE KEMPTON

It happened over one hundred years ago in Bear River, still a tranquil, rural village, high in the hills, near Digby, NS. That tranquility was shattered on the morning of January 27, 1896, when villagers awakened to the horrendous news that fourteen year old Annie had been beaten, stabbed and murdered the prior evening in the living room of her home. Her father, a lumberman, was away regularly during the week. Usually a neighbor slept at the Kempton home, but that night plans had gone awry.

The living room where the murder took place looked like a cyclone had struck it, according to the Digby Courier in one of its numerous articles. Annie, strongly built, maintained her chastity by desperately fighting off her attacker. Within twenty -four hours a judge was called and a coroner's jury of twelve appointed. A number of the villagers were requested to testify to their whereabouts and the whereabouts of other during the evening of the murder. Suspicion quickly focused on Peter Wheeler, age twenty-six, a sober and usually industrious handyman and hunter, who had been a resident of the village for about twelve years. He was thought to be a Spaniard but told the papers he came from Australia, that his father was Irish and his mother English.

Wheeler's evidence was taken in the room where the body lay, but the questioning of others occurred in an adjacent room.

Wheeler was indicted and placed in the Bear River gaol, but feeling against him ran so high that he was moved to the Digby gaol to avoid a possible lynching. While in jail, Wheeler confessed to the murder and wrote a long poem urging everyone to fight against the powers of Satan and to turn to God for strength when tempted. Wheeler was executed by hanging in the presence of the jurors, three members of the medical profession, a police officer, a captain of the Salvation Army and a jail official. In tribute to Annie Kempton, the villagers of Bear River solicited donations in the area, and a sarcophagus style monument was erected at her grave site in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Liverpool Advance, 24 December 1913: Obit: "The Baptist Church of this town has sustained a great loss in the death of one of its oldest deacons, Mr. James Kempton, Main St., who passed away on Friday morning, at 8 o'clock, at the age of 70 years and 10 months. Mr. Kempton had been in poor health for some considerable time, but though he was confined to bed for some months, until quite recently hopes were entertained of his recovery, but as already stated, he succumbed to his illness on Friday. He had asked that his body be laid to rest at Kempt, his native place. After the service, the cortege left for the 2 p.m. train to Kempt where he would be interred on Sunday."

James Berney Kempton enlisted in Page County, IA as a private in Co. 1, Ist. IA Cavalry on January 4, 1864. He served in the Union Army and was with the Cavalry in Sherman's march to the sea. He mustered out at St. Louis, MO, 21 September 1865. After being released from the service, he made several trips west as a driver of an ox team.

In 1869 he married Maria Gerry, daughter of Elbridge Gerry, who was the first white settler in Weld County, CO and is believed to be a descendant of the Elbridge Gerry who was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The same year he started the "69" brand cattle ranch with S.S. Kempton, supposedly a cousin, at a place called Fremont's Orchard. The partnership was dissolved in 1874, but James ran the ranch until 1884 when it was sold, and the family moved to Terry, MT. It took them all summer to make the trip. When they got to Terry in the fall, they wintered in an old buffalo hunters' cabin on what is now the present ranch. A new house was built in 1886.

In 1883 James was trailing a herd of cattle through the mountains of Idaho when the cowboys struck for more pay thinking they had him in a bad spot. He fired and paid off the whole crew at once with the exception of two men who were loyal to him. He had these two men hold the herd in a mountain pass until he brought a new crew from Missoula. The cattle were footsore from walking on forest fire burn, so they were loaded on a train at Missoula and shipped to Miles City. He had the distinction of shipping the first train-load of cattle on the Northern Pacific after the "Golden Spike" was driven.

James F. Kempton had an unusual record in the Civil War as a soldier and officer. In later life he was engaged in business. He also served as Mayor of Jacksonville and for many years was a Justice of the Peace.

The war years of James Kempton saw him advance from private to command of his company in the famous 75th Ohio Infantry, an organization which included many Athens County young men. He took part in 21 battles including Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, and spent some time in Confederate prisons after his capture at Gettysburg. While leading his company in a battle in Southern Georgia, almost the entire 75th OH was captured, and Lieutenant Kempton was again imprisoned. He had just returned to his outfit in Georgia after recruiting men in Athens County for some months. It was during this period that he married Emma Dupler of Trimble Township.

After the war, James engaged in the harness business at Trimble for some years and then was associated with the Akron Iron Co. of Buchtel. He sold his farm to O.D. Jackson, coal operator, and then was long employed in the Jackson Mine general store. Over the years he served in all township offices in Trimble Township and was Mayor of the bustling town of Jacksonville.

The children of James Kempton have always prized the mementoes of the Civil War experiences of their father, including letters he wrote while imprisoned in Columbia, SC and on the battlefield. The letters were to his young bride and told some details of the many battles and skirmishes of his outfit. The buttons of his uniform, as well as his epaulettes and sword, are owned by one of his sons. A medal he received is also in the case where the other relics are kept. The Kemptons have a letter written in 1841 by David Putnam, of Marietta, to the settler. David Putnam owned much land in Trimble Township and elswhere in Athens County more than a century ago.

Among the keepsakes of their father, the Kemptons have a small book, a pocket diary of 1864, containing the autographs of dozens of officers and men Lieutenant Kempton knew during the war. They also have his tiny hymn book.

E.V. Wolfe, of "The Plains," some years ago wrote of the war experiences of Lt. James Kempton. In the battle of Gettysburg, the 75th Ohio was behind a stone wall facing the famous fighting Confederate outfit known as the Louisiana Tigers. The Northerners were armed with Enfield rifles and were getting off three shots a minute when the Tigers, lead by their Colonel flourishing his sword, charged the stone wall. Kempton killed the colonel at a distance of about fifty feet. The Yanks fled and Kempton fell over the wall and pretended to be dead. The Confederates soon came back from the chase, but as they were bayoneting the wounded Union soldiers, Kempton fled into a patch of timber where he was taken prisoner. He was only confined three weeks on this occasion but was so nearly starved in that time he was not fit for active duty for several weeks after being exchanged.

The Lieutenant also told Mr. Wolfe that when the 75th Ohio men were armed with repeating rifles, late in the war, they were able to put larger forces than their own to flight by rapid firing. One captured Confederate officer asked him "What kind of damn guns have you, do you load 'em on Sunday and shoot 'em all week?" [From an item in the Athens Messinger, Athens, OH, date unknown, bearing byline of E.H. Harris.]

Another version of James Fox Kempton's war record comes from the History of Hocking Valley, OH. On April 17, 1861, he enlisted in Company H, Twenty-second Ohio Volunteer Infantry.as a private for three months; served his term of enlistment in WV and MD; and was discharged at Athens, OH, August 31, 1861. In September 1861, he re-enlisted in Company B, Seventy-fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry as a private for 3 years and was appointed second sergeant of his company. In 1862 he was promoted to first sergeant of his company and served as such until November 1863. He was taken prisoner at the Battle of Gettysburg July 22, 1863 and was confined in Libby and Belle Isles prisons in VA for 20 days, when he was exchanged and returned to command. In November 1863, he was commissioned second lieutenant and sent home on recruiting service. He was thus employed until April, 1864, when he returned to his regiment in FL, was promoted to first lieutenant and assigned to the command of his company. At the Battle of Gainsville, FL, he and a majority of the regiment were taken prisoners, were in prison a short time in Macon, GA, thence to Charleston, SC, under fire of the Federal batteries two months. He was then removed to Columbia, SC remained until March 1, when he was removed to Wilmington, NC and then exchanged. Soon after he reported at Washington, DC and was discharged in March 1865. He was engaged in the battles of McDowell, WV; Chancellorsville; John's Island; Gettysburg; White Point Landing; Camp Baldwin; and Clay Ridge, FL.

Jennie Elizabeth (Twitchell) Kempton was a member of the Old South Church in Boston in the year 1877.

There was an article in one of the Boston papers, dated 25 March 1861, which told of Mrs. Jennie Twitchell Kempton, vocalist, and the Salem Band being caught in a snow storm which stalled their train in Malden, MA. They were forced to stay in their cars all night.

The following obituary was found in the Sedgwick papers, NEHGS. "Los Angeles, CA. March 13, 1930: Mrs. Jennie Kempton, 85, who won international fame as a contralto singer more than half a century ago, died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roth Hamilton. She had been in failing health for several years.

Mrs. Kempton was a daughter of Reuben Twitchell of Dublin, NH., band-master of Gen. Sherman's headquarters band on the famous march to the sea. When 14 years old she sang in the American premiere of the Oratorio "Elijah" in Boston.

She soon thereafter began a European career in which she appeared before most of the reigning monarchs. She became a protege of Rosini and sang in the Paris premier of his 'Stabat Mater.'

Among her most prized possessions were gifts from Queen Victoria, Napoleon III, and Victor Emanuel. Later she organized an opera company in Boston and toured America. Her husband died several years ago."

Jerry Kempton of Claremont wrote his will on 12 October 1898. He named his wife Fidelia M. Kempton as executrix. He left a piano to Isabel King, stepdaughter of his wife. A note held by Mary Ann Kempton and Jerry's brother Leonard N. Kempton secured by house occupied by them on Pleasant Street was to be cancelled.

A codicil to this will, dated 1 May 1901, states: "Fidelia deceased. Balance of estate to Isabella M. King."

A 2nd codicil, dated 26 July 1904, states: "to pay the 4 children of my deceased brother, Leonard N. Kempton $500."

This will and its codicils show that Jeremiah "Jerry" Kempton as of 26 July 1904 had no wife or children to inherit his property.

Jerome Bonaparte Kempton was born at Fort Ann, Washington County, NY. At the age of seven he was apprenticed to the Arms family of Duxbury, VT. This is probably the family of Deacon Ira and Permele (Atherton) Arms. The Arms had a son George who was mentioned in later life by Jerome. Here in VT he learned the art of stone cutting and blacksmithing. Jerome joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and was baptized on 2 February 1840 at Nauvoo, IL. He was 19 years of age. Land records indicate that Jerome Bonaparte Kempton and Maria Williamson were married prior to 30 January 1846 as they sold land on that date. Jerome and Maria lived in Nauvoo, IL where he was engaged in building the Nauvoo Temple and putting a cut-stone font in it. In February or March of 1846 Jerome left for the west. Maria decided to stay behind, leave the church and return to her family, rather than suffer the rigors of a plains crossing.

In later life Jerome told his family that on the trip west he went up the Missouri River, became snowed in and spent the winter of 1847 with the Indians. From them he learned the Indian language and how to track people and animals almost as well as the Indians themselves. Sometime during the year of 1848 he arrived in Salt Lake City, UT driving a wagon pulled by mules. In 1849 Jerome moved to Manti, UT, where he married Rosetta Anis Chapman on 20 September 1850 and on 28 October 1851 he married her sister, Amelia Chapman, as allowed by the doctrines of the church. Between his two wives he fathered 23 children.

Jerome Kempton was described as having blond hair and blue eyes. He was a man of many talents who could not seem to settle in one spot for long. The Kempton family lived in Manti, UT until 1853; but Jerome must have taken a trip to Salt Lake City in June of 1851, as he is listed as speaking at a meeting at the "Bowery, Salt Lake City. On 25 May 1854 the families were living in Salt Lake City. They were still living there in May of 1856 when he answered a call from the church to go to Fort Supply to help strengthen the settlement. This residence was short-lived as Fort Supply was closed on the 4th and 5th of October 1857, when the town was completely destroyed by fire, including the hay in the fields, crops and timber. This was done to stop their usage by the U.S. troops that had been dispatched to see that the supremacy of the U.S. Constitution and Laws were restored and maintained in UT. In 1872 the families moved to Bingham Canyon where he hauled logs for the mines and for firewood. He also did some mining. Around the years 1874/5 the families left UT and moved to Sublett, ID. They moved by wagon with all of the family belongings piled high and tied on. Included were a crude wooden plow and tent. A milk cow followed along tethered to the wagon. The adults and older children walked, while the younger children rode on the top of the load. After a short stay in Sublett, the Kemptons moved to Naf, ID, about ten miles away. Here they stayed at the mouth of the Clear Creek Canyon near the ID-UT border. Jerome and his sons then hauled logs from Clear Creek to the Sweetzer Fields, where they lived in the tent while building a log cabin. Jerome made a living for his two families by raising a few sheep and goats and doing some mining in the Clear Creek Mountains. There was plenty of game and fish for food.

In 1880 Amelia took her children and moved out of the cabin in the Sweetzer Fields. She took the tent with her and moved back to Clear Creek. Here they set up the tent and lived in it while her whole family worked together to build a cabin and make a living. The living at first was rather poor, but game and fish in the streams were abundant. It took real courage for her to make this move with no money, just the tent and her children. Amelia helped with the finances by making beaded gloves to sell to the Indians.

When her eyesight started to fade she had to give this up. Eventually she became blind from cataracts.

After her son Charlie married, he moved back to Clear Creek and built a house for his family. He also built a small cabin near his home for Amelia. Her son Luther lived with her and took care of her until her death in 1923. Due to her blindness, nothing was ever moved in the kitchen, and a rope led from the cabin to an outside privy and to a chicken house to guide her.

The exact reason for her leaving Jerome is not known. Family traditions say that two other things happened around this time. The first is that Jerome left the Mormon Church. This has never been proven. The second was a name change. Amelia and her children continued to use the Kempton spelling. Jerome and the following children changed their names to Kimpton: Jerome S., George, James, Hyrum, Rowena and Osborn.

Jerome and Rosetta left the cabin in the Sweetzer Fields around 1882 and moved to an area called Junction which is south of Oakley, ID. In 1886, forced out by cattlemen, Jerome traded his land claim for 100 horses, which he intended to use to pack supplies into the mines in Central ID. This area was also becoming a sportsman's paradise, and horses would be needed to pack hunters and fishermen plus their supplies into this remote area. On their trip they forded the Raft River and crossed the deeper Snake River on a ferry. The horses had to swim. Jerome obtained a homestead northwest of the town of Shoshone on the Little Wood River. Here Jerome built a home of local lava rock and settled down for the winter, which turned out to be a tragic one. It was one of the worst winters in years, and the Kempton family had no money to buy feed for the horses. All of the horses perished that winter. They did save a cow which kept them in milk to have with their bread. The flour for the bread was purchased from the sale of hides from animals they trapped. These were also a source of meat. In the spring they fished for trout which was sold to a local hotel.

In the spring of 1895 Jerome was kicked in the head by a horse. He never completely recovered from this accident and was admitted to the State Hospital in Blackfoot, ID on 13 June 1895. He died there on 3 May 1899 and is buried near the hospital in Blackfoot. After Jerome died, Rosetta went to live with their daughter Harriet for a short period of time. She then returned to ID where she spent the rest of her life. She died at the home of her son Osborn, in Kimberly, ID on 23 December 1915, blind and bedridden.

For far greater detail on the families of Jerome Bonaparte Kempton, complete with bibliography, please see the book listed under references. I have seen this book grow from many bits of information, much of it conflicting, to what it is today. Because of the completeness and accuracy of this work, I have based these pages on Jerome Bonaparte Kempton entirely from it.

Mary Hale Hank's father was a noted author. Among his published works were "Light on the Ocean," "Sailor Boy" and "Mutineers of the Bounty." He also invented a base-burning stove and gave this device to a tinsmith who was one of his parishioners. In 1856 he was a representative in the MA General Court; Hanks Street in Lowell was named for him; and in far-off Labrador, Hanks Cove, a quiet harbor, commemorates his work among the sailors. In 1869 he moved from Lowell to Cambridge.

Jonathan Kempton moved from Caledonia, Queens County, Nova Scotia to Albany New, Queens County, Nova Scotia when he was quite young. He resided there until his death, a very esteemed citizen. He was a faithful, consistent member of the Baptist Church of Kempt. The newspaper account of his death lists his survivors as his wife, two sons, Ernest and Parker, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. William Sears of Lawrence, MA and Mrs Sydney Collins, of Whitinsville, MA. Funeral services were held in the United Baptist Church at Kempt, conducted by Rev. I.D. Lyttle.

Joseph D. Kempton was called "Dimock" all of his life. The first reference I have is an article in the Liverpool Transcript, dated 22 May 1866: "Providential Escape: On Friday last, a young man named Dimock Kempton, belonging to Milton, fell from the tower of the new Methodist Church in this town, a distance of forty-seven feet, striking a piece of joist about eight feet from the ground, breaking that and a plank in his fall. He was taken up for dead, but we understand that, as none of his bones were broken, he is likely to recover."

The following week the newspaper had this item: "The young Mr. Kempton, who was injured by a fall from the Methodist Church Steeple, is recovering fast, and we hope will be able to resume work again."

The Liverpool Advance had the following in their edition of 25 April 1894: "Benjamin Kempton has received word from the U.S. that his brother, Dimock Kempton, is very sick and no hopes for his recovery." At that time, he was working on the construction of Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont. He walked around the corner of one of the barracks and caught the full force of the wind off Lake Champlain. This caused the collapse of one lung. For a while they thought that he would die. However he recovered and lived 17 more years with only one lung. Joseph D. Kempton died in Bridgewater, MA. The probate records, in Plymouth, shows Jessie Amelia Saunders of Cohasset, MA and Zilpha A. Kempton of Malden, MA were appointed administrators. All of the rest of the family were of Melrose, MA. Final probate showed that Zilpha A. Kempton was then of Melrose, MA.

The marriage of Joseph D. Kempton and Zilpha Alice Morton was performed by the Rev. Joseph Jones, in Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia. Francis Gardner and Elizabeth Sanders were the witnesses. Mr. Kempton was listed as a carpenter. The Kemptons lived in Caledonia, Queens County, Nova Scotia. They had planned to move to Albany New and had borrowed money and purchased land there. They changed their minds and came to the United States. The land they had purchased was taken over by two of his brothers.

Zilpha Alice Morton was descended from four passengers who came on the Mayflower in 1620. These passengers were: John Howland, Richard Warren and John and Elizabeth Tilley. Joseph D. Kempton was also a Mayflower Descendant being descended from Peter Brown, Francis Cooke and Stephen Hopkins.

Much was told about the Rev. Joseph F. Kempton in a letter to Samuel D. Kempton, who was doing some work on a Kempton genealogy. This letter, written, 8 September 1903, by his widow is abstracted as follows: "I have been away from home or your letter would sooner have been replied to . . . . Perhaps you were personally acquainted with my husband. His great desire was to be a foreign missionary. He was accepted by the Mission Board, but a medical examination revealed an imperfect valve of the heart, and as respiration is greatly increased in a hot climate, it was thought best for him not to go. He felt that mission work was his life, and wherever he was located, the out-lying portions received much of his time and strength. He was a most devoted servant of the Lord. He graduated from Acadia College, 1862: was ordained in Mira, Cape Breton in 1864. The first convert he baptized was Rev. C.H. Martell in 1865. After a pastorate of four years he removed to Margaree, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. After three years there, he spent two years at Newton Theological Seminary; returning from there he held pastorates in Sussex, New Brunswick; Trenton, Pictou Co., Nova Scotia; Chester, Lunenburg Co., Nova Scotia; and Hopewell, New Brunswick from which the summons of God called him to higher service. He was privileged to baptize about six hundred believers, brought to the Saviour, in connection with his work. I do not know where he preached his first sermon . . . at Kempt, Queens County, I expect. Lila May and Harold B. are not married."

Joseph G. Kempton was a contractor and builder in Newton Upper Falls, MA. In his younger days he was a lumberman in Nova Scotia. It was reported in the Liverpool Transcript of 3 June 1858 that he was engaged in clearing away some logs on the brink of Harlow's Dam. He accidently fell in and was carried over the dam with about fifty logs following him. While submerged in the backwater below, his companions supposed he was either crushed to death or drowned, but after the lapse of about three minutes, he was seen to rise and pass by a mill flume where there was a large stream of water pouring out and he was again submerged. After he came to the surface the second time he saw some logs he could reach, climbed on them and was able to reach shore downstream unhurt.

He moved to Newton, Upper Falls, MA between 1877 and 1881, living at 168 Elliot St. Here he was able to celebrate his 50th wedding anniversary with about 100 guests attending.

Judson Kempton was educated in the public schools of Haverhill, MA. At the age of sixteen he was apprenticed to learn the hatter's trade in a factory at Derry, NH. He followed that trade at Derry and later at Methuen. He then engaged in the restaurant business in Boston, MA. In 1865 he removed to Haverhill and established a restaurant in that city. In connection with this restaurant he conducted a fruit and confectionnery store. He admitted to partnership his brother Amos Kempton, and the firm continued until the death of Judson Kempton, doing a large and flourishing business. Judson was a member of Mizpah Lodge of Odd Fellows in Haverhill. In politics he was a Republican. He was a member of the Methodist-Episcopal church.

Lyman J. Kempton died intestate in 1923. His widow Alice was awarded his estate. She had written a will on 4 May 1920 leaving the bulk of her estate to her husband Lyman. However he was deceased before her death, and her estate went to Hattie A. Wagener, sister, Route A. Box 75, Ripen, CA.; Emma Simpson, sister, 918-1/2 H. St., Modesto, CA.; and to Mrs Tracy Barker, niece, 90 Williams St., Woodfords, ME.

Gilbert L. Kempton, heir at law, was the executor of the estates.

The following were named as heirs to the estate of Lyman J. Kempton: His wife, Alice Kempton; Elvena Richardson, Norton, MA., sister; Gilbert L. Kempton, Rangley, ME, brother; Frank H. Kempton, Rangley, ME, brother; George M. Kempton, Woodfords, ME, brother; Lura Reed, 45 Chapin St., Providence, RI, sister; Delia Cordin, Chartley, MA., niece; Laurena Marshall, Rockwood St., Taunton, MA, niece; Grace Laurena Dean, Troy, NY, grand-niece.

In the marriage record of Lyman J. and Alice I. (Foster) Kempton, Lyman was listed as "of Mansfield, MA."

The Franklin County, ME Directory of 1899 lists two persons with the name of Lyman J. Kempton. One is listed as a merchant and is probably the above Lyman J. Kempton. The other was listed as a clerk. I have found no birth record, but it is possible that there was a son Lyman who could have been working at the age of about 14 to 16 as a clerk and died before his parents, so he would not be mentioned in the probate records.

Manasseh Kempton's father David Brown Kempton ran a station in the underground railway that helped slaves escape to Canada during the Civil War. At that time Manasseh Kempton was too young to enlist in the army, although his brothers had gone to war along with many of his cousins.

In later days, Manasseh used to delight his granddaughter with stories of working all day on the farm, then hitching up the team of horses to a load of hay, and accompanying his father to Jonesville or Coldwater. There, escaping slaves were hidden in the load and returned to their home to be hidden in the cellar until the next night, when they would be delivered to the next link, someplace near Addison.

The family dwindled after the war, for the older brothers never came back to live in No. Adams. Meanwhile, the sister married and moved away. Only Manasseh and his sister Adell were left behind to work on the farm. Most farmers were able to make a living, but when it was time to get married, additional money was required. Manasseh Kempton was no exception, so he travelled north to the lumber camps around Saginaw to earn the extra money.

When he was 26, his father, now nearing 70 years of age, retired, and Manasseh took over the direction of the farm. The family continued to live in the "Old Stone House," now long gone, that stood on the south side of the road. Manasseh and his cousin David Fuller combined forces to build brick houses for their brides on opposite corners of the north side of Main Street and Denning Road just west of North Adams.

The houses were completed, but one stayed empty the first year as the bride-to-be, Hattie Bagley, who was a school teacher at the Mud Lake School, had an unfortunate accident with a run-away horse and sleigh, receiving injuries requiring a delay in the wedding. At one time, Manasseh Kempton served as treasurer of Hillsdale County, MI.

Manasseh and Harriett (Bagley) Kempton are both buried in the North Adams Cemetery. Manasseh died on the farm, and Harriett died at the home of their son J. Edgar Kempton.

Nathan Alvin Kempton was a mason and a miner. He also broke horses. At one time he worked for the Beasley Marble Works at Provo, UT. He was a handsome, talented man, playing many instruments and singing at friendly gatherings. He also took part in political rallies. He was working in the town of Bingham, UT when he first met Mary Hedenberg.

At the time of his death, Nathan was working with a dynamite crew in Ogden Canyon where a waterway was being installed for a power plant. A sudden explosion killed six men instantly and Nathan was one of them. Seven died later of their wounds. Nathan left his widow and four young children. On his body there were found the two following letters from his son Nathan, who was 9 years of age.

"March 16, 1896

Philson Waterman Kempton was a partner in the firm of S & P Kempton & Co., General Merchants, Door, Sash, and Box Manufacturers, at Milton. The partnership was dissolved on 16 November 1880. He was also junior member of Harlow & Kempton, one of the largest lumber concerns in the county. At the disposal of the interests of this firm to the MacLeod Pulp Co., he retired from business. The two years before his death he suffered with heart trouble. One winter had been spent in the south to benefit his heart.

His funeral was conducted by the Rev. M.C. Higgins of the Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. R.B. Bennett. The attendance was very large and a Masonic Service was held at the grave. Mr. Kempton had been a very active member of this order.

Robert Kempton received a captain's commission in the First Regiment, Queens County, Nova Scotia: "Given under my Hand and Seal at Arms at Halifax this 4th day of September in the 28th year of her Majesty's Reign and in the year of our Lord 1864" - Sir Richard Graves MacDonnell.

From William Ford's Journal, 5 September 1865: "Militia Prize shooting came off today. Taken by Capt. Robert Kempton."

Liverpool Advance, 13 January 1886, Obit: "The death of Mr. Robert Kempton of Milton, since our last issue is not the less sad that it has been for some time anticipated. He bore his long sufferings and awaited for the approaching end of his life here with exemplary patience and Christian resignation. His death will leave a blank in many circles that will not soon be filled, and a general sorrow that will not soon be allayed."

Robert Kempton was a lumberman by occupation. The marriage of Robert & Clara J. (Morton) Kempton took place at the home of the bride's father in Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia.

Rollins A. Kempton, in addition to the District School, received instruction from his father at home, who was an experienced and most faithful teacher, who had been for thirty years Superintendent of the School Committee of the town.

Rollins' early life was full of discouragement. At the age of nine years, his mother died and his father, a large farmer and extensive wool-grower, lost all his fortune. At 21, with a course freedom suit, a five dollar gold piece and a father's blessing, he started out into the world. He went first to Lowell, MA but could barely pay his board, and one morning with 75 cents in his pocket started for Lawrence. He found no friends, money or employment for 2 days. He sought earnestly battling with cold and hunger against the rain. Every step had been a failure. Nothing daunted him. He returned to Lowell full of pluck, determined to be somebody. He subsequently learned the printer's trade. In 1851 he married Maria J. Reed. In 1862 they removed to Boston with an estimated property of $100,000. He died at Old Orchard, ME at his summer home. At that time his regular residence was at Sunford, York County, ME. He had also lived in Boston and Springvale, MA.

Liverpool Advance, July 19 1893: Milton Items: "A telegram received from Rev. S.B.Kempton of Canard, states that his son, Willie, aged 8 years, died last evening of diptheria. He was a promising boy, and his death will be keenly felt by his parents and his only brother, Rev. Austin Kempton."

Liverpool Advance, Nov. 6 1918: Obit: "Halifax, October 29: There passed away at about noon today at his home in Dartmouth, the Rev. Dr. Bradford Kempton, for the past fifteen years or thereabouts a resident of the town, and generally beloved there. Although 84 years of age, he enjoyed up to about a month ago, remarkably good health, death really being due to a weakening of the physical condition rather than to any organic disease.

Born in 1834, at Milton, Queens, Bradford Kempton came of English stock. He was educated at Acadia University, from which he received his M.A. degree, and also that of Doctor of Divinity, and to which to the end of his life he was entirely devoted. He was ordained to the ministry of the Baptist Church in New Minas, and for several years held a pastorate, then going to the First Cornwallis Baptist Church, Canard, where he spent 26 happy and fruitful years, coming thence to Dartmouth, where he has since lived, every year adding to the number of his friends, and strengthening all the ties between him and the people to whom he ministered.

Some years ago he was obliged by the infirmity of age to relinquish the charge of the Baptist Church to which he has so faith- fully ministered, but up to the day of his last illness he took duty at the colored Baptist Church, and manifested always a deep and active interest in the colored race.

Rev. Samuel Bradford Kempton was buried in Kentville, beside the body of his young son, Willie."

In April 1868, Samuel T. Kempton sailed from Liverpool, Nova Scotia as a sailor on the bark "Linda Abbott" for Berice, British Guiana, South America. His last trip was as captain on the schooner "On Time" from Halifax, Nova Scotia to Colon, Central America in 1890. While on the return trip, the vessel was shipwrecked on the Island of Grand Cayman, in the British West Indies. They were there for two weeks before the first vessel, the Schooner "Annie S. Weeds," came by and rescued him and and his crew and took them to Jamaica.

Capt. Kempton led a very full life. As Master of the schooner "Rival" and the "On Time," he made over 200 trips to Boston Harbor from Liverpool, in the packet service, carrying passengers and materials. He was senior member of the firm of S. & P. Kempton & Co., general merchants and door, sash and box manufacturer of Milton. He was also a member of the firm Kempton Bros. & Co,, general merchants and manufacturers of soda tonic and mineral water. His brother, Stephen Harvey Kempton was president of this firm.

He was one of the promoters of the Liverpool & Milton Railway in 1896 and also a director. He was raised to Master Mason in Prince of Wales Lodge, No.29 RNS, in 1871. He was a charter member of the Rossignol Chapter, No. 6, Royal Arch Masons of Liverpool in 1873. He was appointed Collector of Customs for the Port of Liverpool, 19 July 1906; Registrar of Shipping, 13 Aug. 1906; Measuring Surveyor of Shipping, 11 September 1906; Justice of the Peace, 4 December 1906; Poor Farm Committee from 1 January 1898 to January 1907.

BUST CARVING OF SAMUEL T. KEMPTON 1853
George Crouse (1835 - 1866)
Queens County Museum
Liverpool, Nova Scotia

For a number of years, he was very interested in compiling a genealogy of the Kempton Family and wrote many letters gathering data. To give an idea of the amount of work accomplished, the following is an abstract from the manuscript of T.B.Smith: "21 Aug. 1951: 1, TBS, have just finished transposing on my sheets the record of the descendants of the Kemptons, as prepared by Capt Samuel T. Kempton, of this sheet. The record is copied in longhand in STK's writing, in two account books: the- first book of 200 pages being completely filled with data; and the second has entries as far as page 174 of a two-hundred page book, with a few blank sheets interspersed. They probably average two or more families to a page, some having only one family, others two, and a number three. He has, at great labour, collected dates, relationships, occupations and miscellaneous information, which makes it undoubtedly the finest genealogy of any family of Queens County that I have seen. Whoever goes through my records and sees the authority of STK (Samuel T. Kempton) given so frequently, can have a little idea of the painstaking labour that he put in his work. The books were loaned to me about two months ago by his daughter, Mrs Helen McCaffery, of Boston, Mass. The books went back to her by Miss Marion Payzant, who is engaged in a very fine task of writing the genealogy of the Payzant family, which family she has at present followed through five generations, and which family was early allied to the Kempton family, and therefore partly covered in STK's work. Magnificent effort." TBS.

In 1949, TBS had purchased, for $10.00, a tin box of letters, notes, and misc, papers in Corkums's second hand-store in Liverpool, Nova Scotia This material, including the family bible had been purchased by Corkum from STK's daughter, Mrs Helen McCaffrey, in the fall of 1949.

Stephen Harvey Kempton was known as "Harvey" Kempton by his family and friends. He was junior member of the firm of S & P Co, General Merchants and manufacturers of soda, tonic and mineral waters at Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia. In 1906, he became sole proprietor of Kempton Bros. & Co. Kempton Bros, was the only company in Nova Scotia to use the Codd bottle for its soda. This bottle was invented in Surrey, England by Hiram Codd in 1875. Between that year and 1886, Codd was granted 54 patents. A glass marble was imprisoned within the top part of the bottle between the shoulder and the lip. The bottle was pinched in at the shoulder to prevent the marble from entering the body of the bottle. The passage way was too narrow for the marble to fall through, but wide enough to let the pop through. The marble by the pressure of the soda, was pressed against a rubber washer, which was fitted in a groove in the neck, thereby sealing the bottle. Two pinches on either side of the neck held the marble while the pop was being drunk. The bottle had to be filled upside down and this required special machinery. These bottles cost Kempton Bros. seven cents each. Kempton Bros. sold their drinks for five cents per bottle. By using these bottles over and over again, a profit would be realized. However many were broken by children for the marbles they contained. The usage of these bottles was discontinued in 1898 when the business was discontinued. This author found and purchased one of the bottles with "Kempton Bottling Co." label intact at a small antique and second-hand store in Digby, Nova Scotia.

In 1907, Stephen Harvey Kempton was appointed to the Poor Farm Committee.

Stephen Talbut Kempton was a manufacturer of boots and shoes. He learned the trade as an apprentice under Bennett Woodsworth. He built a boot and shoe shop in 1852, where he carried on a thriving business. He and his family were strict members of the Church of the Disciples and very influential in the area. He was also a member of Watkins-Andrews Post No. 352, Dept. of Ohio G. A. R.

Trimble is the centre of Trimble Twp. (township), Athens County, OH. Stephen was only 6 years old when his father moved to Trimble Twp. in 1832.

The History of Hocking Valley Ohio carries the following on Stephen T. Kempton: "After coming of age Mr. Kempton went to learn the carpenter's trade of Daniel Fulton. After working a short time, business being dull, he abandoned the trade and went to work for Bennett Woodworth to learn the boot and shoe trade, remaining with him two years. He then worked for himself near his father's one year, and then worked for G. W. Roberts, in Trimble, for several years on piece work. In December, 1852, he built a shop in Trimble, where he carried on the boot and shoe business. He also did some farming. During seven months in 1879 he was mining in Colorado."

His death followed a long bout with consumption. Mary (Swift) Kempton outlived her husband by more than twenty years. For the last several months of her life she was practically helpless from stroke and required constant attention. This was supplied by her grandson John Sloan, whom she had taken when a baby and raised, and granddaughter Mrs. Maggie Campbell. At the time of her death she had 28 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Stephen and Mary (Swift) Kempton are buried in the Sands Cemetery along with two of their children.

Thomas Kempton was a farmer and lumberman. He was also interested in shipbuilding. He was a partner with his father and one of his uncles in the building of the schooner "Morning Light," 76 tons, and of the Brigantine, "A.R.D.," 81.76 tons.

Thomas had been busy cleaning up his land and attempting to burn some material. The fire got beyond his control, and in his efforts to extinguish it, he became so exhausted he came down with the grippe. He succumbed four days later at the age of 83 years and 7 months. His burial service was very brief as his wife, who survived him, was seriously ill.

Thomas Kimpton raised his children in the Catholic faith, the faith of his wife. Although all of his children were baptized in the Catholic Church, he was not converted to Catholicism until May 1917. This conversion was a cause of great joy to his family.

Their son John Kimpton was ordained a priest on December 19, 1903. He served as a priest in Vinton, New Brunswick and later in the diocese of Pembroke, Ontario. In 1955 he became a monseigneur.

Their son Alfred Kimpton graduated from Laval Medical School in 1910 and became a physician practicing in Montreal, Quebec.

Willard C. Kempton labored on the farm at home until he was 18. He then attended school at Newport and Kimball Union Academies until 1861, when he commenced the study of medicine with his uncle Dr. W. Clough, of Pittsfield, MA. He attended lectures at Berkshire and Hanover Medical Colleges (Dartmouth). He enlisted and went to war as a hospital steward, non-commissioned staff, 15th Regt. N.H.V. but was later appointed asst. surgeon of a colored regiment, of the Second Regiment, N.H.V. and of the Freedmen's Bureau. He completed his studies of medicine at Dartmouth and practiced for a while in Mansfield, KS. He then returned to Springfield, NH where he practiced until his death in late 1895 or early 1896. His estate was filed for probate, 6 January 1896, in Newport, NH. He died intestate and before his estate was settled, his widow Elvira died on 26 June 1914, intestate. The final settlement listed the places of residence of all their heirs.

William Silas Kempton was a farmer in Newport, NH probably in the North Newport section as all of the burials seem to be in the North Newport Cemetery. The farm was listed as the A. Hall place.

Leona C. Kempton left a will in which she mentions her sister Katherine, who married Frank H. Chase and had a daughter Mary. This could have been a second marriage for her sister Lillina K. [K for Katherine]. It also could possibly be another unrecorded sister.

A brief history of the life of Rev. A. Judson Kempton is furnished by himself in a letter to Samuel T. Kempton of Milton, Nova Scotia. A copy of this letter follows:

Muscatine, IA

July 1, 1903

Dear Uncle Samuel:

I am glad you are engaged in the good work of tracking back the Kempton Pedigree...I graduated at Horton Academy 1884, Acadia College 1889, Rochester Theological Seminary 1892. Have B.A. and B.D. Was ordained at Carleton, St. John, New Brunswick 1892. The first sermon I preached was in my father's pulpit in Hopewell, New Brunswick in 1889. Grace Hamm, Carleton, St. John, New Brunswick was the first person I baptized. First marriage. Archie Moore to Jennie Kingston, Carleton, New Brunswick. I have baptized about 225 persons. I have had pastorates as follows: St. John, 1892-1894; Madison, Wisconsin, 1894-1899; Mt. Carroll, Illinois, 1899-1903, Muscatine, Iowa, 1903-

My present church numbers 450 members and is in a fine growing city of 18,000 people. I have written a good many articles for magazines and sketches and short stories for young people. "Uncle Lijah's Opinions" in the Christian Endeavour World have had the greatest circulation. "John Armstrong's First Case" is a short serial put first in the Standard, then issued in pamphlet form. "The Hazing of a Sneak" is a college story - Acadia College. I also, with my brother s widow, Mrs. A.C.Kempton, edited a volume of his sermons of travel in Palestine, called "Pilgrim Sermons" published by Revell & Co, Chicago. In closing, I wonder if you have ever corresponded with Mrs. Caroline Kempton Sherman. She has been tracing back the Kemptons from another branch. Is well up in the subject, etc. etc. Signed. Judson Kempton.

After the death of Judson, his widow, Anne (Main) Kempton, married William L. Roach, Muscatine industrialist.

Alfred Elliot Kempton was a machinist in the U.S.A. At the time of his parents' celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary in 1914, Alfred was listed as being in the South and unable to attend. The following may throw some light on the two girls:

Lillian Dale Kempton, writing from 16 Randall St., Worcester, MA. on 24 November 1902, says, "If I can get Alfred E.R. family, I will. His wife was born in Victoria, New York. I have not found out when. Their name was Orton. Her own father died, and her mother married again. But I will try again and find out the names of them, if I can. A.E.R.'s children, the two girls, their grandmother adopted, so they do not go by the name of Kempton. But I will try to get their names and births. If successful I will send them later." Lillian Dale Kempton was Alfred E. Kempton's aunt, being his father's younger sister by 15 years.

Dowl LeFever's aunt, Francis LeFever was the second wife of Dexter Martin Kempton. Dowl was also a cousin of Iva Lefever who married Curtis W. Kempton and a cousin of the well-known physician Dr. LeFever of Glouster, OH.

Dowl was employed as a coal mine inspector, until the big explosion in the Trimble mine cost him the loss of one arm, one hand, part of one foot, and one eye plus the sight in the other eye. He could never see his daughter Ethel grow up. She was only four when he was injured.

When he was finally able to move about, Dowl and Alma owned and operated a store and restaurant for several years in Trimble. They then sold out and moved to Chillicothe, where they boarded several men who worked for the B & O Railroad Shop. Among the boarders were Charles Kempton, William Speakman and Gilbert Kerns. In 1907, Alma became ill and had to go into the local hospital for surgery from which she did not recover. Dowl and Ethyl moved back to Trimble after Alma died. He then worked in the insurance business despite his handicaps. He travelled by train with only his cane to guide him. He attended blind school in Columbus after his daughter's marriage. Here he met another blind patient whom he married. They spent the rest of their lives in Columbus and are buried there.

Liverpool Advance, November 1902: Middlefield Items: "Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Kempton and youngest daughter, of Wawanesa, Manitoba are visiting their many relatives and friends in Queens Co. Mr. Kempton was formerly of Milton and moved to Manitoba twenty years ago, where he is now an insurance manager." He was manager of the Occidental Fire Insurance Co. at Wawanesa, and the Wawanesa Mutual Fire Insurance Co. He was also a land speculator on the side and claimed this was as profitable as his regular business."

He was well off and liked to boast about it. While visiting one of his relatives in Middlefield he was showing off a large diamond ring. With a flourish he wrote his nickname "LON" on a pane of glass. This was shown to the author in 1978. At the time of his death, Alonzo Fowler Kempton was virtually penniless.

Walter Winchell Kempton talked about his brother "Pat." This was said to be a nickname for John Freeman Kempton who died as a boy of TB. Walter worked for the Wawanesa Mutual Insurance Co. of Wawanesa, Manitoba until he moved to Victoria, British Columbia. There he worked as a sail-maker for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company until his retirement.

Dennis Richard Kempton was a mill-worker in Victoria, British Columbia. He moved to CA in 1960 where he was employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in Santa Cruz.

Leslie David Kempton became a cabinet maker and builder of sailboats.

Alpheus Kimpton was a farmer. It is possible that he had other children, but names and dates are not known.

Carl Edward Kimpton was an attorney in Kansaas City, MO.

The obituary in TIME magazine, 14 November 1977 reads: "Died. Lawrence A. Kimpton, 67, chancellor of the University of Chicago (1951 - 1960); after a long illness; in Melbourne, FL. Administrator of the Univ. of Chicago's atom bomb project during World War II, Kimpton returned to head a campus stirred by the innovations of Robert M. Hutchins, but also faced dropping enrollment, encroaching slums and a $1.4 million deficit. During his tenure, Kimpton restored specialization and contributed to community redevelopment."

Dr. Kimpton was also listed in Who's Who in America. He was said to have had a yacht named "Alpheus" after his grandfather.

John Lawrence Kempton served in the U.S. Marine Corp. He then became a police detective in the Reno Police Department.

Austin Tremaize Kempton studied in public schools at Upper Canard and Horton Academy, Wolfville. He graduated from.Acadia College, Wolfville, on 4 June 1891. He was licensed to preach in 1888 by the Baptist Church at Upper Canard, which he had joined on 5 September 1883. He was baptized by his father and was ordained at Milton, 13 August 1891. His father preached his ordination sermon and also married him to Lottie H. Freeman two years later.

He held pastorates in Milton, Queens County, Nova Scotia; Sharon, MA.; Stoughton St., Boston, MA. and Fitchburg, MA. He also lectured extensively on a number of subjects. Among the most popular were his illustrated lectures on "Nova Scotia, The Romantic Land of Evangeline" and "New Brunswick, The Land of the Loyalists" and the two picture stories of which he was the author and originator, "Evangeline" and "Miles Standish," which came to be in great demand by educational institutions as very valuable aids in the study of these poems. Mr. Kempton took his degree of Master of Arts from Acadia in June 1894.

Both of their sons enlisted in WW II. Bradford was an ambulance driver, and Laurence was in the Field Artillery.

Kate was a member of the Church of Christ, having been baptized by the Rev. Howard Murray when she was but thirteen years of age.

Bentley and Kate (Kempton) Starratt had moved to Toronto, Ontario ca. 1907, where he was a mechanic and linotype specialist. On 6 July 1916 she returned to the home of her parents in Milton with her health in very poor condition and hoping for recovery in the clear air of Nova Scotia. This was not to be, as she died in the same house in which she was born. She was 45 years of age.

She was buried in Toronto at the side of her husband. She was accompanied from Milton by her two sons, Ralph and Wilbur. Her husband and daughter had preceded her in death.

Charles Edward Kempton was educated in the schools of Farmington, ME until he reached the age of 15 years. He then accompanied his parents on their move to Vienna, ME, where he carried on farming in connection with his father. When he reached his majority, he moved to Boston, MA and entered the employ of the Boston Street Railway Co. Five years later he moved to Southbridge, MA where he became superintendent of Cohassee Farm, a large farm owned by the American Optical Co. He spent five years at this farm and then went to work as head farmer for William H. Hammond of Hampton, CT.

About two years later, he found a rather rundown farm overgrown with brush and weeds, about 100 acres in size, near Pomfret Landing. Within a few years he brought "Dirigo Farm" back into productivity. He also added new buildings and built a fine herd of graded Holstein cows.

He and his wife were members of the Wolf Den Grange, along with their eldest daughter. They attended the Congregational Church. Mr. Kempton was also active in town politics, being a selectman of Pomfret in 1914. About 1919 he bought Lakeside Farm in Dayville, CT. They lived there until October 1925 when they moved back to Pomfret, where he was living when he was taken to the hospital in Providence, RI where he died.

Charles Levi Kempton went by the nickname of "Charlie." At the age of fourteen he was herding sheep in Kelton, UT. He took his pay in a percent of the newborn lambs each spring. By running his sheep with the sheep of his employer, he was able to build a good-sized flock of his own.

After their third child, the Kemptons moved to Clear Creek, where they increased their land holdings and increased their herd to a very large flock by 1918, when wool prices were at their highest. Charlie died in the great flu epidemic of 1918. His widow Jane lived until 1937, when she died of a stroke.

Cora (Kempton) Davis lived in a three-room log cabin on her father-in-law's farm, until they built their new home on Taylor Ridge, Trimble Township, Athens County, OH. Her husband was a coal miner. Both of their sons followed in the same line of work. One of them, the eldest son Walter, was an electrician in mine #255. He lost his life in a mine accident.

Cora is remembered as a midwife, caring for the sick, church work, and for her vim, vigor and leadership in the community. She was also noted for her quilting.

AUNT CORA
When hunger and sickness is present

When others fail to come and help you'll find Aunt Cora there.

Curtis W. Kempton was a farmer and cabinet-maker in Glouster, OH. Some of the beautiful pieces of furniture that he made are still in existence. At the time of his death in 1936 he had a Studebaker Coupe and a Ford. His entire estate went to his widow, Iva (LeFever) Kempton.

When Iva died eight years later, she left everything to their church in Glouster. This consisted of the farm and money. As often happpens, this turned out to be more of a curse than a blessing, as it caused many squabbles on how to run the farm and how to spend the money. It is said that many church members left the church due to these squabbles, and many thought that the church was better off before this bequest.

Earl Ulysses Kempton and his wife attended the Grace Brethren Church in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. Ivy May (Winans) Kempton continued on as a very active member after his death. The following article appeared in the Fort Lauderdale News on Monday, 23 May 1983 in a column called "Gray Matters" by Grant Segall:

"SENIOR WINS STATE HONOR: Mae Kempton, 85, has won the Florida Senior Medal of Ministry from the state Grace Brethren Church. Mrs. Kempton is a deaconness at Fort Lauderdale's Grace Brethren, her church for 20 years. She folds bulletins, walks to several religous meetings a week, watches over 17 members of the church, visits them and helps them when they're sick. Pastor J. Paul Mutchler says she 'probably has a better record of attendance at the services than I do!'"

ii BERTHA, b. 10 August 1910. d. 22 January 1923.

Liverpool Advance, 5 October 1904: Campello, MA, 29 September 1904. "Miss Elizabeth DeWolfe Kempton, of Market Street, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Gilbert Kempton, of Liverpool, Nova Scotia and J. Arthur Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Webster, of Market Street were united in marriage last evening at the residence of Mr. & Mrs. L.W. Alden. Rev. W.O. Ayer, of the Warren Avenue Baptist church and only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. . . . The bride was attired in a travelling gown of blue, and was attended by Miss Helen Eldridge. The best man was Walter Kempton, a brother of the bride. The couple entered the room to the strains of the 'Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus' rendered by Mrs. Charles Kempton. At this point came an unexpected surprise. The couple had hardly been united when the air was filled with music from a brass band just outside the house. The groom is a trombonist in the Campbello drum corps, and the members of the band decided that the occasion could be enlivened by their presence. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Edna Ladd and Miss Alice Kempton. The couple left on the 10:30 train for Dover, N.H., where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return will reside at 252 Market St."

It was a very pretty wedding. About 75 guests had been invited to the bride's home, but owing to the storminess of the evening, only thirty were privileged to be present. The rooms were hung in plaited evergreens and graceful vines of myrtle. The bride was unattended and given away by her father. She was daintily gowned. About 10:30, amid showers of rice, Mr. & Mrs. Thompson departed for their new home. The clergyman was Rev. W.B.Crowell and the organist Miss Etta Hatt.

Eugene J. Kempton received his early education in the public schools of Haverhill, MA. At the age of seventeen, he began his mercantile career as clerk in the jewelry store of L. Kimball & Son, Haverhill, and continued two years. During the next three years, he was a clerk for A.M. Tilton, clothing dealer, later to its successors, Sand Brothers, and still later with W. Scott Peabody, of Haverhill. He formed a partnership in 1895 with A.C. Turner and purchased the stock in trade of the Peabody store and began business under the name of Turner & Kempton Company. In addition to clothing, Mr. Kempton carried a large and complete stock of boots and shoes, hats and men's furnishings, etc.

His was one of the largest stores in that line in Haverhill and showed constant growth. Mr. Kempton was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In politics, he was a Independent Republican. He was a member of Merrimack Lodge of Free Masons; of Mizpah Lodge of Odd Fellows; of North Star Commandery, Knights of Malta. He was also a member of the Haverhill Board of Trade and a director of the Haverhill Y.M.C.A.

Charles and Allie Kempton owned and operated the general store and U.S. Post Office in Monte Ne, AR. This village was a summer resort in earlier days. In 1963 the U.S. Government moved all residents from the area and dammed the White River near Monte Ne. The area became a lake and a reservoir.

After the death of his father-in-law, Berry D. Graham and his wife took over the operation of the store and post office. Berry d. one year after the village of Monte Ne went out of existence. His death was caused by a heart ailment and strokes. He was also blind the last few years of his life. They had no children of their own but raised 3 girls.

About two years after Frank and Lottie were married they moved onto a farm near the Cornelius P. Kimpton farm. Here they lived, raised their family and farmed until their death in 1964. They observed their 62nd wedding anniversary on the 4th of February 1964. The following day Lottie died suddenly from heart failure. This was the 5th of February 1964. The next day, the 6th of February, Frank had a stroke and died the following day, February 7th 1964. They are buried together in a double grave in the Cuss Cemetery.

When the family farm was sold at auction, Willis Franklyn Kimpton purchased the property but sold it later.

George Kimpton came to ID with his parents around 1874 or 1875. In the late 1870's, he joined his brother "Tan" in Ashley Valley, UT. He was there until the time of the White River Indian Agency massacre in 1879. It was said that, at the age of 21, he carried the mail from Vernal,UT to the Uintah Indian agency, when the regular mail carrier decided that the ride was too dangerous and hired George Kimpton to take his place. It was a dangerous trip but he got through, after a brush with the Indians, and delivered the mail.

In early 1880, he was tending stock in Box Elder County, UT. This was the year that he married Emma Lovina Pens. They then moved into ID, close enough to visit back and forth with his brother Jerome.

After several years of prospecting, mining, trapping, and hauling materials to the Sunbeam and Custer mines, George Kimpton and his family moved to Pocatello, ID. He inherited the "jack of all trades" aptitudes from his father. He went into the moving business and then expanded to being a building contractor and built a very good reputation as a business man. When the American Falls Dam was being built, the town of American Falls had to move across the river. George, as part of his business, moved the whole town.

When George died his obituary read in part "George Kimpton 71, local contractor and pioneer Idaho resident, died yesterday morning at the family home, 436 South Hays, following a lingering illness. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock....under the auspices of the Workmen of the World and interment will be in Mountain View Cemetery." "As a stage driver, cowpuncher, prospector and placer miner, he helped to build the 'mighty western empire', and he also was a big game hunter of note and a first class shot, with eleven silver tips (bear) to his credit. He is also said to have been one of the first white men to explore the Craters of the Moon."

Ira Nathaniel Kempton came to AZ, when he was about 18 years of age, and located at Safford. In 1893, he drove a stage between Bowie and Ft. Thomas, and during this time was held up twice by stage coach robbers. The robbers were captured and convicted. In 1895 he left Safford and went to Jerome where he worked in a mine. Then he came to the Salt River Valley that fall and fired a thresher engine in harvest of grain. He returned to Safford and in 1898 met and married Miss Maude Packer. While living in Safford he was employed by the Safford Ice and Creamery Co. and was instrumental in organizing, and was a member of, the first Safford band for many years. Also while in Safford, he was chief engineer and fire chief and designed and supervised the construction of the present fire department building in that city. He had previously completed a four-year course of study as a steam and electrical engineer. In 1918, he and his family came to Gilbert where he purchased an 80 acre farm east of this place, and he has resided in this community continously since. He was instrumental in organizing, and was a board member of, the Roosevelt Hay Growers Assoc. and Cotton Growers Assoc., during their operation, and was a council member of the Salt River Valley Water Users Assoc. since 1927.

* A divorce decree was granted to Mary Kempton, 16 November 1917, on grounds of extreme cruelty.

James Warren Kempton was shown as living in Granthum, NH in 1914 when his mother died. It is very possible that all of his children were born in Granthum. When James Warren Kempton and Mary (Baird) Kempton were divorced in 1917, she won custody of the children along with the farm property. For a while after the divorce, Mary worked in a restaurant in Lebanon, NH. About the year 1921, James and Mary tried living together again for about three years. This did not seem to work out and there was no formal marriage. From the timing it seemed to be between the third and fourth marriage of James.

Due to the depression and very hard times in VT, Reginald Gillson, M.D. of New Haven, CT adopted and raised Rachel Amanda Kempton and Betsey Anne Kempton.

Willard Rollins Kempton, sixth child of Willard and Mary, attended Dartmouth College in Hanover, NH, where he received his AB degree in 1935. He then taught school in the Windsor, VT. high school from 1936 to 1941. He then taught in Trinity School, New York City from 1941 to 1943, when he became a USO director. He filled this position until 1946, when he became a director with American Aid to France, in Paris. He was in Paris until 1948, when he returned to Columbia University, where he obtained his MA degree. From 1948 until 1953, he studied at Columbia, did film and recording distribution, and worked with the NY City, Dept. of Welfare. He then became a USO director in Paris and Nice, France from 1953 until 1958. In 1959-60 he was Master of St. Paul's School in Concord, NH. He next joined the faculty of Broward Community College, Fort Lauderdale, FL as an instructor in the Dept. of Modern Foreign Languages. In 1980 he was still at Broward, most of the later years as head of the department. Also in 1980, he became Chairman of the Division of Communications and was there until he cleaned out his desk in May of 1982.

In 1958, Willard and Mary Kempton purchased "Green Tops" a summer recreational facility in Alton, NH. It became a chartered American Youth Hostel Station in 1961, with Willard and Mary serving as house owner parents.

Annie Laurie (Kempton) Rice became a nurse. Her studies took her to Mary Hitchcock Hospital for her diploma in nursing and to Boston University for her bachelors degree. She also did advanced studies at the University of RI. Her field is medical-surgical nursing.

w.(2) Name, date and place unknown

Jerome Sargent Kempton was called "Dome" by his family and friends. It is not know when or where Jerome and Julia Owens met and where they were married. Their first two children were born in Park Valley, UT, which was an important mining center at that time. "Dome" was working there as a charcoal burner.

"Dome" and his family were living in ID in 1883 when their first son Seeley was born. Their stay there was not long because they were back in UT at the birth of their son Walter in December of 1885. After the birth of their last child, Jerome and Julia left UT and went to CA where Jerome was in the construction business. During the Gold Rush in Alaska, Jerome and Seeley went to Alaska to build buildings, and to do a little prospecting.

They were living in San Francisco in 1906 and survived the earthquake of that year. Seeley was trapped in their home on Market Street because the windows and doors were jammed. The home was burned, along with their belongings. Seeley had no injuries, but Julia had burned hands. They were far more fortunate than some of their distant cousins from Nova Scotia who lost their lives in this catastrophe.

Julia and Jerome were divorced. Jerome is said to have remarried as an old man. Time and place are unknown. It is not known where or when he died. The last time he was heard from was on 2 July 1927, when he wrote a letter to his daughter Annie. It is said that he died in some sort of an accident. None of the details are known.

Julia Ann (Owens) Kempton also was remarried to a man named McNealis. Her death certificate shows that she died of cirrhosis of the liver, that she was born in UT, and that she was 51 years of age. This would make her 10 years of age at the birth of her first child which is very doubtful. The census of 1880 shows her as 19 years of age with a child of 3 years of age which would mean she was b. in 1861/2, depending on when the census was taken.

In the 1760s, the King of England offered land to colonists willing to settle in the Nova Scotia area which England had won from France.. The ancestors of Jessie Amelia Kempton and of William H. Saunders, from the Plymouth Colony and the Massachusetts Bay Colony respectively, were among the thousands who decided to journey north as pioneers and carve out new homes and fields in an even colder climate than New England and with fully as many rocks in the soil.

Unknown to each other at the time, both families were among those who chose to return to their earlier homes and came back to Massachusetts in the late 1800s. They resided in neighboring towns and, after the passage of a few years, Jessie and Will met, "kept company" and married.

Jessie Amelia Kempton, and her three sisters, May, Edna and Annie were compositors at the Riverside Press in Cambridge, MA. This was an unusual occupation for women in the early 1900s.

Jessie's husband William H. Saunders m.(1) 29 October 1898, Grace E. Taylor, who d. 17 October 1908, leaving two sons: William, b. 11 May 1900; Leslie, b. 25 July 1904, who lived with them until adulthood. Both deceased.

William was a meat cutter by trade, running stores of his own in Dedham, MA for many years. Making plans to retire, he bought a 36-acre farm in Northwood, NH. This farm had large chicken houses on a hill in back of the house in which he planned to raise chickens. Then came the stock market crash of 1929 and the depression that followed. This forced him to close his stores and move the family to Northwood Ridge, NH. The principal crops of the farm were blueberries and maple syrup. He was contacted by the First National Stores where he became the meat manager in the Rochester, NH store. He was also sent to other stores that were experiencing problems. These included Dover, NH, Dedham, MA, Wakefield, RI, Westerly, RI, Cranston, RI and Providence, RI. Here they elected to stay until retirement and brought the family down to Providence. He was well known around the RI area as "POP" Saunders. He was also called "Farmer Magee" in lodge circles because of comic songs that he sang. One of them was named "Farmer Magee." At one time he was president of the Rotary Club of Dedham, MA. For many years he was very active in The New England Order of Protection, a fraternal group now known as Woodmen of the World.

DAVID, m. ELIZABETH _____. Living 1974, Sandusky, OH.
KERMIT, living 1974, CA.
WANDA, m. HAROLD ARMSTRONG. Living 1974, Leipsic, OH.

From a newspaper article, 24 September 1966, probably Columbus, OH: "'OLDEST BANDSMAN' Ralph Kempton, retired local architect of 1415 W. 2nd Ave., Grandview Heights was the oldest former band member at Saturday's band reunion. Kempton played in the 1907 band, before the band actually began marching on the field. However, in Kempton's day the bandsmen frequently marched on the Campus Oval. In order to get into their heavily starched white trousers, Kempton recalled, the musicians had to grab the ceiling pipes in the locker room, jump up and then slip down into the pants. They were not permitted to sit while dressed in uniform. Kempton was the managing architect for Columbus City Hall when it was built in the 1920s."

From the probate file of his grandfather, Stephen Nye Kempton, we find that Leroy, called Roy, was living in Trimble, OH in 1885. He had lived in Dover, OH.

The names of the living children of Leroy came from the obituary of Ralph Charles Kempton who died 30 May 1974.

Perley W. Kimpton was an electrical engineer in Boston, MA.

Arthur R. Kimpton was a noted Boston surgeon. He graduated from Dartmouth Medical School and interned at Boston City Hospital. For many years he was chief of the First Surgical Service at Boston City Hospital and clinical surgery professor at Tufts Medical School. He was codeveloper of the Kimpton-Brown Transfusion Tube which eliminated arm to arm blood transfusions. In 1913, the same year the transfusion tube was developed, he became the first surgeon to make motion pictures of a surgical procedure. He was also consultant physician for many of the well-known hospitals in the Boston area.

He retired in 1949 and spent some winters in FL and summers in Wolfeboro, NH. He is buried in the First Parish Cemetery, Norwell, MA.

vi MARTIAL FREDERICK, b. 27 September 1874, So. Roxton, Quebec. m. ALYCE _____.

Martial Kimpton was a farmer in South Roxton, Quebec.

There seems to be a curious name switch on the part of Martial Kimpton. He is called Marshall Kimpton in earlier records. The record of his marriage reads as follows: "On the first day of July, One thousand eight hundred and fifty nine by license Marshall Kimpton eldest son of Rufus Kimpton Esq. of Roxton, yeoman and of the late ..... his wife, maiden name Ball and Deborah Ashton daughter of the late Peter Ashton of Milton yeoman and of Mary his wife maiden name Hirst, were married by me." The marriage is then very clearly signed, MARTIAL KIMPTON and by Deborah Ashton. All of the birth and baptismal records of their children are signed in a like manner.

Rufus Ashton Kimpton left home at the age of 16 and for the next 7 years led a varied life being among the following: a bellboy in St. Louis, a hotel manager in Louisiana and a land investigator in Tennessee. When he reached Calgary he established a small brewery and was soon selling beer to the Canadian Pacific construction gangs for $3.50 a dozen. He then moved to Holt City, Lake Louise, and set up another successful brewery in a small cabin. Having made excellent profits, Rufus decided to settle down and located in Donald, British Columbia. He soon owned a store and hotel in Donald and had a string of trading posts throughout the Kootenays. By 1887, Donald, British Columbia was a thriving town of 3,000 inhabitants. It was the Mountain Divisional Headquarters of the C.P.R and had hotels, stores and saloons ... everything except a church. This was remedied by a young Anglican priest named Rev. Henry Irwing, "Father Pat." St. Peter's, constructed with the aid of many volunteers, is said to have cost only $500. The church was consecrated on 24 February 1889. Two days later, Rufus Ashton Kimpton and Celina Margaret Behan were married in it.

Ten years later the C.P.R decided to phase out Donald, British Columbia and move its divisional headquarters to Revelstoke, as their trains could make longer hauls due to bigger engines and better grades. The C.P.R. would move all houses, stores, hotels and personal effects, at no charge, to either Golden or Revelstoke. The Rufus Kimptons took advantage of this offer and finally settled in Windermere, British Columbia with their two sons, Clifford Ashton and Vaughan Stanley Kimpton. The church was sorely missed. Rufus, his brother-in-law and several friends went back to Donald and dismantled the church. The C.P.R. made an unscheduled stop to pick up the lumber with the 600 lb. bell on top of it, but the bell was missing, thought to have been taken and hidden by a group of Anglicans, as their church did not have a bell. It was next heard ringing in the Anglican Church in Golden.

Many letters of protest on the "Stolen Church" were received, but suddenly no one could read or write and none of the protesting letters were answered. The church was not reconsecrated until 27 August 1905, as Bishop John Dart would not consecrate it earlier, since it was considered stolen property. St. Peter's is no longer in use for regular church services but is a popular place for marriages and is a visiting spot for visitors from Canada and the United States.

Martin Robert Kempton was a Deputy Sheriff of Graham County, AZ. On 10 February 1918, Sheriff Frank McBride, Deputy Martin Kempton and Deputy Kane Wootan were all killed about 60 miles west of Pima, AZ. They were trying to arrest the Powers brothers and Sisson, draft evaders, who were in a cabin in the Galiuro Mountains. In a special session of the legislature, the families of the three men were given $17,500 to be invested for their benefit. Martin Kempton is buried in Safford, AZ.

Nathan Olaf Kempton was only 9 years of age when his father died. He had to help out in the support of the family at a young age. Among the jobs that he had in these younger days were farm worker, ice wagon driver, resort worker and apprentice mason. At the age of 17 he became an apprentice at Provo City Carriage Factory and worked there until the place went out of business 3 years later. With this training he turned to blacksmithing and horse shoeing.

In 1908, Nathan and his bride of 3 years left Provo, UT and moved to Eureka, a mining town, where he carried on his trade. In 1910, they moved to Twin Falls, ID where he and his brother-in-law L. M. Whitehead built the first house in what had been a tent village. In 1913, they moved to Hansen, ID and in 1917 to Kimberly, ID. They were here until 1926, when they moved back to Twin Falls, where he was employed by Kragel's Machine Shop. During the depression he worked at the sugar factory. In 1933, he went to work for the Twin Falls Canal Co. as a blacksmith, welder and tool dresser. From 1944 until 1950 he was in business with his son Olaf "Earl" and then returned to the Twin Falls Canal Co. until his retirement in 1967 at the age of 80

Nathan joined the L.D.S. church in Kimberly on the 1st of July, 1922. He was a high priest and has held numerous offices, among them: Boy Scout Committeeman, Assistant to the Pres. Mutual Stake Board, President of the Fourth Quorum of Elders, genealogy instructor, and committee chairman. He served on a stake mission from 17 November 1941 until 1 January 1944.

d Tina Ann, b. 18 July 1960, San Diego, CA.

Osborn Albert Kimpton enjoyed hunting and fishing all of his life. He was also adept at skating, doing some figure skating. At about the age of 7, the family moved from Junction, UT to Shoshone, ID where he spent his youth working on the ranch, fishing and hunting.

After his father died in 1899, Osborn married and moved to Pocatello, ID taking his mother with him. In Pocatello, he worked as a teamster until 1911 when he moved his family to a farm in Kimberly, ID. They lived on the farm for 31 years. It was hard work to raise and feed 8 children as well as pay for the farm. He was able to supplement his income by taking a job as a ditch rider for a number of years.

During the depression he once had to sell his potatoes at 6-1/2 cents per 100 lbs. In 1943 they sold out the farm and moved to Twin Falls, ID. Here, Osborn worked as a caretaker at Shoshone Falls for a number of years.

Throughout his life he was known as a man of great honesty and integrity.

Parker Smith Kempton lived in Trimble OH, attending the village school, until reaching the age of fourteen. The next two years were spent at the college of J. P. Weethee at College Hill. At the age of seventeen, he began his career as a school teacher at Bethel Ridge. He taught three terms in Trimble Township and one in IN. During the intervals, he attended college at Valparaiso, IN. After spending about two years at this institution, he graduated from the commercial department in 1882 with high honors. Immediately after graduating he accepted a position as principal of the commercial department of the Streator, IL high school. After six years in this position, he became chief book keeper for the Coal Run Coal company for a period of four years, until he purchased a tile factory at Adams, OH.

About two weeks before his death, he injured his left knee while loading tile at his factory. He treated the injury himself, thinking it was rheumatism, until he went to Streater for medical care. At that time his pulse was 140 and temperature 105 from the blood poisoning which caused his death, at home, at the age of 37.

His funeral was held in Streator, IL and the burial was at Ottawa, IL.

Halifax Chronicle-Herald, Thursday, April 16, 1953: "Paul Kempton of Hebron passed away at Yarmouth Hospital at the age of 72 years. He was born in Milton, Queens Co., the son of the late Albert and Gertrude (Blauvelt) Kempton. The family resided at Hebron for a number of years where, as a youth, he was employed in the shoe factory. Later he went to the New England States and in later years to the Canadian West where he was a successful Alberta grain grower and farmer. Retiring, he returned to Hebron two or three years ago where he has since resided. He is survived by his widow at Hebron, two brothers, Blake in Fort William, Ontario, and Allen in Australia, and several nephews and nieces in Ontario, British Columbia and the Yukon. Funeral services were held at Sweeny Funeral Home, Yarmouth, North, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 P.M. with internment in the family plot in Mountain Cemetery."

Ella Muriel (Kempton) Wright with brother Chester Vern Kempton. The author expresses his gratitude for the valuable information she forwarded for this book.

John and Paul, children of Riley and Anna, World War II

Riley Bruff Kempton was named after a man who was running for President in 1863. Kempton was a very industrious man who worked long hours at a variety of jobs, building his own eight-room house home on a four-acre farm; being a coal miner; doing gas lighting; making split baskets, rolling pins, chair rungs and handles for tools, and working as a carpenter on many of the public buildings in the Athens area. He also raised sugar cane on his farm and made molasses in his own cane mill to sell by the gallon. On the farm, he had 8 to 10 beehives for producing honey. In his spare time he was interested in photography and did his own developing.

In 1919, he came down with the flu and never fully recovered from it. His death was from a heart attack after working in a ditch even though he suffered from asthma. He is buried in the Sands Cemetery in Trimble OH.

Samuel Edward Kimpton disappeared from his home in Mexico, MO shortly before the birth of Mary Jo Kimpton in 1927. Robert was only three years of age at that time. After his disappearence, his wife Adde Eve (Cunningham) Kimpton tried her best to trace him for ten years. She did have rumors drift back to her that "Sam" was a clerk in a small hotel in CA and that when he died he had a son from "somewhere in California" attend his funeral. After a period of 10 years, Adde Kimpton met Marion Lenoar Elder. She obtained a divorce from Samuel Edward Kempton on the grounds of desertion and married Marion Lenoar Elder.

Robert Holt Kimpton was the third generation of Kimptons to live in the house that Samuel Burton Kimpton built in 1825.

Rockwell Kempton was drafted to enter the military service for World War I. Fortunately, President Wilson soon decreed that all medical students should return to school as they might be needed much more as graduate doctors later. He graduated from the University of Michigan Medical School in 1918, the year the war ended.

After two years of internship in pediatrics, the Kemptons settled in Saginaw, MI, where he was very well known as a pediatrician. He headed the pediatric department of all three hospitals in the Saginaw area. He was a Fellow of the American Medical Assoc.; Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics; Fellow of the College of Physicians; Diplomate of the American Board of Pediatrics and a member of the Univ. of Michigan Pediatric Society and of the Detroit Pediatric Society.

One of his major hobbies was history, Indian lore, and archeology of the Saginaw Valley. A small collection was placed in the foyer of the Kempton Elementary School when it was named for him. The bulk of his collection is in the Univerity of Michigan Archeological Museum.

For many years, he was a member of the board of Wardens and Trustees of the first Congregational Church. He was a member of the Rotary Club, Saginaw Club and Saginaw Valley Torch Club. At his death, his ashes were placed in the Oakwood Mausoleum, Saginaw, MI.

Elsie (Eggleston) Kempton was well known for her musical ability. She was a graduate of the music department of Hillsdale College. Prior to her marriage, she taught piano and pipe organ classes, and was head of the piano and pipe organ department at the Amarillo College of Music at Amarillo, Texas. She was a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority and has been prominent in local social circles.

In later years, she became very interested in the tracing of the ancestors of her own and her husband's families.

Rufus Kimpton kept a grocery store in Roxton Pond, Quebec.

Abstract from a letter written in 1951 by Dr. C.E. Manning of Richmond, Quebec to Dr. A.R. Kimpton of Greenbush, MA: "That family seemed to have taken to marrying cousins as Aunt Mary's half-brother, Rufus A., married Jessica, daughter of Alpheus, born 1815. The gossip has it that he committed suicide because his wife was so cranky. If so, he was not like Aunt Mary; she was too dominant a character to think of doing away with herself."

i PARTHENIA STUART, b. 25 August 1887, Harmony, Queens Co., Nova Scotia. m. 12 June 1912, GORDON WYLIE ALLEN of Grand Pre, Kings Co., Nova Scotia, at Harmony, Queens Co., Nova Scotia by Rev. Steeves. d. 22 May 1917, Harmony, Queens Co., Nova Scotia of influenza and pneumonia. Liverpool Advance May 23 1917, OBIT: "With sincere sorrow we chronicle the passing away of Pythenia, (sic) (name also spelled Bythenia and Parthenia) beloved wife of Corp. Gordon W. Alien who went overseas with the Highland Brigade and is still in England which sad event ocurred at the home of her parents, Stanley D. and Elizabeth Kempton, Harmony, Tuesday morning, at the age of 29 years.

The deceased was taken ill some weeks ago with pneumonia, from which she rallied. Her heart, though, was unable to stand the ravages of the disease, and she peacefully fell to sleep. The sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones. Beside husband, father and mother, two brothers (one in France) and one sister, two little children are left without a mother's love and care."

iii MYRNA DELAHAYE, b. 12 December 1894, Harmony, Queens County, Nova Scotia. m. 30 June 1920, GORDON WYLIE ALLEN, Harmony, Queens County, Nova Scotia [as 2nd wife, widower of her sister, Parthenia]. d. 17 July 1968, Agincourt, Ontario.

iv STANLEY, b. 9 August 1897, Harmony, Queens County, Nova Scotia. Wounded in 1918 during World War I. The following letter was written to his father in 1918. "I will try and write although it is a big effort. About an hour after poor Stau Annis was killed, I was wounded. I got a bullet from a sniper. It went through a pouch full of ammunition, through my photobook which was in my right breast pocket, and laid me open about 4 inches long, 2 inches wide and a couple deep, and so you see it was a good one. I thought it was all up with me for it felt like an explosion in my lung, but that was because it knocked the wind out of me. 1 couldn't breathe or speak. It did not, however take me off my feet. My officer and I got about 20 Germans out of a dug out, when I stood up and fired two shots at a bunch not far away, and as I was reloading I saw a Hun cover me, he got his shot first. A stretcher bearer got me by the shoulder and we walked back with machine gun stuff flying all around. I had to make my way down a crowded trench when some of my boys carried me to the road where an ambulance picked me up. Don't worry, I am O.K."

Stanley D. Kempton was a farmer at Harmony Mills, Queens County, Nova Scotia

Wallace and Jennie (Lewis) Kimpton farmed in Taylor Co., IA across the road from the Cornelius P Kimpton farm during the first few years of their married life. They then moved to Detroit, MI where Wallace worked in a car factory. Their next move was to a farm near Canastota, NY. Here they farmed and Wallace built up a business in making and selling plaster figurines of dogs and other animals. The selling was done at carnivals and fairs in NY State and other states to the south of NY. In July or August of 1940 Wallace was badly burned in a fire in his workshop. The shop was a complete loss.

Wallace and Jennie celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary in Bradenton, FL where they had moved for their retirement. Later they moved into a mobile home in Sterlington, LA where Wallace died. Lavern also had a mobile home at the same place as his father. In 1970-71 Lavern moved to Monroe, LA where he was still living in 1975.

Both Wallace and Jennie (Lewis) Kimpton are buried in the Seventh Day Adventist cemetery in Bradenton, FL. Jennie (Lewis) Kimpton was a sister of Fannie La Maria (Lewis) Kimpton, wife of Wallace's brother Fred Carl Kimpton.
